Boy Scouts Enjoying Five Day Camporee Program — Big Parade This Afternoon

Arrive By Boxcar, Boat, Bicycle

By boat, locomotive and boxcar, automobile and bicycle, Boy Scouts of the Daniel Webster council poured into the state bathhouse reservation Wednesday afternoon for the opening of their five-day Camp Ashworth camporee. The most spectacular arrival was that of Troop 10 from Newmarket in the boxcar drawn by the locomotive "Miss Lockingham," of the county 40 and 41.

After unloading the large circus tent needed for the sleeping quarters for the large troop, as well as the cook and storage tents, the legionnaires returned with the locomotive with the promise that they will come back for participation in the scout parade this afternoon. Rev. J. Desmond O'Connor directed the setting up of the camp.

The Dover Sea Scouts arrived in their own boat and moored in the Hampton river just off the encampment. The Sea Scout ship Ranger from Portsmouth also came down under its own power and was moored within the harbor, under the direction of Oscar Eaton.

Hardly had the tents been pitched and the stone fireplaces put in operation when the members of the southeastern District Press club used themselves with the first edition of the Camp Ashworth Journal, which is to come off the typewriters at 10 every morning of the encampment. John Sullivan is the editor of the daily, which is a new venture for the beach camporee. The staff also includes Robert Donagle, Allan Stirling, Charles Harmon and Rene Carmel, all of Portsmouth.

Roland Hinkley of Portsmouth, who again is camp chief reports that there are already 28 troops registered at the encampment. This six more than were recorded during the entire camporee a year ago. The earliest arrivals were the scouts of Troop 176 from Dover, led by Bernard Paul. They pitched their tents the day before the encampment opened and were well settled before the others arrived. Troop 163, Portsmouth, under scoutmaster Whittemore and Troop 204, Lancaster, headed by Scoutmaster Bixby, were the last to arrive Wednesday night.

Four Manchester troops were among those to set up their tents during the afternoon. Emile Bour-nival was in charge of the activities of Troop 112, while the scouts of Troop 106 were directed by Louis Schradler and those of Troop 114 by Palledius Korovilas. Troop 92 boys pitched their tents with the others. The Madison scouts, headed by Thomas Jones, and Troop 190, from Milton Mills, with W. Woodbury in charge, are newcomers to the encampment. Others registered at the camp include Troop 61 of Franklin, under Arthur Leclair; Troop 173, Dover, under Thomas Jones; Troop 183, Portsmouth; Troop 184, Rochester, under William Fowler; Troop 256, Nashua, under Thomas Ackerman; Troop 77, Contoocook; Troop 22, Amherst, under Lawrence Glover; Troop 177, Hampton; Troop 158, Portsmouth, under Robert Murphy; Troop 99, Goffstown, under Milton Whipple; Troop 1, Fremont, under Richard Colby; Troop 164, Portsmouth, under Robert Hayes; Sea Scout ship 6 from Nashua, under Ray Stiesicki; Troop 98, Derry; Troop 185, Stratham, under Rev. Marshall Stevenson and Troop 194 from Portsmouth, under Lawrence Hamilton.

Coast Guard Will Celebrate Aug. 4

This section of New Hampshire will observe the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Coast Guard, with a variety of activities, starting Sunday, August 4. It was announced today.

Coast Guard stations will be thrown open to the public and special displays will be arranged. The station at Hampton Beach will give a special breeches buoy drill.

The New Hampshire Seacoast Regional Development association will sponsor a special cachet to be used at the Portsmouth postoffice during the week of August 4. The Portsmouth unit, League of Coast Guard Women, will discuss plans for its participation at the next meeting of the members Tuesday evening.

Singing School To Be Held At Beach

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., July 18—Everyone has been invited by the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce to attend singing school on next Sunday night and every Sunday night, until the close of the season, at the bandstand at 10:30 o'clock. Lessons will be free.

The singing master will be "Bob" Poole, popular maestro of the dance band at the Casino Ballroom. "Bob" will be assisted by Danny Reardon, his pianist, and a bevy of beautiful Hampton Beach girls who have enlisted for the duration of the singing school to hold the great cards, which contain words to the songs which "Bob" will teach on Sunday evenings.

All types of songs are contained in the curriculum for 1940 which has been laid down by the "professor of the beach singing school." There are the old-fashioned numbers, such as were sung by the gay blades who made up the "barbershop quartettes" of the '90's, and the more modern, snappy numbers, tunes that are being played by dance bands in up-to-the-minute ballrooms and night spots all over the country.

So, no matter what your tastes are in so far as songs are concerned, you will be happy and satisfied if you attend one of the Sunday evening "Singing Schools" under "Bob" Poole's direction which will be held at the Hampton Beach bandstand every Sunday night at 10:30 o'clock.

425 Orphans Have Outing At Beach

Armed with sandpails and bathing suits, approximately 425 orphans from the parishes of St. Patrick's, St. Augustine's and St. Peter's churches of Manchester arrived early Tuesday morning at the State Recreational area at Hampton Beach for a day's outing.

Daniel B. O'Connor, school committee member, was in charge of the group. This day at the beach was made possible for the children through proceeds derived from a baseball game

Patriotism And Fairy Tales Theme Of Colorful Event — St. Rita's Cadets Big Feature

Patriotism vied with fairy tale characters in furnishing the theme for the annual Children's Day parade of colorful floats, decorated doll carriages, bicycles and marching youngsters, witnessed yesterday afternoon by more than 50,000 spectators.

A stern reminder of war was seen in the "national defense" carriage made in the form of an airplane, with a doll garbed as a goggled aviator and its mistress, Rieca Pilon of Newmarket, as Uncle Sam, Clase behind was tiny Priscilla Lois Clough of Hampton as a Red Cross nurse wheeling in her carriage a miniature nurse equipped for first aid.

In the role of the Goddess of Liberty Miss Betty Tobey, Hampton's tercentenary queen, presided over the patriotic float of the town of Hampton with Richard Dearborn as Uncle Sam. Americanism was further stressed in the massed flags of the Boy Scouts headed by Rev. J. Desmond O'Connor of Newmarket in naval uniform.

The acrobatic drum majors of the 183-piece St. Rita's Junior Cadet band of Lowell, Mass., in their scarlet and white uniforms, were the most spectacular feature of the procession. The youngest of these was seven-year-old Joan Foley, who has been performing since she was three years of age. The other drum majors, who presented an exhibition, were Norma and Marilyn Splaine, Teresa St. Onge, Della Bello, Ann Dean and Donna Marie Smith. The colonel drum major was Anne Hallaren, with Florette Villandry as sergeant. The band instrumentation included three glockenspiels played by girls.

Following the parade the prize winning band gave a concert and executed intricate maneuvers before the reviewing stand on which were seated Cong. Arthur B. Jenks, Dr. A. A. Blondin of Manchester, president of the Daniel Webster council, B. S. A. Chief Highway Engineer Daniel H. Dickinson of Concord, William T. Call, chairman of the Manchester Boy Scout Commission; Russell C. Tobey, assistant in the state Department of Forestry and Recreation; Maj. Charles E. Greenman and other guests of Col. George Ashworth, who was honored as the "daddy" of Children's Day.

Three Men in a Tub The most amusing float in the procession was the "rub a dub dub, three men in a tub" outfit of the Hampton Monday club. Squeezed into the tiny tub afloat on the briny deep were Calvin Perkins, son of Judge John W. Perkins; Donald Munsey, grandson of Selectman Harry D. Munsey, and William O'Grady of Franklin, topped with gray sea horses and flanked with fish nets. The float was created by Miss Adeline Marston, Mrs. Ruth Perkins, Hilda Perkins, Mrs. Helen Hayden and Mrs. Ethel Munsey.

As "the old woman in the shoe" Mrs. Lawrence Hoyt presided over the fairy tale float of the Hampton Mothers' Circle surrounded by her children. Arthur and Frank Hoyt, plus Robert Griffin, Barbara Cunningham, Mary Ann Slack, Judith

Noted Flyer On A Surprise Visit

Al Bennett, nationally famous flyer who taught a whole town to fly, surprised residents of Little Boar's Head Wednesday morning when he set his cub plane neatly down on the broad green lawn of the Foster estate there.

Bennett flew into Portsmouth Airport Tuesday night to visit J. H. Foster, Jr., at Little Boar's Head, Foster who met him at the field, was accompanied by Edward Hopley of Lafayette road, Portsmouth, and flying up from Hightstown, N. J., with Bennett was Dr. Richard T. Buckley of the Peddie School, prominent in the sporting world because of its head coach Larry Kelly.

While visiting Foster for the next two days, Bennett will confer with Mr. Foster's uncle, Edwin H. Armstrong, noted radio engineer whose discovery of frequency modulated radio is revolutionizing the industry and expected to have an important effect in aviation circles.

Bennett, whose activities won the name of "Flightstown" or Hightstown, won national attention when his plan now before Congress for training 100,000 flyers at an average cost of $100 each, or as he puts it, for a total cost of about one-sixth of one battleship.

Bennett's plan is not theory. It is based on what he has actually accomplished since he returned to his native Hightstown after winning his wings in the United States Air Corps at Brooks Field, Texas, in 1930.

Al had 24 years and an idea behind him. What he lacked in cash he made up in enthusiasm. It was only a short time before a group of youngsters chipped in with him and bought a second-hand plane. From then on, if anyone in Hightstown hadn't had a flight it wasn't because Al hadn't asked them to take a hop.

Bennett's contribution to aviation is based on an unswerving belief that anyone in reasonably good mental and physical health can

Beach Items

On Wednesday employees of the Concord Mutual Life Insurance Company enjoyed a day's outing at the beach, with a buffet luncheon at noon in the Hotel Ashworth and a banquet there at night. On Tuesday the women's auxiliary of the Union Mission at Haverhill, Mass., held an all-day outing at the beach.

Lewis Stone of Manchester, secretary of the New Hampshire Firemen's association, was at the beach to confer with Fire Chief George Lamott in regard to the annual outing of that organization.

The annual Shrine Marfa of the Bektash temple of New Hampshire will be held at the beach August 3, with Dr. F. Lawrence Bullfinch of Manchester, the chief potentate, in charge of the arrangements for the parade and vaudeville show.

Two New Hampshire church groups had outings at the beach Sunday.

There were 50 members of St. George's Greek Orthodox parish of Manchester who enjoyed softball, quoits and running contests at the state bathhouse reservation. Members of St. Casimir's Catholic church of Nashua journeyed to Salisbury Beach with Anthony Andrukevich as chairman of the outing and Stephanie White as choir master.

John Kindelon, six, of Roslindale, Mass., was given first aid at the beach comfort station by Mrs. Sarah Coffin, attendant on duty, after he burned three of his fingers on a griddle. William Shea, a clerk at Fallon's Drug Store, was also treated by Mrs. Coffin after he badly cut his thumb while at work.

learn to fly and the best way to advance aviation is to get 'em young and get 'em up. And wherever you find Bennett you'll find him enthusiastically preaching the gospel of flying. Even on this trip here he brought a new recruit. It was Dr. Buckley's first cross-country hop.

Have You Heard?

By The Gadabouts

Have You Heard?
That the annual Children's Day parade yesterday attracted one of the largest crowds for many years? The many beautiful floats received much deserved applause and favorable comments.

Have You Heard?
That the Boy Scouts aided greatly in handling the crowds yesterday? The scouts have enjoyed an eventful three-day camporee down on the reservation.

Have You Heard?
That the St. Rita's girls' drum corps again thrilled the crowd with their remarkable talent and ability to complete the most difficult maneuvers?

Have You Heard?
That the Colonel will celebrate his birthday Sunday? In honor of the occasion the girls sang "Happy Birthday" at the close of the program.

Have You Heard?
That a singing school will be conducted every Sunday evening at 10:30 from the bandstand? Yes, it's our old friend Bob Pooley who will act as singing master, and all you gals and boys are invited to give your lungs a real test.

Have You Heard?
That many were glad to welcome back "Hal" McDonnell, with his girls' band from Methuen, Mass., who made a big hit with the crowd? Hal was one of the most popular leaders of the beach band a few years back.

Have You Heard?
That Hal was responsible for introducing the playing of jazz by the band? Yes, we said "jazz", because swing was then yet unheard from.

Have You Heard?
That Frank spends a lot of his spare time at the Ferncroft Alleys and is developing into a real bowler?

Have You Heard?
That some of the local wags have applied that highway sign "reverse signs" to some of the not-so-silly-like figures on the beach?

Have You Heard?
That two pretty young things bitten by the candid camera bug were busily engaged Sunday at North Beach taking movies of some of the more bulbous bathers? Some of the shots would probably make any surrealist exhibition.

Have You Heard?
That the ping-pong enthusiasts are growing in number? There's something fascinating about banging that little pellet around on the green table.

Have You Heard?
That there was at least one benefit derived from the failure of the power service early Thursday evening?

Have You Heard?
That on July 12th "Tuck" White of Hampton, bowling as if he was pitching a no-hit game, came through with a grand total of 150 for a single string? This is the 1940 alley record at the Ferncroft.

Have You Heard?
About the trophies the Ferncroft Alleys on A9 Street are awarding for the high three-string totals for ladies and men during the month of August?

Have You Heard?
That a big crowd was on hand at the Casino last night to welcome Mal Hallet for his second appearance this season?

Have You Heard?
That the water so far this season has been unusually warm? Even the most tender and thin-skinned are actually enjoying the water.

Have You Heard?
That some of the Sunday visitors at North Beach evidently couldn't read the signs about "removing no rocks"?

Have You Heard?
Some new golf enthusiasts invaded the driving range recently and averaged a good 50 yards per drive?

Have You Heard?
That a men's softball league has been started up at Tuck Field for the older boys and would-be boys? The Kiwanians are entering a team and if you want some real entertainment plan to attend these games.

Local Teacher To Speak Before UNH Conference Today

DURHAM, N. H., July 18—A program designed "to give practical help in enriching school life for elementary school children" will be presented on the University of New Hampshire campus today.

It will be the program of the third annual elementary education conference under the direction of Albert L. Hartman, principal of the Edgemont and Watchung schools in Monclair, N. J.

Eleven leaders in the field will lead morning and afternoon discussions in such subjects as curriculum, boredom elimination, music, correlated seatwork, and field trips.

Howard E. Wilson, professor of education at Harvard university and staff member of the Educational Policies commission, will be heard as dinner speaker. His subject: "The Social Studies and Curriculum Enrichment."

Other speakers and their subjects will be Director Hartman, "The Teacher and Curriculum Enrichment"; Bjornar W. Bethany Children Improve At Beach

HAMPTON BEACH, July 18—Underprivileged children vacationing at the Bethany Cottage on Boar's Head through the generosity of Manchester citizens have gained from three to five pounds apiece in the 11 days they have been here.

The 30 girls arrived at the camp, conducted under the auspices of the Family Welfare society of Manchester, on July 1 and yesterday they were weighed by Mrs. Eva M. Crosby, R. N., of Concord.

Miss Alice B. Locke of Boston, a Y. W. C. A. physical director, is in charge of the camp this year. Miss Muriel Swicker of West Hartford, Conn., a student at Bates College, is in charge of the swimming, while the craft work is being supervised by Miss Doris Corrigan, Manchester school teacher. Miss Christine Cadigan of Manchester is directing the recreational program. Mrs. Mary Hoye of Manchester is the night matron and Mrs. Florence Cashman of Manchester, the cook.

Vivien Leigh At The Arcadia

Vivien Leigh, whose sensational Academy Award-winning performance as Scarlett O'Hara made her the most glamorous personality on the screen today, comes to the Arcadia Theatre on Sunday in Columbia's new romantic drama with Lawrence Olivier and Leslie Banks also starred.

The beautiful actress whose "Gone With The Wind" performance was a fit successor to her honors-stealing work in such other films as "Sidewalks of London," "Fire Over England" and "A Yank at Oxford," is seen in "21 Days Together" as a young refugee in love with the brooding-eyed Olivier. The unexpected appearance of her bestial husband, from whom she had fled in disgust and horror, precipitates a fight. The man is killed. An innocent man is held—to be tried in three weeks. The lovers are wed and spend the next three weeks together, hoping to find forgetfulness in each other's arms, grimly aware that Olivier will surrender himself to the police when the three weeks end.

Second feature on the program is "Carolina Moon" with Gene Autry.

"New Moon" At The Ioka

Reunited for the first time in more than a year, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy will score anew when their latest musical romance, "New Moon," opens at the Ioka Theatre for a three-day engagement.

Fans of the two singers will find their favorites in exactly the types of roles for which they were incensed. Back again in the costumes and manners of the 1780's, they transport their audience to another world, a world of imagination, song thrills and intrigue which includes in its unfolding, shipwrecks, riots, and a life on a tropical island.

Never has the team appeared at better advantage. Miss MacDonald's beauty as the lovely Marianne is rivaled only by her voice as she sings such popular favorites as "Lover Come Back to Me," "Marianne," "Paree," "Rondelet," "One Kiss," and "Wanting You." As the dashing Duc de Villiers, Nelson Eddy is superb.

Spencer Tracy At The Olympia

Bringing to the screen a true-life picture of one of the most beloved American characters of all-time in a story that is faithfully authentic yet thrillingly dramatic, "Edison, the Man" comes to the Olympia Theatre in Portsmouth on next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The picture stars Spencer Tracy, twice named by Hollywood players themselves as the screen's leading actor. Tracy is surrounded by a stellar cast including Rita Johnson, Lynne Overman, Charles Coburn and Gene Lockhart.

Although not a sequel, "Edison, the Man" is a companion picture to the highly popular "Young Tom Edison." It picks up the story of this great man's life at the age of twenty-two when, unknown and almost penniless, he arrives in New York City to seek opportunity. Sharing screen honors on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Olympia will be the new comedy drama, "Millionaires in Prison," with Lee Tracy, Linda Hayes, Cliff Edwards and Raymond Walburn featured. The latest issue of the Pathe News completes the bill.

Calling All Bowlers!

Both male and female! "Jim" Eastman, proprietor of the Ferncroft Alleys on A Street, will award prizes for the best three-string totals during the month of August.

The lady who bowls the highest three-string total, will receive an engraved sterling silver bracelet, and for the men, an engraved gold-filled miniature bowling ball charm, will be awarded.

Prizes will be on display at the desk, why not try for one?

Bette Davis At The Colonial

The local showing of Warner Brothers' "All This And Heaven Too," picture of Rachel Field's best seller is scheduled at the Colonial, Portsmouth, starting July 21.

Bette Davis and Charles Boyer made their first co-starring appearance in a picture which was more than a year in production.

Miss Field, a descendant of the Henry Field portrayed by Jeffrey Lynn in the story collaborated on the editing of the film, which will run for two and a half hours. The story is based on the historic romance of the Duc de Praslin and the little governess, and the events that befell the members of the household. It is said to afford two-time Academy Award Winner Davis with her most dramatic role to date.

The picture also marks Lynn's ascension to stardom as Reverend Field. Barbara O'Neil plays the Duchess de Praslin, June Lockhart, Virginia Weidler, Ann Todd, Richard Nichols, Walter Hampden, Fritz Lieber and Harry Davenport head the brilliant supporting cast.

Now playing at the Salisbury Auto Theatre is that sensational expose of the matrimonial racket in "Mad Youth." It shows modern youth running wild, striving to ruin on the neglect of modern mothers. It truly is a dramatic film shown for the first time in these parts. A picture every young man should see. The second hit with "Exile Express." The program is well rounded out with news selected shorts.

Starting Sunday for the first time in New England the Salisbury Theatre will feature after a year on Broadway "Love Life of a Gorilla."

The co-feature will be "Lady at the Hampton Beach Pre-arranged Day" with May Robson and Warren William.

CHILDREN'S DAY -

Barbara Simons, John Under, Louella Pevear and Jewell Harburne.

Another amusing feature was the balloon laden fire truck filled with happy youngsters was easily the most colorful float in the procession. The pink and blue petalled float of the Hampton Beach Pre-arranged Day for children from far and wide, as portrayed by Anne Mannagan, Lowell, Geraldine Gagnon, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Marion and Robert Hansen, Woburn, Mass.; Alice Milne, Waltham, Mass.; Erika Leslie, Woburn; Mary Ann Bryn, New Jersey; Marion Tees, Arlington Heights, Mass.; Phyllis Pelletier, Paula and Earline Dumbrack, Muriel and Audrey Lamott, Constance Gagne, Gertrude and Betty Gauron, Lois Yell, Doris Anderson and Ruth Waters, all of the beach.

The tiniest child in the parade was Phyllis Buoniconto, 10-month-old daughter of Dr. P. A. Buoniconto of Danvers, Mass., who was wheeled with her teddy bear by the three-year-old twins, Anne and Andre Touraine of Fayville, Mass., who had difficulty in keeping the carriage in the line of march.

In the division of marching youngsters, Patricia Themelis of Manchester appeared as a May Day queen in ruffles of pink and green, while Catherine Kanteres of Manchester impersonated Martha Washington, wife of this country's first President. There were also Janet Winchester of Hampton as the masked lone ranger, Donald King of Haverhill as an Indian Chief, John Cann of the beach as a tiny legionnaire, with his sister, Jacqueline, as a Red Cross nurse; Walter Welch of Worcester, Mass., as a G-man, George Rosenthal of Medford, Mass., as the "superman" with his sister, Gail as "Miss America"; Barbara Freedman of Exeter as Miss Hampton Beach, Velma Bridle of Portsmouth in old-fashioned pannier costume, Florence Langland of Lowell and Janet O'Leary of Haverhill, two red-checked gingham girls carrying live baby ducks; Jane Moulton of North Hampton as a Swedish maiden, Raymond Corbett of Somerville, Mass., as a "bustle" girl, Cynthia Dow of North Hampton as a checkered jockey, Warren Cann of the beach as a sailor, Mary R. Keefe of Lawrence, Mass., as Snow White without the seven dwarfs, Anne Collins and Peggy Flag of Worcester, Mass., as Hawaiian girls, Jackie Conlon as a U. S. Marine and Dorothy A Burke of Nashua.

Bicycle Brigade.

Patriotically decked bicycles were ridden by Frank Kenney, George Duffy, William Kanteres and John Duffy, all of Manchester, Robert Quinn of Hampton, Robert and Paul St. Pierre of Nashua as well as other boys from Massachusetts. Among those with decorated tricycles was George Themelis of Manchester.

There were several amusing characters in the delegation from St. Patrick's church, which was headed by John Bart and Margaret Cahill of Lawrence on patriotically-decorated tricycles. In close proximity were Louise Donovan as "Minnie Mouse," Ernest Perry as "Mickey Mouse," Joan Riordan and Richard Hilner as "Maggie and Jiggs," Timmy Geagan as a big league pitcher, Joan Crowley as a pirate, Thomas Hennessey as a Northwest mounted policeman, Paul Sullivan of Manchester as Buffalo Bill and Mary Hennessey as a bride.

A scene from Tahiti was portrayed on the auto driven by Mrs. Elbert Langley of North Hampton in which Gwendolyn Teague, Olive Wood, Barbara Lyons, Irene Teague and Elbert Langley appeared in native attire. There was also a hyarack driven by Emery Fogg, filled with young farmers and farmerettes from North Hampton. Another hyarack was filled with members of the Hampton 4-H club.

Band Makes Hit.

The 52-piece band from the Seattles High School of Methuen, Mass., led by Hal McDonnell, former leader of the Hampton Beach band for many years, in their blue and white garb, made a hit with the spectators during their two concerts.

Roland Hinkley of Portsmouth was chief marshal of the parade, with Emile Bournival of Manchester, Robert Hayes and Lawrence Hamilton of Portsmouth as aides. John W. Hopley of Portsmouth presided at the band stand.

Police Chief Jerome F. Harkness paid high tribute to the efficiency of the 250 Boy Scouts sworn in as special police officers who assisted with traffic and the free distribution of ice cream. Daylight fireworks concluded the day's festivities.

Assisting Colonel Ashworth on the general committee were Mrs. Martha D. Greene of the beach, Mrs. Norman O. Coffin of Hampton, Mrs. Maude I. Entwistle of Portsmouth, Mrs. B. M. Whitehouse of Haverhill, Mass., Mrs. Owen J. Boston of Manchester, Mrs. Molly Christmas of St. Petersburg, Fla., Mrs. Wilfred Cunningham of Hampton and Mrs. Harry Naves of North Hampton.

Spirit is running high and the game time is four thirty to enable the Kiwanis members to adjourn to their meeting at the beach.

previously announced "Lady in Waiting" due to the fact that Edward A. Blatt, New York and Hollywood producer, has volunteered to come up and stage the Maugham play.

Following this week's production of "Bedtime Story" in which the Farragut Players enjoy the unique privilege of presenting the only legitimate stage production anywhere of the next Cary Grant-Irene Dunne picture, the Farragut Players will continue what promises to be the greatest season ever offered at the Rye Beach theatre by offering another production next Tuesday evening, July 23, when they present one of America's truly great actresses, Florence Reed, in a try-out of Noel Langley's new comedy "The Walrus and the Carpenter."

Not only does this occasion stand out in the fact that it is the first time that a star of Miss Reed's magnitude has ever appeared in a try-out in the state of New Hampshire, but in addition this performance is marked by the fact that for the first time in their six year history the Farragut Players are presenting a new play in which they are so interested that they have purchased an option on it for Broadway production in the fall.

Miss Reed needs no introduction to the theatre going public. The original "Madam Goddam" in the "Shanghai Gesture" she has added one triumph to another in assuring herself a place in the history of the American stage. Among her most recent successes were the mother in "Yes, My Darling Daughter" and Mrs. Chyden Banks in the recent all-star revival of "Outward Bound". She came to Rye Beach from Toronto where she has just played the role Alison Skipworth in "Criminal at Large".

Heading the supporting cast will be Walter Coy in one of the best parts he has had in his three years at Rye Beach, and Edward Harvey, brought on this year from Hollywood, in his first real featured role with the local company.

A farce-comedy which is sure to rock you with laughter, "The Walrus and the Carpenter" is the best play ever written by Noel Langley, author of Ethel Barrymore's recent success "Farm of Three Echoes".

Following "The Walrus and the Carpenter" the Farragut Players announce a change in schedule, with Sharon Lynne and Walter Coy in "Rain" taking the place of the

Kiwanis Night To Be Held Next Monday By Park League

Game At 4:30 Large Crowd Expected

Kiwanis night will be observed next Monday in the Park League when the promoters of the Park League (Boys' division) are expected to attend the crucial game between the Red Gulls, who are undefeated to date, and the Forest Rangers, who have lost but one encounter and that to the beach aggregation.

The game is expected to attract so much attention and is a most important one that three umpires have been assigned to the game. Harold Gerber will act as umpire in chief, Calvin Warburton will umpire on the bases with Irving Campbell.

Spirit is running high and the game time is four thirty to enable the Kiwanis members to adjourn to their meeting at the beach.

Link Hampton And Maine Jewel Cases

A $4,000 jewelry robbery at a summer resort hotel room in Kennebunkport, Maine, in which the valuables stolen were similar to those taken in the $2,000 robbery at Hampton, was disclosed by officials today.

In both cases, officials disclosed, the thief selected the most expensive pieces from the victim's collection of jewelry. The jewelry which he left behind, including pearls both times, was placed back in the jewelry box, officials said, and he left other articles in the room undisturbed.

At the home of John A Janvria and in Kennebunkport, the thefts were committed during the daylight, in the afternoon when owners of the jewelry were away for more than an hour.

In the local case still being investigated by Chief of Police Harkness and State Inspector Percy of Concord, the theft was made while the victim was out for an automobile ride.

The theft at the summer hotel in Kennebunkport, which has been quietly investigated by Deputy Sheriff Edward Cosgrove of Kennebunk and State Trooper Tristram Eaton of Wells since Thursday afternoon, resulted in the $4,000 loss of jewelry reported by Miss Winifred Ward of Port Chester, N. Y.

In an adjacent room $89 was stolen from another guest, Mrs. Kennedy Cromwell of Baltimore, Md.

A bell-hop at the hotel gave a description of the suspect as being a blonde man wearing dark glasses and between five feet 10 inches to six feet tall. He was seen in the lobby shortly before the robbery.

Tops In Auditions

Four Manchester girls captured prizes in the weekly amateur auditions Monday night, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Misses Georgia and Eva Karas of 597 Elm Street, Manchester, topped the senior division with their harmonizing, relegating the Misses Helen and Harriet Shannon, songbirds from Worcester, Mass., to second place. Third honor went to Ovila David of Beach road, Hampton, harmonica and guitar.

Peggy Karagianais, 152 Spruce street, Manchester, who was one of last week's prize winners, made a second attempt to capture top honors in the junior division with her dance, but placed second to the Dow family trio of New Zealand road, Seabrook, composed of Shirley, nine, violinist; Robert, six, saxophonist; and Helen, 12, pianist.

In third place was John Maneals, 245 Chestnut street, Manchester.

Druggists Hold
Beach Conference

The need of state control over the sale of thyroid tablets to women seeking to reduce was urged at the closing session of the 29th annual summer conference of New England dairy, food and drug officials Tuesday at the Hotel Ashworth.

Recent cases of death resulting from overdoses of the tablets, taken to hasten the reducing process, were cited by C. A. Wood, an inspector of the Massachusetts Food and Drug division.

Limiting the sale of all dangerous drugs over the counter to only persons possessing doctors' prescriptions was proposed. It was pointed out that Connecticut is the only one of the New England states to require warning labels for the sale of dangerous drugs within the state. Necessary legislation to safeguard the purchasers was recommended by drug officials for the other four states.

C. C. Sullivan, chief inspector of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration at Boston, reported that the percentage of lead in maple sugar and syrup had been practically conquered through an agreement with producers.

Over 100,000 At Beach For Second Consecutive Week

Another pleasant week-end brought record breaking crowds to Hampton Beach again Sunday. Highways were jammed giving ample evidence that additional means of reaching and leaving the beach by auto are urgently needed. It was estimated that over 100,000 persons flocked to the beach, cars filling every parking space from one extremity to the other.

Only one serious accident was reported but Mrs. Ruby Patterson, R. N., in charge of the first aid station reported a steady flow of patients for minor injuries.

One of the more serious of these was suffered by Joseph Leonard of Worcester, Mass., who was hit in the face by a ball. His sunglasses were broken and a piece of glass entered his eye.

Theresa McLaughlin of Dorchester, Mass., was hit in the eye by a stone and was ordered to the Boston Eye and Ear Infirmary after treatment at the beach.

With Hampton Beach jammed by visitors, other sections of the New Hampshire waterfront also came in for their share of attention and the entire stretch from the Massachusetts line to the Piscataqua river was crowded.

Walter F. Eagan, Providence, R. I., succumbed Saturday at the Exeter hospital to injuries received July 10 when he was struck by a car that had been believed out of gas. Chief of Police Jerome F. Harkness said today that Miss Virginia Mahan, driver of the car that fatally injured Eagan, would face a charge of driving without a license in Municipal Court, Saturday morning.

Five persons were taken to the Portsmouth and Exeter hospitals as the result of a collision late Saturday between cars operated, police said, by Alexander J. Morse, proprietor of the Malcolm hotel at the beach, and Eugene Hiltz of Lowell, Mass. The Morse car, in which the hotel man was alone, was lifted several feet over both the sidewalk and an iron fence.

Morse suffered a head injury and cuts on the left arm and hand that required 23 sutures. He and two passengers in the other car, Miss Margaret Boulet, 21, of Lowell, and George P. Desmarais of Chelmsford, Mass., were taken to the Portsmouth hospital, where they were held overnight. Miss Dorothy Jackson of Lowell and Hiltz were treated at the Exeter hospital.

Richard Arlen Voices Choice for "Salad Celebrity Week"

Popular Richard Arlen

THROUGHOUT the town, food merchants are featuring "Salad Celebrity Week" and their stores are literally loaded with salad-time menu suggestions.

To commemorate the occasion, many movie celebrities were asked their favorite salads. Among them is Richard Arlen, starring in the new Universal production "Hot Steel," who says, "Good old chicken salad is what I go for—but I like it prepared this way—"

Here's his favorite recipe:

- Favorite Chicken Salad 4 cups diced chicken 3 cups diced celery 2 diced oranges, free from membrane 2 teaspoons salt 1 teaspoon pepper 1 to 1 1/4 cups Hellmann's real mayonnaise 5 cups finely shredded red cabbage Pimiento strips Watercress Lightly toss together chicken, celery, orange, seasonings and real mayonnaise. Arrange cabbage in salad bowl or on chop plate or platter. Heap the chicken mixture in the center and top with additional real mayonnaise. Garnish with pimiento strips and watercress. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

U. S. Army Officials Investigate Fatal Crash

Nearly 1,000 Boy Scouts Stage Big Parade At Beach Friday

Braving camp after five days at the Camp Ashworth camporee on the state bathhouse reservation, 550 Boy Scouts from 48 troops in the Daniel Webster council departed for home Sunday afternoon after entertaining their families at dinner.

The boys of Troop 176 from Dover established a camp record in barbecuing 50 pounds of turkey to feed 60 parents at the campsite. This troop, which was presented the greatest number of awards at the court of honor held Friday and Saturday nights, was the first troop to arrive at the encampment Monday and the last to leave Sunday evening. The 34 scouts in attendance during that time made the troop the third largest at the camporee. Troop 200 from Newmarket with 42 Scouts was the largest and Derry second with 36 Scouts.

Parade Friday At the final safety monitor drill Sunday morning Kenneth H. Hodgdon, field scout executive, awarded certificates and World's Fair pins to Elliot Noyes, John and Robert Cushing of Troop 177, Hampton; Frederick Gowen and Richard Kinburg of Troop 185, Stratham; Vernon Webb of Troop 180, Dover; Orville Gauthier, scoutmaster of the Hampton troop, and Roland Hinkley of Portsmouth, who was camp chief of the camporee.

With flags fluttering in the ocean breeze, trumpets blaring and spectators cheering, nearly 1,000 Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts and Cubs marched along the boulevard Friday afternoon.

Climaxing the parade was the presentation of a life membership to Col. George "Daddy" Ashworth in appreciation of his "generosity and whole-hearted cooperation." The presentation was made on the bandstand by Scout Executive Hillard Holbrook after the massed scouts had renewed their oath of allegiance to the flag and repeated their scout oath led by William T. Call, chairman of the Manchester district commission and a member of the executive board of the council.

Seacoast Groups Confer With State Planning Officials

Members of four committees of the Seacoast Regional Development Association met with state officials at the Hotel Rockingham Monday to discuss plans for a general regional development program for the future of this area.

Members of the committee on natural resources, land use and population, the committee on highways and transportation; the committee on marking and maintenance of scenic, historic and other sites and the committee on planned development and recreation were present for conference with Frederick P. Clark, director of the state planning division and his assistants, Charles Blessing, Sulo Tani and Edward Wing and with Russell B. Tobey, director of recreation of the forestry and recreation department.

These and other committees of the seacoast association are collecting information and mapping tentative programs for development of their particular fields.

To Coordinate Whole Each of these committees in turn will report and their collective findings will be correlated by the association's committee for coordination of community planning.

Development of such a long range plan is intended to give the Seacoast Regional Development Association a definite plan or platform for the future by which it can state its aims and work for them with a definite goal in sight, and also a plan whereby when major developments of any nature in the future are projected they will be provided for beforehand. By this it is hoped that all questions of what might be best for the various communities affected will be answered before the project comes up for discussion. In this way the region will be in a position to avail itself immediately of any opportunity to better its assets.

Given Maps In connection with the work each committee has already been provided by the state planning director with a map of the region with

Silver Ship Plunges Into Marsh After Striking Wires And Grazing Cottage Roof

An investigation by Army officials is underway today of the fatal plane crash Tuesday afternoon which took the life of Second Lieut. Raoul J. Bourgoin, 25, of Frenchville, Me., attached to the 36th Pursuit Squadron at Langley Field, Va.

Three Rescued At Beach Sunday

Ignoring the warnings of signs and patrols, Roy Mather, a member of a Portsmouth Boy Scout troop, Raymond Insini of Marlboro, Mass., and Miss Marion Newman, a Red Cross nurse of Marlboro, were nearly drowned Sunday about 1 o'clock while swimming offshore at Hampton Beach.

The trio were washed up against the tip of the north jetty, but managed to cling to the rocks until help came. Boy Scouts went to the aid of their comrade and brought him to shore, meanwhile signaling to Lifeguard Jask Ormiston of Dover, who was on duty in that section of the beach. Miss Newman was rescued by Kenneth Creighton, teacher-coach at Hopkinton, who noticed her struggling in the current. Insini was brought to shore by Ormiston and all were given first aid at the State bathhouse, attended by Mrs. Mary Farmer, R.N. of Manchester.

Mather later returned to his troop at Camp Ashworth. Bathers have disregarded the several warnings issued at this dangerous spot for the past season and a regular patrol has since been stationed there.

its particular departments marked. At the meeting Monday the state representatives presented to the committees tentative programs for their study and development in working out their reports to be submitted later.

Members of the committees agreed also to visit Concord later to confer again with state officials. (Continued on Page Eight)

Flying low because of a heavy fog, the pilot, apparently seeking to get his bearings after circling out to sea, attempted to cross the Ocean boulevard midway between the North Shore hotel and Great Boar's Head when the undercarriage of the fast, light fighting ship struck electric wires.

Wing Grazes Roof The big silver ship then careened toward a cottage, one wing grazing the roof, winged over and went into a sideslip that carried it about half a mile further before it plunged into the marshland.

Army officials are conducting an investigation into the cause of the crash while the young officer's body was removed to Boston from the Portsmouth Navy Yard, where it had first been taken.

The young officer spent some of his holiday fishing in Caribou lake to take back some of its denizens for his friends at the Virginia station.
