Boy Scouts Invade Beach For Camporee

Cover Girl Of 1946 To Be Chosen By Judges August 15

Despite a great deal of interest, in the Beachcomber's Cover Girl contest, entries are coming in slowly, which leads us to believe that the young ladies on Hampton beach are slightly bashful.

It is hoped that literally hundreds of girls will enter into the spirit of the contest which is purely for fun. The winner's picture will appear in the August 12 issue of the Beachcomber as Cover Girl of 1946.

The winner will be chosen in a public contest, probably held on the bandstand, Thursday, August 15, by a select group of judges including, Mrs. Eleanor Goding, wife of President Ray Goding of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. John Dignon of the Avon Hotel and Mr. John Dineen of the Casino Association.

The Beachcomber will not exploit the winner beyond the use of her picture and story as Cover Girl, but is arranging for her a large number of excellent prizes including a certificate for 5 dollars of merchandise at the following stores—George B. French Co., Portsmouth, Standish Gift Shop and Elsie's Women's Shop. She will also have her silhouette cut by Lillian Clark, receive passes to the Casino or Olympia Theaters and be interviewed over Station WHEB, Portsmouth.

The Beachcomber staff is still at work lining up more valuable prizes which will be announced next week.

Colonel Ashworth Hale And Hearty On 78th Birthday

Colonel George Ashworth, observed his 78th birthday on Sunday July 21, at his home, Ashworth Pines on High street.

Col. Ashworth, who has been suitably called "Mr. Hampton Beach," is currently enjoying good health despite a severe auto accident in which he was involved this spring.

Col. Ashworth is the chairman and veteran committee member of the Hampton Beach Village Precinct commission and the founder and long time champion of Children's Day and the annual Boy Scout camporee.

500 Scouts Expected For Three Day Outing Here

Children Eagerly Await Biggest Day of Summer

Literally thousands of children will be the guests of Hampton beach tomorrow when the annual Children's Day, inaugurated over two decades ago by Col. George Ashworth, will be observed all day.

Local children have been invited to parade with the Boy Scouts at 2 p. m., from the Ashworth to the bandstand where guests of the Precinct Commission will be seated. Gov. Charles M. Dale has been invited to attend.

A special program is being arranged for the children followed by free ice cream and tonic.

Approximately fifty persons will be honored guests of the Precinct Commission at a luncheon to be held at noon at the Ashworth.

Have You Heard?

That "the padre" is a bad influence?

Over 500 Boy Scouts from all parts of New Hampshire will invade the beach today for their annual camporee which will be held here today, Thursday and Friday.

The scouts, along with their leaders will pitch their tents for the three-day affair in the area surrounding the State bath house. The camporee will be the 14th in as many years for New Hampshire's Boy Scouts.

During the war years, attendance at the camporees was limited to about 100 boys because of the various wartime restrictions, and the program lasted but one day. However, this year the committee is going "all out" in planning for an attendance of 500 for the three days and two nights.

The first troop to register for the camporee was Troop 31 of Charlestown, scoutmaster of which is K. Alan Streeter. Scoutmaster Streeter and 24 Boy Scouts of the troop will make the trip to Hampton Beach for the gala affair.

According to John W. Hopley of Portsmouth, camporee chairman, an interesting and full program is being arranged and ample accommodations for troop camping will be available.

Seawall Project Well Underway

Gigantic shovels, trucks and men are busily at work these days along the beach front channeling a path for the new seawall to be built from the Ashworth hotel to Haverhill street for the protection of an estimated three million dollars worth of ocean front property.

The three-quarter mile long project will cost nearly $190,000 and will be built of steel and concrete with a boardwalk along the entire length.

In addition to the seawall construction, a new toll bridge is to be constructed at the southern end of the beach spanning the Hampton river and replacing the old wooden structure now in use.

The new $170,000 bridge will bring to an end to what was once described as the world's longest wooden bridge. It was once more than a mile long, but for several years the state Highway Department has been dumping fill on the sides of the bridge so that now it measures about 1,200 feet over water and tideland.

The state's share of the cost, it was reported, will be $350,000, with the Highway department obtaining an additional amount from the government, as a result of action taken by the 1945 legislature. However, the bids for this project will not be opened until fall, and it is possible that the work will not get underway until next year, depending on availability of steel and other supplies.

Have You Heard?
Who were the two shy young men from Cambridge who wanted to see the full moon rise over Plum Island a-lone but couldn't? (Darn those pretty girls!)

Rain Fails To Dampen Spirit Of Amateurs

Rain and fog couldn't dampen the spirits of the crowd as they watched the weekly amateur hour which was broadcast over station WHEB, Monday night from the bandstand.

Competition was again close and variety was added to the winning line-up in the form of two recitations given by six-year old Maureen Donohue of Lowell, Mass., and Peggy O'Neill, 18, of Arlington, Mass., for her presentation of "Buddy Speaks a Piece."

Two other $5 prizes were awarded by M. C. Bill Bradley to Beverly and Carol Snyder, age 8 and 9, of Reading, Mass., for their rendition of "Waiting for the Train to Come In," and to Robert Cokeley, 7, of Woburn, Mass., who sang, "Sioux City Sue."

Miss Catherine Jones of the Avon accompanied the contestants on the xylophone.

Local Firemen Aid Salisbury At Beach Fire

Engine 3 responded to a call for aid from Salisbury at 4:26 p. m., Tuesday, when the congested south end of the beach was, for the second time within three years, threatened by flames that destroyed two cottages, and caused an estimated damage of $5,000.

The fire, which broke out in an abandoned cottage on Railroad avenue about 200 yards from the waterfront, spread to an adjoining two-story cottage. With the help of Newburyport firemen the fire was brought under control about 5 o'clock.

LADIES AID

The Ladies Aid Society of the Community church held their weekly meeting Tuesday, July 16, with a very successful auction conducted by Mrs. John Z. Ray of Haverhill.

In correction of the last issue, the new secretary is Mrs. Viola Carlton, instead of Miss Bertha Tarlton as stated.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Lizzy Pillsbury for her many years of unselfish work.

It was announced that Miss Maude Entwistle will be head usher and announcer of all church meetings over the beach radio. The next meeting will be held next Tuesday at 8:00 p. m.

armed with whistles and the common sense that some people shed with their shoes when they go into the water, have kept near-drownings away from their shore. However, they can't prevent the usual cuts, stubbed toes, blisters, sun-strokes, etc., that will always find their way into the first aid room. This room, which appears to be equipped for everything but a major operation, is efficiently managed by Miss Kay Carroll, a student at Sargent College of Physical Education, a division of Boston University. Miss Carroll is also athletic director at the Area.

This is a picture of the State Area as it stands today. It hasn't changed too much — probably yearly patrons wouldn't notice many of the small things that have gone out or come in, but if you want a complete story of when, where or why, ask Louie Head who has been maintenance man there for several years.

An ideal place for outings, school children by the hundreds invade year after year. Last week 400 nephans from Manchester had a memorable day there and this week 1500 boy scouts will pitch their tents on the grounds for the Camporee.

It's worth your while to visit this place that you didn't know about. Spend a few minutes watching other people enjoying themselves or spend a few hours re-creating yourself at the Recreation Area.

BOY SCOUTS —

A tentative program has been drawn up to include the following activities: today registration will be held from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. At 5 p. m. retreat ceremony will be held for all troops taking active part in the festivities, and will be followed by a cleanup period. During the evening, movies will be shown, a comedian will perform, and songs will be sung and stunts performed about a huge campfire.

Tomorrow morning, July 25, a swimming period will be held, followed by an air-scout demonstration by Maj. John Taylor, liaison officer for Region I. A softball tournament and track meet will also be held in the morning. In the afternoon the scouts will participate in and serve as guides for the Children's Day parade, and free time will be enjoyed after the parade.

After supper on the second day, another campfire program will be held under the supervision of Wallace S. Webb, scoutmaster of Troop 95 of Manchester and also Council commissioner. The executive board will be present for the evening program. Songs and stunts about the campfire will take place.

Friday, the scouts will be taken on an extensive tour of the beach and nearby towns under their own leadership. The finals of the softball tourney and swimming meets will also take place in the morning. The program will come to a close after dinner of that day and the scouts will break camp and head for home.

During the course of the three-day program, the scouts will cook their own meals and will live in tents in the bath house sector. According to scout authorities, the boys will benefit greatly by their participation in camping under conditions a little different than usually prevail when camping away from the seashore.

The committee in charge of the camporee is headed by John W. Hopley of Portsmouth who will be assisted by Prof. Karl Woodward of Durham, Orville Gauthier of Hampton, Frederick A. Noseworthy field scout executive of Durham, and William D. Dyer, field executive of Nashua.

Face Court For Selling Ice Cream Without License

Bystanders enjoyed an unexpected snack Saturday afternoon during a wild chase staged by the police force in trying to apprehend six men reported by lifeguard, Fred Winn, as selling ice cream to the bathers.

During the melee, four of the peddlers escaped, while Chief of Police Harkness and Officer Thomas Kehoe cut off the others, the latter capturing his man opposite Garland's amidst a shower of dry ice and ice cream which was promptly confiscated by the spectators.

Released on posting ball of $10 each, were M. James Farrell, 43, of 4 Rhinegold street, Boston and Sam Lehrer, 25, of 32 Balfour street, Boston who will appear at the Saturday morning session of the Hampton Municipal Court on a charge of selling ice cream without a license.
