Summer Services On World Peace At Rocky Hill

Few people realize that Old Rocky Hill Meeting House in Amesbury, Mass. is considered the masterpiece of all the old meeting houses of New England. The architecture is identically the same as when it was built. This of itself should be sufficient to attract large congregations to the meetings to be held there this summer.

The subject for the four meetings this summer will be Contributions to a Permanent World Peace. On July 15 Dr. David D. Vaughn, former professor at Boston University will speak on the subject Contribution of American Democracy To A World Peace. Miss Eleanor Benedict will be cello soloist playing her old Italian cello made in 1690.

On July 22, Dr. Fredrick M. Elliot, president of the American Unitarian Association will speak on The Contribution of Religion To A Permanent World Peace. At the same meeting Dr. Dieffenbach will speak upon Practical Working of Organized World Peace or the Larger Fellowship in Religion. At this meeting the celebrated Sanford Choir of English singers will furnish the music. This choir is pronounced to be the finest chorus choir outside of the star cities of New England.

On August 5 it is hoped that we shall have Dr. Hastie of Howard University who will speak upon the race problem and its relation to world peace. It is also hoped that we may have one of the great negro singers at this meeting.

Later in August there will be a historical pageant at which there will be represented Anne Hutchinson and John Winthrop, both in the costume of their period. Music for this service will be announced later.

Boy Scout Units Invited To Field Day Activities

The Hampton Beach Field Day will be held Thursday, July 26. Col. George Ashworth invites all scouts and leaders to attend. Units should report at 10 am in uniform at the State Bath House reservation, to Field Executive Frank Rogers. Bring your national colors and scout flag.

The Children's Day Parade starts at 1 pm. Food should be brought for the noon meal and for the evening meal, also, if you plan to stay through the evening.

Firewood will be furnished for those desiring to cook their own meals. Due to ODT regulations, a camporee will not be held this year but come prepared for a swell day of fun. Remember to bring bathing suits and towels.

Any other information may be obtained by calling Raymond Sturgis, Hampton, 657. All children in Hampton are invited for the day.

Fresh Air Fund Children Due To Arrive Aug. 2

For the 69th year the New York Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund will send the children from the tenement districts of New York City to homes in the country for a two-week period starting August 2.

Funds for this service are voluntary. The majority of contributions this year were received from servicemen who themselves once enjoyed two weeks in the country under the New York Herald Tribune plan. Most of the 12,000 children who are being sent this year are the sons and daughters of men who are in the armed forces.

The children, between the ages of 5 and 15 are given a physical examination by Fresh Air Fund doctors two weeks before and one day before they are sent to homes. If any illness develops within that period the child is not allowed to leave. They bring their own ration books and if necessary, their own sugar. Any accident or illness that develops while the child is at the vacation home is covered by Fund insurance. These children always arrive clean and suitably dressed. If a volunteer has religious preference, such a wish is granted. Registered on Page Six

Prefers Ocean Waves Here To Iceland Waters

William Bradford Towne, RDM 3/c, USCGR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Towne of Kingston, who has spent the past two years in the Arctic, spent the weekend with his grandmother at the Trading Post North Beach.

Residents of the beach will remember "Bill" as their vegetable boy, who worked with his father. Before enlisting, he was employed as a bouncer at the Casino Ball Room.

He enlisted in the Coast Guard in Sept. 1943. He will return to duty July 21st.

His grandmother has owned cottages at the beach for the past 23 years. He says he prefers the bathing at Hampton Beach to the icy waters of the Arctic, where he played football on the ice cakes.

The annual Hampton Beach Children's Day originated by Colonel George Ashworth many years ago will be held this year on July 26. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and Cub Scouts, from all over New Hampshire have been invited to attend besides all children from Hampton. Some arrangement will be made to furnish transportation for those children who are unable to afford a bus fare. Punch and Judy shows and clowns will perform in front of the playground and local speakers will extend their greetings to the Scouts.

Local children in costume will parade at 1 pm with the Scouts and the Lawrence Drum corps. After this, free ice cream and candy will be served to all children.

The Drum corps will be cared for at the Fire station, the Children's Day committee at the Community church and a luncheon for about 35 invited guests including Boy Scout executives, Hampton Selectmen and businessmen and possibly Governor Charles M. Dale of New Hampshire will be held at the Ashworth Hotel.

This annual program was originated by Col. Ashworth many years ago.

BRUCE MARSHALL

CHRISTOPHER MORLEY says: "No one can ever say that the Scots are thrifty with their humor, they give it away in handfuls." You'll find plenty of all varieties in "The World, the Flesh and Father Smith" by Bruce Marshall, a story written by a Scotchman about a Scottish priest living in the environs of Edinburgh. This altogether delightful story is a Book-of-the-Month Club selection for July, along with "Up Front" by Bill Mauldin.

In the Scottish city, the Church of Rome is a minority, and Father Smith is not surprised when he encounters a hoodlum sign in the market place, "No Popery Allowed." When he is beset upon by other hoodlums and knocked unconscious with a stone, he accepts his martyrdom with philosophy. "That's the great thing about persecution," he says, "it keeps you up to the mark. It's habit, not hatred, that is the real enemy of the Church of God."

There is always great tolerance for the weaknesses of human nature in this modest pilgrim. When a dying old sailor cannot admit to being sorry that during his lifetime he has known the joys of beautiful Chinese girls with gold-lacquered nails and black satin slippers, Father Smith understands. "Are you sorry then that you're not sorry?" Yes, the sailor is sorry he is not sorry. Father Smith decided that God would understand and absolve him from his sins.

The story follows the growth of its hero from 1908, when Father Smith was forty, to his death—after the fatigues of the blitz—about 1943. In "The World, the Flesh and Father Smith" Bruce Marshall has created one of the most lovable characters of modern fiction.

Lt. Com. Max Miller, in his book, "The Far Shore," tells a macabre story about an American officer who was almost crying at his failure to get the most prized trophy of all—a German Luger. A dead German lay in a Cherbourg street, the Luger beside him. Each time the American officer started for the Luger, an enemy sniper fired at him, until at last the Nazi was hit by an American sergeant sniper. "So I ran for the Luger," said the officer. "But do you know what? Well, I'll tell you. That sergeant ran for the Luger, too. And do you know what? He beat me to it by two steps. That's all. Just by two steps, the

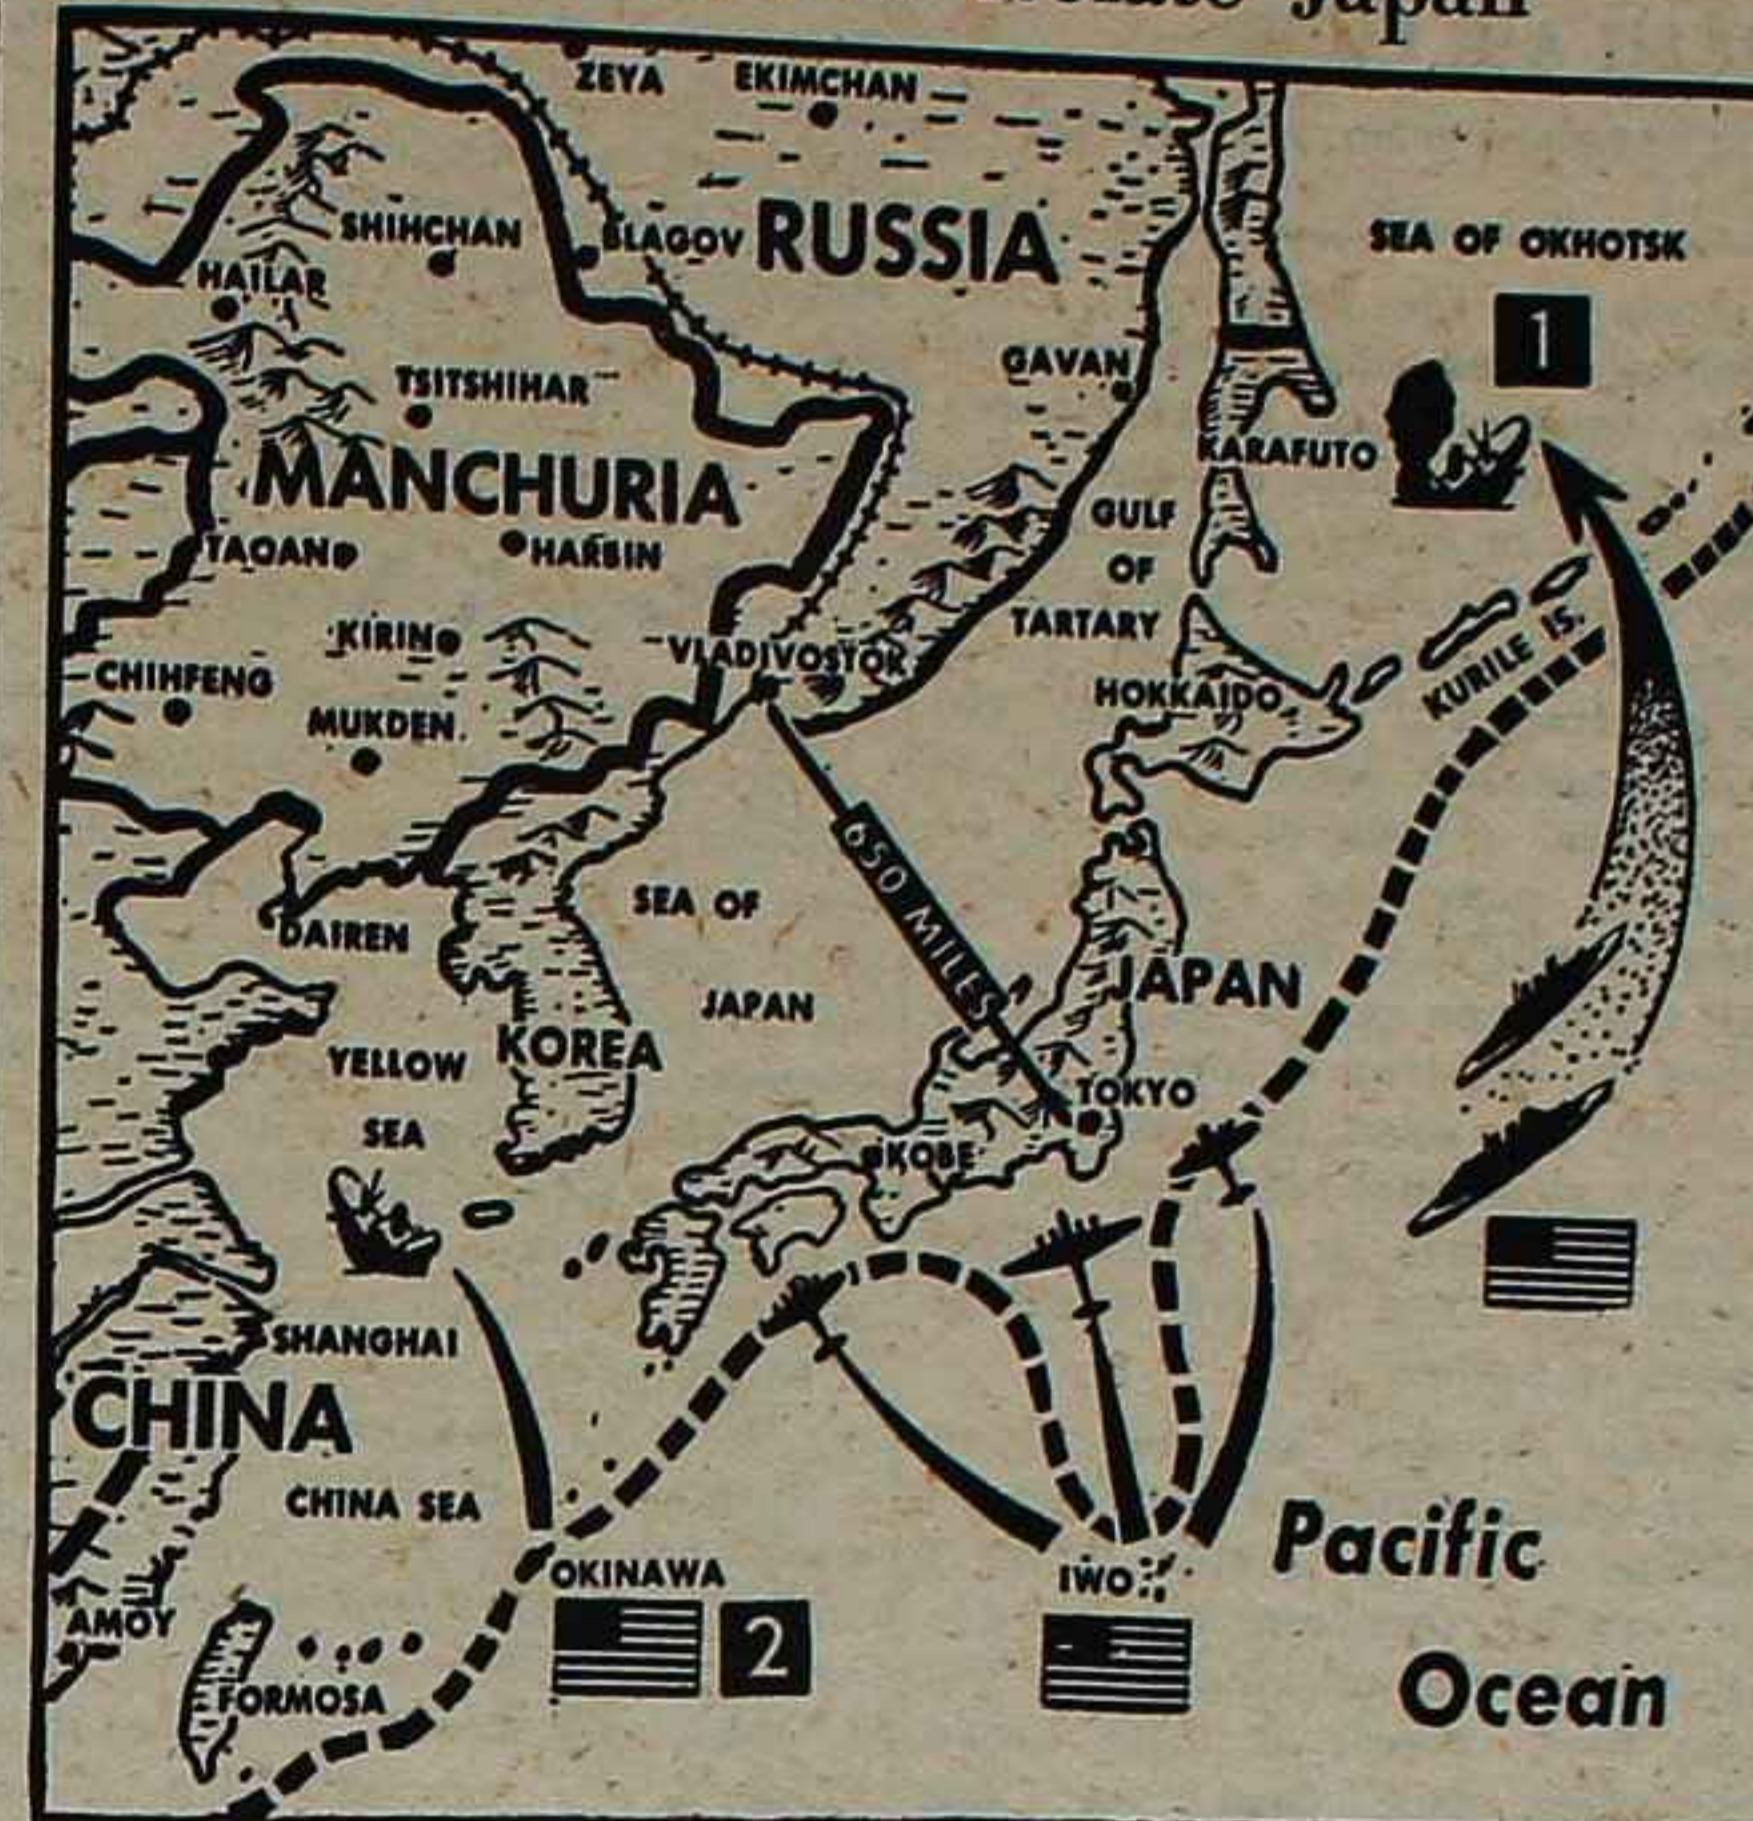

Noted Authors At UNH Conference

Durham, N. H., July 12—Further addition to the staff of the 1945 annual Writers' Conference at the University of New Hampshire, scheduled for August 6-17, were announced today by Dr. Carroll S. Towle, director.

Leading one of the discussion groups on non-fiction prose will be John T. Gould, author of "New England Town Meeting," a record of the fast-disappearing New England tradition, and "Pre-Natal Care for Fathers," a "non-medical, non-technical, non-scientific explanation of the masculine side of the matter." Born in Lisbon, Maine, he now lives in Lisbon Falls where he is associated with the local paper and also writes reviews for "The New York Times" and free-lance articles.

Newly added to the conference staff as a leader in juvenile literature is Miss Helen Fay of Los Angeles. Known from coast to coast as counselor on books for children, parents, teachers, and writers, she will work with Miss Jennie Lindquist of the University library and summer school staff on subjects pertinent to students in children's literature. As an editor-critic, children's reactions to them, Miss Fay contributes articles to the "Publishers Weekly" and is a member of the visiting lecture staff for the nurses of the Children's hospital in Los Angeles.

New Move to Isolate Japan

The daring raids by U. S. naval units in the sea of Okhotsk (1) are taken by military experts to mark an important new step in the effort to completely cut off enemy supply routes and isolate Japan. Already from Okinawa (2) U. S. planes and ships are making ship movements in the south of Japan almost impossible. With oil fields of Borneo falling to the Allies and gateway to Indo-China opened by Chinese troops, the Jap blockade progresses more rapidly than many appreciate.

Throngs Attend Monday Evening Beach Parties

The second Hampton Beach Party held Monday evening and broadcast over radio station WHEB, Portsmouth, by announcers Bob Fuller and Win Bettison of Portsmouth attracted throngs in the area surrounding the bandstand at Hampton Beach. The entire block between the bandstand and Casino was roped off by police under the direction of Police Chief Jerome F. Harkness, with through traffic detoured via Marsh avenue, to assure vacationists an uninterrupted program.

The party this week, was in four parts. A scavenger hunt instituted the start. Among the articles contestants were told to find were a large crab, an egg, 3 baked beans, ocean water, and a red head. Two couples took part. The second part was a quiz program in which these couples participated and the third part, consisted of stunts. The fourth part of the party was a spaghetti-eating contest between two blindfolded men. 25 silver dollars were awarded to the winners of the contests, while a carton of cigarettes was awarded the winner of the spaghetti-eating contest. Another Hampton Beach Party will be held next Monday evening.

istration for the Fresh Air Fund children closes July 20 in order to make transportation arrangements and physical examinations. The committee in charge of these children in New Hampshire wish hostesses to meet the train on which the children will arrive. They will be duly notified. However if this is impossible, arrangements will be made to meet the children and bring the child to the home.

Of the eleven camps which entertained the children in former years, only six are open this year since suitable personnel could not be employed to care for them. This means that 7,000 children must be placed in homes.

These children are not necessarily underprivileged but they are children who are unable to leave the very hot tenement district during the summer months. They like plain food; plenty of milk, bread, vegetables and food that any mother feeds her own children. Entertainment is no problem for just the fact that they are in the country will be fun for the city child.

Mrs. Pearl Marston, North Hampton and Mrs. Martin Gunther, Hampton are on the committee for Hampton. Mr. Birt Georges of North Hampton is chairman of the Portsmouth-Hampton area.

Mrs. Francis LaVertue and Mrs. Harold Pierson of Hampton and Mrs. Archie Lantz of Hampton Falls are each entertaining one of these children beginning August 2.

Yale Grad Will Head Technology College At UNH

Durham, N. H., July 12—Appointment of Lauren Earl Seeley as dean of the college of technology at the University of New Hampshire was announced yesterday by President Harold W. Stoke.

Mr. Seeley is associate professor of medical engineering at Yale University where he has taught since 1923. He will come to Durham with Mrs. Seeley and their daughter to assume his new position as soon as his release from Yale can be arranged.

"We consider ourselves fortunate to have found, in Mr. Seeley, a man whose record shows sound scholarship supplemented by experience in teaching, research, administration and the practical application of engineering knowledge to business," President Stoke commented in his announcement of the appointment.

In addition to his teaching, Mr. Seeley serves as consultant on engineering and manpower problems for a number of government agencies, trade associations and private firms.

He graduated magna cum laude from Yale in 1921 with the degree of Ph. B. and also holds M. E. and LL.B. degrees from that institution. His research has been concerned chiefly with heating and ventilation, including studies of wood burning devices and the effect of relative humidity on the respiratory system.

Until recently Mr. Seeley has been regional advisor in Connecticut and Rhode Island for the Engineering, Science, and Management War Training program of the U. S. Office of Education. He is a special consultant to OPA on fuel oil and coal rationing problems and was a member of the committee which prepared the basic program for fuel oil rationing.

In his new position, Mr. Seeley will succeed George W. Case, whose retirement was announced recently. Leon W. Hitchcock, professor of electrical engineering, has been serving as acting dean of the college of technology at the University of New Hampshire and will con-

Last Rites Held For Nancy Hoyt

A funeral mass was held at St. Patrick's church, Hampton Beach on Monday. Rev. Fr. James R. McGrail officiated at the High Mass. Bearers were Henry Bailey, Jr., of Hampton Beach, Thomas Lynch and Edward Lynch of Lowell and Owen Hoyt.

Nancy was born in Evansville, Indiana, December 7, 1929. Bethany Cottage Holds Indoor Party Saturday

Bethany Cottage camp at Boar's Head, held a special indoor beach party Saturday evening. As guests of honor, Mrs. Kathryn C. White, executive secretary of the Family Welfare Society of Manchester and her daughter Susan and Dr. Conroy's children of Boar's Head, were entertained by nautical games. Inez Balcom of Manchester gave a sailor dance and a pantomime, 'Cinderella' was presented under the direction of counselors, Miss Janet Gilmore and Frances Patton. The party was festive with gay-colored ships' banners and ships cut out in craft classes.

Besides the usual camp activities carried out under the guidance of counselors Marjorie Davis and Miss Alice Maloney, other highlights of camp activities for these Manchester children who stay at Bethany Cottage camp for two weeks, were a 'cook-out' on the beach, folk dancing, and song fest and an evening of favorite games. A shopping tour for souvenirs was also made last week.

Working in units, Unit two won honors for the best work in sand-craft and a camp-counsel was formed, represented by one member of each unit who worked with the counselors. Those chosen were Marlene Berger, Unit one; Myrna Nicholas, Unit two; Marion Wayne, Unit four.

In craft groups, this week, the youngest children made shell pins and the oldest groups made shell hook marks and an interesting frieze of camp activities. They also fashioned picture postcards hang-ups of Hampton Beach to take back to their home in Manchester.

If any graphic illustration of our progress in the war is needed, it can be found painted on the side of this Coast Guard-manned LCI currently operating somewhere in the Pacific. This landing craft, upon which Coast Guardsman Alex Newman, seaman first class, serves, started a long time ago to whip the Axis. It participated in the campaigns in Tunisia, Sicily, Italy, France, and Germany. V-E Day has come and gone. V-J Day lies ahead and already its outline can be seen. Like this Coast Guard-manned LCI and its crew, all our men and equipment now are ready to beat the Jap into final and irrevocable submission.

The LETTER BOX

To The Beachcomber:

Appeal To Drivers

So far at the beach there have only been a few accidents but yesterday afternoon around five o'clock, a small dog was killed at "p" street and Marsh avenue.

Police officer John Keefe questioned the driver and received the same old answer, "The dog ran into the car."

Now a dog isn't always to blame, for like you and me when we want to cross the street or speak to someone in the street, we are apt to step a little too far into the street, knowing all the time that we will move out of the street when an automobile approaches. A dog, not having human sense will walk out into the road. Small children are the same. That is why we must be more watchful while driving and use a little less speed in a congested area.

Getting back to the dog angle, people say, "Well it's just a dog." True, it is just a dog. The owners usually say "$50 please," and the people who killed his dog say that one can buy another dog with $50. Very true but you can't bring back the dog you spent hours playing with, tugging on a piece of rope or jumping up to meet you when you come home. The old saying "A man's best friend is a dog" and it is very true indeed even though the animal never speaks.

So let's not kill off Man's friend. Please drive with less haste. We don't want a cop on every corner with a whistle to tell us when we are going too fast. Just slow down for the dogs or children for it could be your dog or mine or even a child.

Ex-GI Attends Craftsmen School

Hanover, N. H., July 12—"I thought it would feel good to be earning my living doing something I like to do," was the reason given by Claire Moore, former GI and shipyard worker for enrolling as a trainee at the School for American Craftsmen here.

Moore is one of an increasing number of ex-service men and others from industry who are taking advantage of the unusual opportunities offered by this new center for training in the hand crafts.

The summer semester opened July fifth. Veterans wishing to enroll make application through their local Boards. Civilians apply directly to the School at Hanover.

The School offers courses in woodworking, metal working, ceramics, and weaving. The normal course is two years, or less, depending on the progress of the student. The student first masters the techniques of a craft and the principles of creative design under the direction of the teacher-foreman. This is done during the morning sessions. The balance of the day is spent in actual production in the School workshop for which the student is paid an hourly wage, based upon his skill.

Through the co-operation of Dartmouth College, buildings on its historic campus are used by the School for American Craftsmen which is sponsored by the American Craftsmen's Educational Council, Inc., a non-profit making organization with national headquarters at 485 Madison avenue, New York, and by the Dartmouth College Student Work Shop. The U. S. Veteran's Administration has approved the School and makes referrals to it under the GI-Bill of Rights. A veteran, man or woman, may apply to his local Veterans Administration Board for a referral.

It is the belief of the sponsors of the School that a living of $2,000 to $3,000 annually can be made in the hand crafts today by craftsmen who are well trained and who apply steady work and an intelligent adaptation of modern methods of production to the making of their products. This belief is substantiated by hundreds of independent craftsmen throughout the country, who are now supporting themselves by their crafts, and who have developed for themselves a way of life which gives them independence, economic security, and, as the ex-GI put it, "something to do they like doing."

In the magnificently equipped workshops at the School for American Craftsmen, students accepted for training learn their techniques and principles of creative design under the direction of master craftsmen whose skill have been proved by their ability to support themselves by their crafts. In addition, trainees are taught how to set up and run an efficient workshop, how to price, and how and where to market their products.

In 1944 North Carolina took the national lead in production of yams.

Need For WAVES Increases Quota

The quota of New England recruits for the WAVES has just been increased because this section has always had enthusiastic response from its patriotic citizens. The Navy is now calling for additional young women for the Hospital Corps to help care for the wounded and ill, and to do all types of work on the "business end" of the Navy.

On 30 July 1945 the WAVES will observe their third anniversary. This day will re-emphasize the excellent service the 82,000 members of the Women's Reserve are performing. The fact that the Navy continues to increase the number of WAVES needed is proof that the organization has done well. Nearly 9,000 New England women have enlisted in this three-year period. Many more should take advantage of the benefits and satisfaction of serving their country by joining their brothers and sisters in the Navy while the need is still so great.
