Marilan Eaton Chosen "Cover Girl Of 1946"

Cover Girl Contestants

Sixteen of the most attractive girls on the beach were accepted to participate in the "Cover Girl" contest held at the bandstand during the first concert Thursday afternoon.

With thousands sitting and standing around the bandstand and jamming the street and Casino, Master of Ceremonies Bill Elliot got the program underway at 2:30.

Sponsored by the Beachcomber, this contest was first of what promises to become an annual event.

Chosen from among the eight finalists as Cover Girl of 1946 was Miss Marilan Eaton, 20, of Durham. Runners-up were Miss Virginia Stubbs, 17, of Cuba, and Miss Marilyn Sheehan, 19, of Arlington, Mass.

The remaining contestants were the Misses Althea Adams, 17, of Lawrence, Mass., Jean Marie Daly, 19, Hartford, Conn., Katherine Obuchon, 16, West Roxbury, Mass., Beverly Denis, 16, of Methuen, Mass., and Jean Sheridan, 17, of Waltham, Mass.

The crowd applauded again and again as the lovely girls, clad in striking bathing suits of every color and style, paraded before the judges, Mrs. Raymond L. Goding, wife of the president of the Chamber of Commerce; John Dignon, proprietor of the Avon Hotel, and John Dineen of the Casino Associates.

Gala Program For 31st Annual Carnival Week

With final plans completed for the Hampton Beach Carnival Week, interest has increased to a point reminiscent of the pre-war seasons.

Not to be outdone by those programs of the carnivals before the war, the Chamber of Commerce has arranged for the tops in entertainment for the 31st annual Carnival Week.

Dedicated to the "Future Development of Hampton Beach," the events of the week which officially closes the summer season will start on Sunday, September 1, with Governor's Day, a day which has been set aside to receive and entertain the governors of the New England states. From Tuesday to September 8 the Chamber of Commerce will present the Great Ricardo and the Flying Lamarrs, renowned aerial performers, twice daily. There will also be 4 band concerts a day and fireworks on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Saturday night there will be a mystery auction at the bandstand.

The last band concert every evening will feature Bill Elliott, the Singing Cop, and Tuesday at 8:00 p. m. Kray's of Newburyport will present professional models in a fall Fashion Show.

BY MARY E. FOGARTY

During the half or three-quarters of an hour that the Cover Girl contest lasted I found enough material to fill a whole column. There was so much to watch — the audience, the contestants, their friends, their enemies, the judges, all the post mortems — so much that isn't for this space.

But I don't care what anyone says — I know no one was more excited than I was Thursday afternoon.

First, I was a nervous wreck thinking that the girls might not show up. Then, I was excited when I saw the eight very attractive contestants all ready to go before the judges. When I think how excited I got trying to make sure the girls kept calm, I wonder why they didn't just shove me under the bandstand.

Anyway, gazing at you from the cover, you see the judges unanimous choice and an excellent reason for there being no anxiety on my part. She is the girl who said she wasn't photogenic, Miss Marian Eaton, 5 feet, 6 inches of blonde loveliness.

Over a cup of coffee Friday afternoon, "Mal" and I talked a little about the contest and herself. She looked a little different from the No. 10 that everyone clapped and cheered for the day before when she walked before the judges on wooden clogs, wearing for the first time, a silk jersey bathing suit with solid black giving away here and there to a green-fuschia-white mixture.

When I met her Friday she didn't look as much like a beauty queen as she did a 20-year old college junior starting on a shopping tour. Dressed in a cool green cotton, she had clutched in her hand, several of the gift certificates she had received and she was bubbling over about all the fun she's going to have these last three or four weeks.

But she bubbles over quietly — as she seems to do everything else quietly. Although she said her eyes sparkled. Those eyes, by the way, are either bluish gray or grayish blue — depending on the weather I think.

She first told me about calling home Thursday night. Home is on Amherst street in Manchester, where the rest of the family is — a sister, Dorothy, and her mother and father, Muriel and Percy Eaton. That's where the real excitement came — telling the folks that she had won the contest. Her mother practically came through the phone when she heard the news, for this was the first beauty contest Mal has entered. Regarding any future contests she said, with a slight groan, "One was enough. When I think of getting up there and . . ."

Although swimming and diving are her hobbies, she really loves music too — singing, ballroom dancing (with a yen for jitterbugging), Duke Ellington, and, believe it or not, she played a clarinet in the band at Manchester Central High school.

The question of her favorite song brought on the story of Ted Herbert introducing her from the stage at the dance hall Thursday night. Taking her aside, Ted asked her what her favorite song was and Mal answered "Body and Soul."

As she talked, two little curls bobbed on her forehead and her

"Fine," said the orchestra, and going back to the "mike," he announced, "And now, ladies and gentlemen, we will play Mal's favorite song, "Prisoner of Love." Then Ted explained to the startled Cover Girl that, as usual, his program was arranged and couldn't be interrupted but at least he was glad to know her favorite.

Correction: The marriage of Miss Francis Bickford to George Smith, both of Manchester, N. H., was erroneously announced in last week's issue.

Mrs. Frank White has returned to her home in St. Petersburg after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Eli N. Marcotte at the Holiday Nook, Highland avenue. For 41 years Mrs. White and her late husband were summer residents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte's grandchildren, Mildred, Barbara and Nancy Gosselin, of Raymond, are spending a week at the Holiday Nook.

Among the guests at the Hampton Villa are Ella Perry Rumford, Maine, Laurie Jarrie, Fitchburg, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Perley Hoyt, Richard and Janice Hoyt, of Springfield, Vt.; Leo Quinn, Joseph O'Brien, Malden, Mass.; Dorothy Atkins, Providence, R. I.; Mrs. C. A. George, Evelyn George and Miss Muriel Schofield, Claremont, N. H.; Millie Decosta, Emily Firth, Norwood, Mass.; Kay McDonough, Boston, Mass.; Mr. R. A. Norton, Edgewood, R. I.; Misses Alice and Lois Haley, Springfield, Mass.; Catherine and Irene McMahon, Mary Dunne and Alice Flynn, Unionville, Conn.; Louise Candak, Brooklyn, N. Y.; John Graf, Washington, D. C.; Frances Labue, Cecelia Wariec, Maryann Sonia Bangan, Haverhill, Mass.; Harry Fitzgerald and Warren Anderson, Cleveland, Ohio.

Joyce E. Proctor
Entertains On Ninth Birthday

Wednesday afternoon August 14th, at the summer home of her parents on Highland Avenue, Joyce Elaine Proctor celebrated her ninth birthday with many of her young friends present for the festivities.

Many beautiful gifts were presented to Joyce Elaine, and the one which made the biggest hit was a brand new bicycle complete to bell and basket.

A "Jack Horner Pie" with gifts attached to hidden strings, which were pulled by each guest, enabled two of the participants to win lucky pennies with special prizes attached. These were won by Edith Hollis and Francis Comfort.

Those present were: Marilyn, Edith, and Sue Hollis, Donald and Stuart Fanning, Marline Thornton, Beverly Ware, Francis and Marilyn Comfort, Maureen O'Brien, Anne Hurrell, Dorothy Cummings, Ronald Gagnon, and Eleanor Dunfee. Joyce Elaine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Proctor of Highland Avenue and 16 Sherwood Road, Melrose Mass.

THERE'S FUN FOR ALL AT HAMPTON BEACH

Never a dull moment. You want to be out-of-doors as much of the time as is possible, of course. That leaves but little time for tidying up the cottage and cooking the meals. We urge you to make use of low-cost electric service to get these jobs done quickly and well. Our service is awaiting your call, for every task . . . to help you get out on the beach as early as you wish and to stay late.

designs on a journalistic future. At school she is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. Besides studying for that career that isn't too far away, she spends her time skiing, dancing, and bowling.

This has been Mal's first season at Hampton Beach and as soon as she admits she likes at least one nor'easter a summer, we can say she has beach fever. Anyway, she's already looking forward to next summer.

I didn't have to ask her what she thought about the gifts she received as the '46 Cover Girl. She said she just "couldn't get over it" — everything she got was something she had been thinking about for so long — and there was so much, there "couldn't possibly have been anymore."

It's probably typical that she started her shopping rounds, picking out things for the family first, "and then I'm going start in on myself," she said. She was hoping to have dinner at the Constance the next night. The plane ride and fishing trip really will climax the season since both will be her first. She's a little wary of the fishing but with "Bunny" along she knows it will be fun.

"Bunny," she mentioned in the radio interview Thursday, as the "boy friend who doesn't like to bowl." His last name is O'Hearn and she met him at Durham the day after Halloween. She smiled when she said that. They've been "going together" ever since — at school and then working on the Casino together. Of course, he's in on everything — even all the bowling that's coming up at the Ferncroft. "Gosh," she said, "I guess everyone's going to be in on that."

I didn't tell Mal, but I know Bunny can really bowl. She said she loves it herself, and has even beaten him once or twice. I can't figure out why she says he doesn't like the game. Although she looks very cute the way she is, she's counting on bowling to help her lose some of her 125 pounds.

She gave me strict instructions to say that she wants to thank all the girls who were so nice to her before the contest, especially her roommate, Betty Shaw, who fussed and worried over her so much that Mal says, "she's the girl who really won the contest."

It must have been funny to see all the waitresses taking care of Mal. She said that for quite a while after the contest opened, she had no intention of entering. Then all the girls got together and decided they'd put Mal in.

For three days and nights they watched over her like a hawk — making sure that she ate properly and didn't get over-tired. For three nights they put her to bed early and the day of the contest they made her go over to the beach and just relax in the sun. Then Betty rushed her to their room and gave her a 100 percent work out. I saw them all — all her "seconds" — screaming, laughing and jumping all over her when she left the stand as Cover Girl for 1946.

That's about all that can be said about Mal because she's very young and just starting out. Her plans are very definite. When she has her degree and is through with her training in journalism she wants to travel. Free-lance writing is what she wants and she is especially looking forward to living in the Orient so that she can know the people and put them into writing.

Her future promises to be most interesting and in fifteen or twenty years I'd like to show the cover of this Beachcomber to her and say, "O. K. Mal Eaton, now tell me what's happened since then."

the master of ceremonies, known to thousands as the "Singing Cop," sang "Here Comes Heaven Again," accompanied by Hal McDonnell's band.

Excitement mounted as the elimination began and finally, after much deliberation, the winners of the first three places were called back to the stand where, on a transcribed broadcast with WHEB announcers, Bob Bruce and Ray Doyle, they were interviewed and presented with gifts.

Miss Sheehan, a student at Bouve-Boston School of Physical Education, was given a check for $5. Miss Stubbs, whose beach address is 135 Marsh avenue, received a check for $8.

Speaking for the Beachcomber, Edward S. Seavey, Jr., editor of the paper, expressed his appreciation to all who contributed to the success of the affair.

On behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Goding congratulated Miss Eaton, the Cover Girl for 1946 and presented her with a huge bouquet of mixed flowers.

Other gifts for the slender, medium height, blond winner included a check for $10 from the publishers, certificates for merchandise from French's department store in Portsmouth, Campton's store, the Elsie Shop, and the Standish Gift Shop; a silver ring from the Li-Ro-Lu Shop, a Revlon Color Chest from Donovan and Fallon's Drugstore, a $10 bowling privilege for Miss Eaton and party at the Ferncroft Alleys, an engraved sterling silver anklet from Ernie Desautels' jewelry department at Playland, a silhouette by Lillian G. Clarke, a shampoo and wave from Rene Bode at the Casino Beauty Shop, a plane ride for two at the Hampton Airport, a pass for two to the Casino and Olympia theaters for the remainder of the season, a fishing trip for two on the "Art-Mar," dinner for two at the Constance Hotel, and an evening of dancing with her escort at the Casino ballroom.

During the program pictures were taken by staff photographer, Arthur L. Wholey, Jr.

The WHEB broadcast was heard later on in the afternoon.
