King and Queen for 1959 will be staged on the bandstand. Miss Susan Elaine Hunt, daughter of Mrs. Muriel Hunt of Hampton, will be crowned Junior Queen and presented a trophy. Richard Kidd, Jr., son of Police Officer and Mrs. Richard Kidd of Hampton, will be crowned Junior King.

At 4 p.m. the popular baby show will be held at the bandstand, where the cutest baby on the beach will be selected.

Perhaps the favorite feature of every Children's Day at Hampton Beach is the free ice cream for all children through 12 years of age. The ice cream will be served at the playground, courtesy of the Hampton Beach Village precinct.

The feature attraction during the evening will be the appearance of eight-year-old Paul O'Keefe, who is the juvenile star in the Broadway production of "The Music Man." Paul will sing from the bandstand at 7 p.m. with the Hampton Beach concert band. He is one of the favorite entertainers at Hampton Beach, having sung as a guest star and in talent contests for four years. He will be on a one-week vacation from the theater where he sings eight shows, six days a week.

Still tentative is a concert at 8 p.m. by the Fabulous Fifteen Collegians of Lowell, Mass.

The schedule of events is as follows:

- 10:30 a.m. Sand Castle Contest
- 2:00 p.m. Kiddies' Parade
- Indian Pow Wow
- 3:30 Coronation
- 4:00 Baby Show
- 7:00 Paul O'Keefe

Children's Day Slated Next Thursday, Sept. 3

The annual Hampton Beach Children's Day, scheduled Thursday, September 3, promises to be one of the busiest for the small fry.

The highlight of the day will be the second annual Sand Castle contest in which children will have a chance to display their architectural and engineering skills. Chamber of Commerce officials said the contest would be televised this year.

Applications are available at the Chamber office, a number of children have entered already. Many others have been seen practicing on the beach and the competition will undoubtedly be keen. There will be two age divisions with prizes for the winners. The Sand Castle contest is scheduled to begin near the bandstand at 10:30 a.m.

More trophies and prizes are waiting for the best entries in the Kiddies Parade, which will move from the Ashworth hotel to the bandstand at 2 p.m. Judges will be stationed along the parade route to select the best decorated rolling toys, costumes, etc. All sorts of toys, carts, tricycles, bicycles, wagons, doll carriages, costumes, and noise-makers are expected to take part in the parade.

At 2:30 p.m. a special children's show will be presented by the Don Coyote Children's Theatre on the bandstand. The show, called an Indian Pow Wow will include Indian lore, music, marionettes, magic and a full-length puppet show called "Rumplestiltskin."

Following the variety show the coronation of the Junior CHILDREN'S DAY

Merrow Protests

Coast Guard Change

WASHINGTON, D.C. Congressman Chester E. Merrow has made a strong protest against the proposal of the Coast Guard to disestablish the lifeboat station at Hampton and replace it with a manned mooring.

In a formal statement to the Commandant of the Coast Guard Mr. Merrow declared that in his opinion there is a growing need for the continuation of the station and that it would appear because of the increase in the number of both commercial and pleasure boats that there is a need for added Coast Guard activities rather than curtailment.

Mr. Merrow submitted letters to the commandant which he had received from the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Selectmen of Hampton and Rye. Each of the communications Merrow mentioned, is evidence of the deep concern felt by the residents of the area over the proposed change.

Merrow also called attention to a resolution calling for a survey of Rye and Hampton harbors which he introduced and stated that as a result the Corps of Engineers is presently working on a report looking to improvements in both harbors. Boating traffic will be increased considerably when improvements are made in the harbors, Marrow said, and this fact too is indicative of the need of keeping the station open.

"Auntie Mame" Fine Playhouse Windup

"Auntie Mame" has made millions of people live, live, and laugh through the printed page, the celluloid film and the spoken word of the theatre. For the last two weeks of the season at the Hampton Playhouse, "Auntie Mame" will continue to bring pleasure to American theatre-goers with Marie Donnet playing the fabulous title role.

An ambitious production which requires 18 scenes — a talented actress to play "Auntie Mame" — a capable young boy to portray Patrick — and large supporting cast in strange costumes, it presented a real challenge to General Managers John Vari and Al

Christie. The result: a pleasing, entertaining and amusing evening.

To portray the eccentric Auntie Mame, the Hampton Playhouse brought Marie Donnet to Hampton after an absence of five years. This difficult role demands an actress of stature, who can be witty, cynical and emotionally touching and Miss Donnet measured up to the challenge with alacrity and deep understanding.

An equally starring performance came from a local youngster, Jeffrey Blake, who completely captured the hearts of the audience in making his stage debut as Patrick Dennis. This lad exhibited a terrific potential for acting with a great deal of poise and excellent voice projection. A few days of playing before a live audience will smooth up his reactions to audience response and The Hampton Playhouse will launch another star performer.

Under the fine directing of Edward Greer, order is brought out of chaos and many superior bits from supporting actors did much to bring off a worthy opening night. Memorable in the supporting cast were Ailsa Dawson, as the alcoholic "first lady of the American theatre"; Maggie Owens, as Auntie Mame's Boswell that "lives, lives, lives"; Richard Kennedy, as the amusing suitor and husband, Beauregard Burnside; Frank Lyon, as Auntie Mame's philosophical antithesis — the conservative Mr. Babcock; Madge West, especially for her portrayal of the social conscious, Mrs. Upson; and Dennis Drew, as the steady boy friend, Lindsay Woolsey.

Patricia Sloan, as Norah, and Fred Hoskins, as the Japanese butler, Ito, added much to the humor and gaiety of "Auntie Mame". Two other local thespians made their debuts: Roger Heaslip, as Mr. Upson and Lloyd Ring, as Emory.

Others in the gigantic cast were Sally Cooke, Doug Rowe, Tom Hannenian, Robert Winkler, Marie Manganaro, Morton La Breque, Sophie Morris, Joe George, Beth Weeks, Alfred Christie, Sally Luger, Sue Miller, Sheila Bortone, Ken Schneider, David De Silva, Nancy Watts and Anne Seymour.

It was amazing to see what Robert Winkler was able to accomplish with 18 set changes. The young set designer leaned heavily on simple basic illusions and back drops to create the many fast shifts as Auntie Mame flipped and flitted all over the face of the world. The costuming was colorful and Miss Donnet's many changes of clothing were most effective.

Those who go to see "Auntie Mame" can expect a long evening of fun and excitement.

R. I. Beauty Presides At Coronation Ball

The Coronation Ball, claimed by many to be the season's most beautiful indoor spectacle at Hampton Beach, was held Wednesday night at the Casino ballroom.

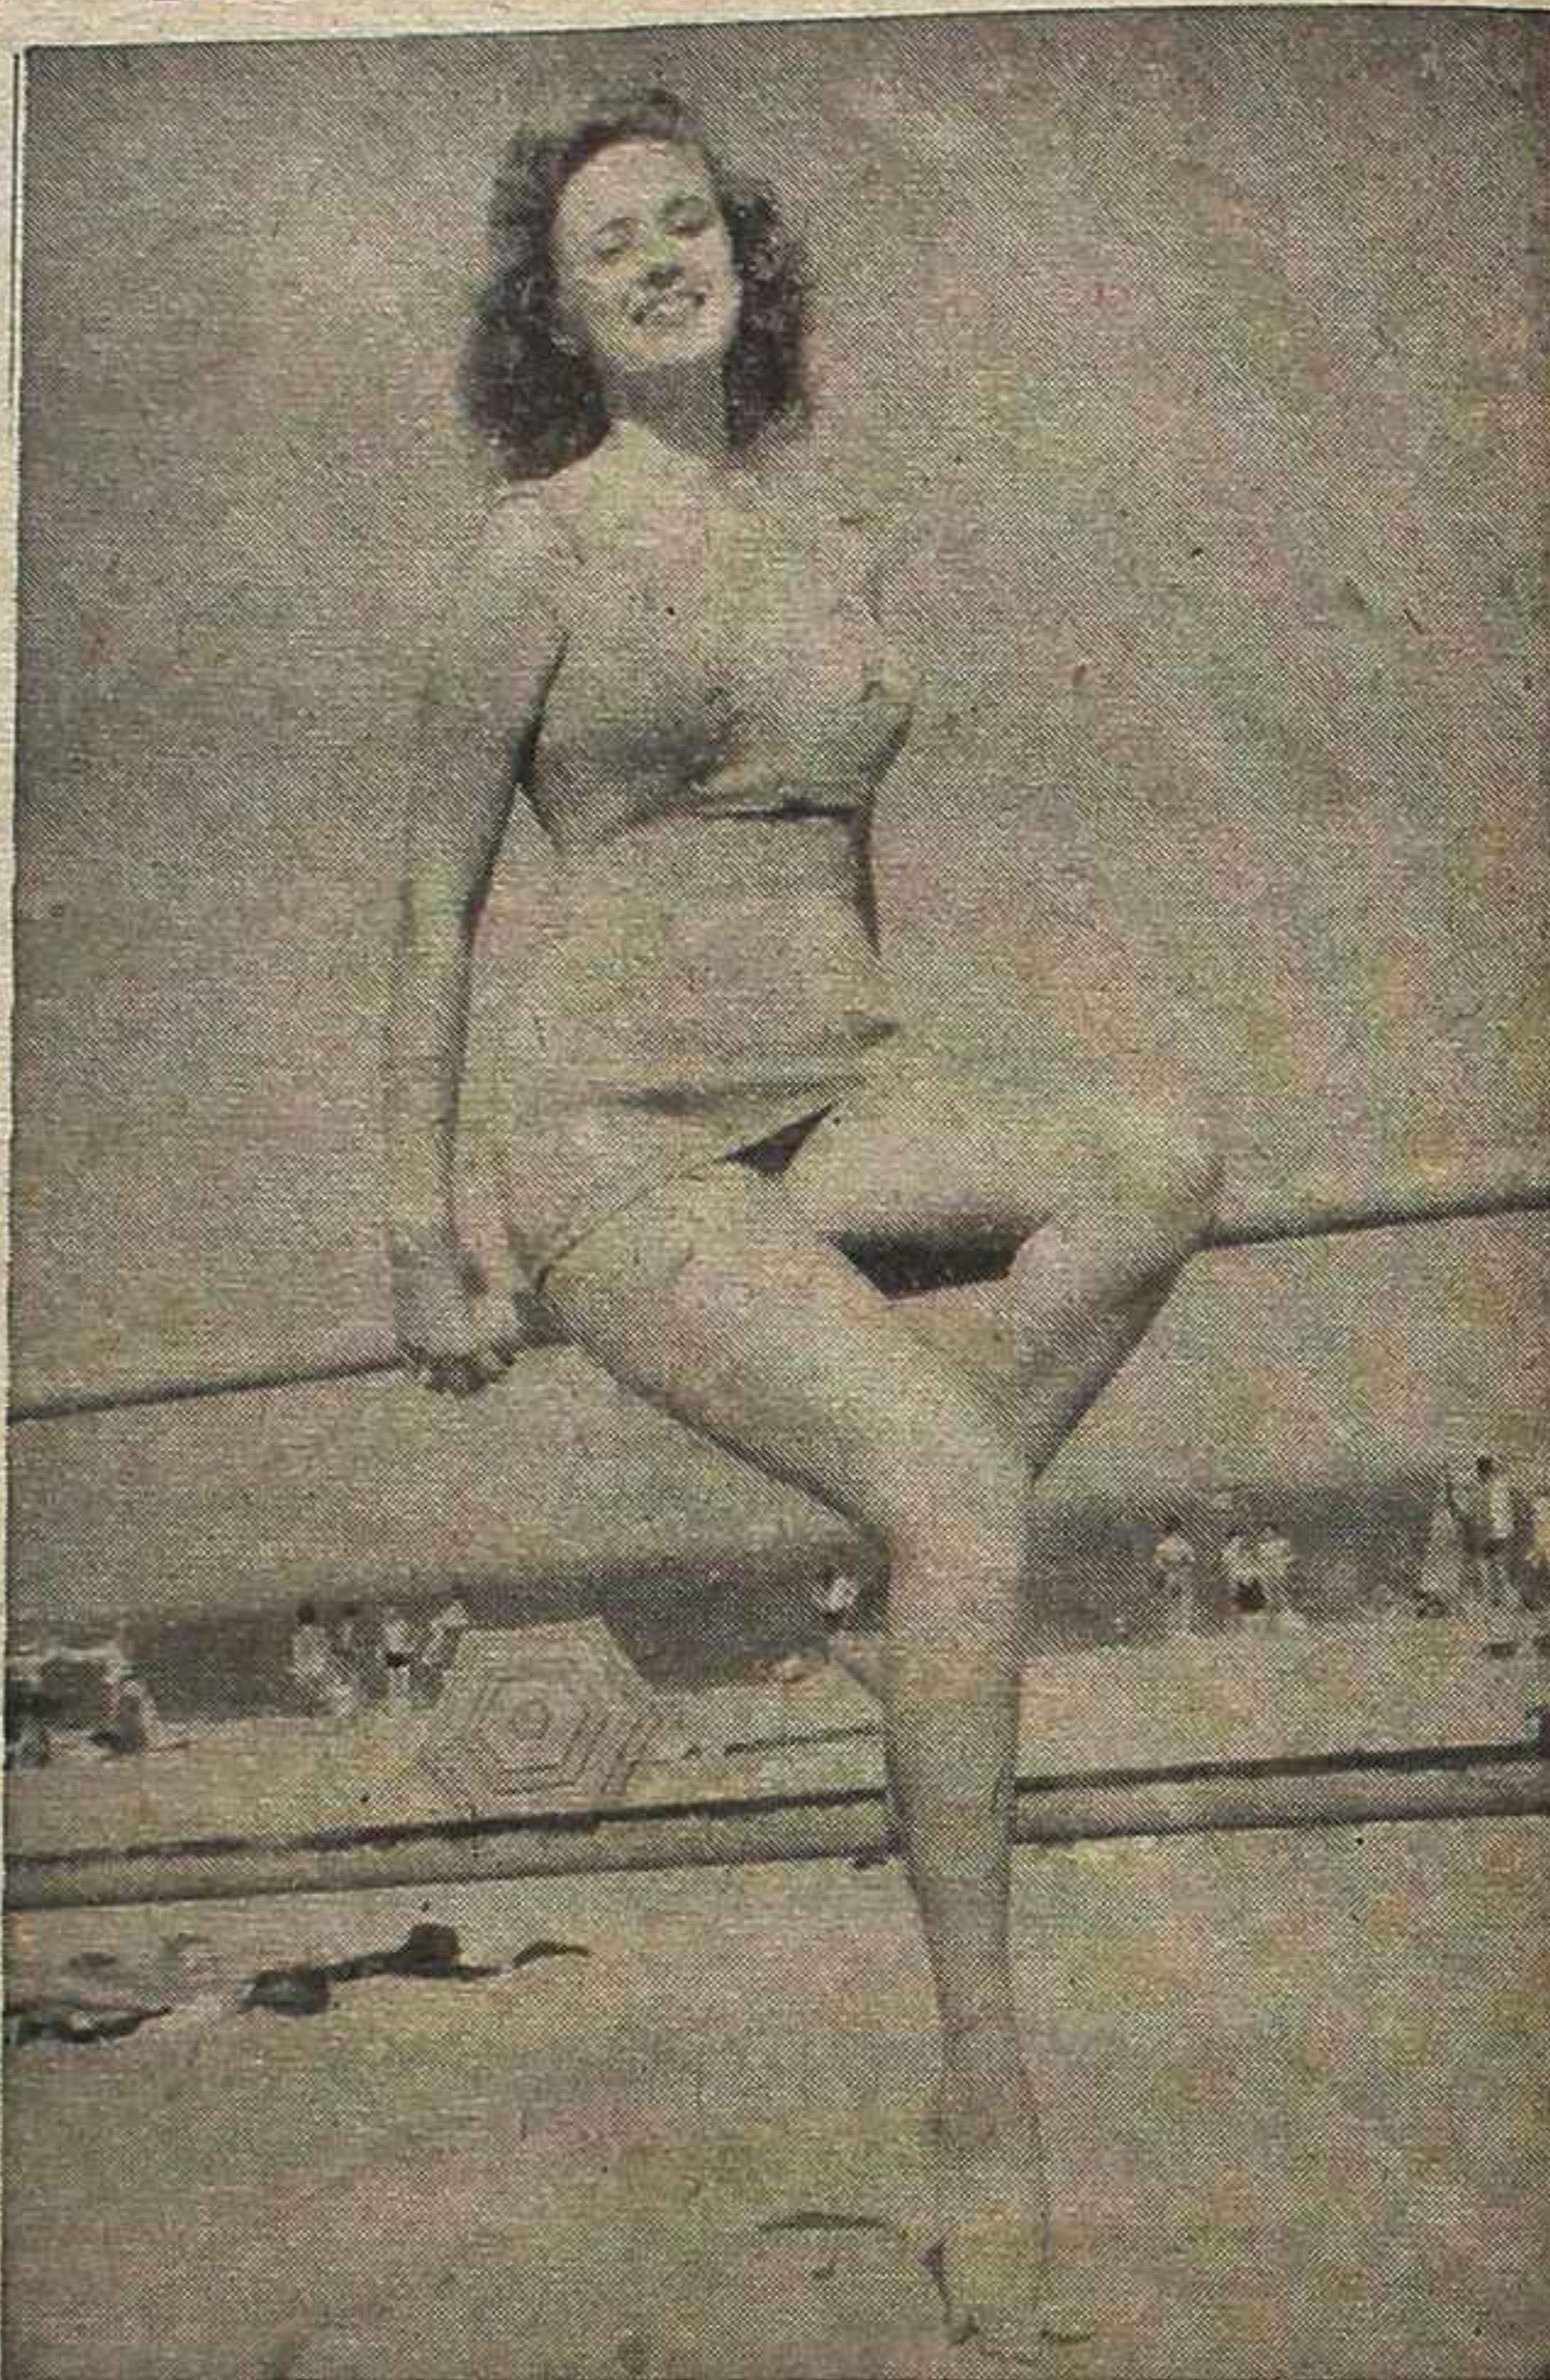

Approximately 130 beautiful girls in evening dress participated in the coronation of Miss Hampton Beach of 1959, Dianne Ellen Lipson of Cranston, R.I., who was selected for the title from 36 contestants a month ago.

The regal crown was placed on Miss Lipson's head by Marjory Jane Macleod of Concord who was recently named Miss New England of 1959. Last year's queen, Miss Carolyn Ann Komant of Kittery, Me., was unable to be present for the ceremony because of commitments in Hollywood.

Acting as master of ceremonies was Bill Elliot, who was assisted in the wings by Henry Hamel. Backstage assistants were Mrs. Genevra Eastman and Miss Gisele Bougie, all members of the Chamber of Commerce staff.

One former Miss Hampton Beach, Sally Ann Freedman of Peabody, Mass., who held the title in 1957, was presented. Crown bearer was Richard Elliot and the queen's court was composed of runners-up in the beauty contest and other contestants.

Also presented were the Junior King and Queen, Richard Kidd and Susan Elaine Hunt, both of Hampton, and their court.

After the entire group of girls posed with the queen for pictures, Miss Hampton Beach and her escort led the grand march, followed by Miss New England and her escort. General dancing by the beauties and guests followed to the music of Eddie Madden and his orchestra.

Before the coronation Miss Julie Jane Berry of Dorchester, Mass., entertained with a French song and ballet routine. Also Miss Anne Marie Leger of West Newton, Mass., performed the baton twirling act

ALL ABOUT MUSIC

By DICK SANSON

Hi and welcome! A special "hello" to "Peaches."

Well, here we are, the next to the last week of the summer season. Sure has gone by fast. But there are still a lot of exciting things to do.

Last night I took in the Coronation ball at the Casino ballroom. Everything went off as planned and it was one of the prettiest sights anyone would want to see.

And, of course, during the ceremonies the band of Eddie Madden supplied the music for the Grand March and dancing. Mr. Madden, who played with Ted Herbert for so many years, formed his own band in the not too far past and has become quite popular with New England ballroom dancers. All this week Eddie will be playing fine dance numbers.

On the same bandstand is Miss Polly Polick, a blond songbird, who really does a good job on any song. Polly has been with the band for about a year. She majors in music at Boston University during the winter months, and for all you fellows who are interested, she resides in Milford, N. H.

If you have never seen the guy you listen to on WCOP, you will be able to see all the COP "Big Six" at Adventure land August 29. If you are in that area I am sure you will have a ball. You will be able to challenge anyone of the COP deejays to see who is the fastest gun, I hear. Maybe I'll see you there. Be wearing a gun, partner.

Once again my private eyes turned in their weekly dirt.

Jack Danhey says he is "Twice as Nice." Sgt. Steve Norris retired from two weeks of maneuvers with the Greek Army. Ray Otis has compiled 400 aches and burns since July 4. Mohammed would rather bus trays than wash dishes, but Shelin B. says he would rather wash dishes.

Bucky gets slower as the season progresses. And have you heard that Fearless Fred lost his bermudas? Jerry at the Dog Cart says, "Baby, Look At Me Now" in "My Ford." Paul Johnson says everybody has an "Angel Face."

Frank Otis, office manager at the Casino, says "Don't Tell Me Your Troubles." Muffins at Jack's Place says, "I'm Gonna Be a Wheel Someday." Bob Cushing says to his boss in Portsmouth, "See You In September." Dick Raneatone says "I'll Be Satisfied" when it rains.

"Have You Heard" about Sandy Stanley? To a certain blonde at one of the local stores: "It's Only Make Believe." And finally, to a real nice gal at the local Chamber of Commerce — Gisele Bougie — "Little Things Mean A Lot."

Well, that wraps things up at this end, so I take pencil in hand and stay on the "Sunside of the Street" until we meet next week.

Of Canada's 4,173,000 households, 96.2 percent now have electricity.

Thousands View Beach Festival Parade

Thousands of spectators lined Ocean boulevard Saturday to watch the annual parade which opens Festival month in the Seacoast region.

Beautiful cool and sunny parade weather prevailed as more than one hundred units marched from the state park to the Ashworth hotel. The parade was originally scheduled to go as far as Rocky Bend, but a misunderstanding by the lead band resulted in the disappointment of hundreds of people, who were waiting to review the parade north of the Ashworth.

A running commentary on the units of the parade was given from the bandstand by Bill Elliot and Ben Butler of the Chamber of Commerce.

The major attraction was the royal float bearing Miss New England and Miss Hampton Beach of 1959 with their escorts. The queens, Miss Marjory Jane Macleod and Miss Dianne Ellen Lipson, were seated on thrones at opposite ends of the float, which was decorated in blue and pink by Alfred H. Corning and members of the Hampton Beach fire department. The float was designed by Henry Hamel, promotion director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Ladies-in-waiting to the queens were Miss Marcia Zapasnik, runner-up for the Miss Hampton Beach title, and Miss Joan Cole, runner-up for the Miss New England title. Pages for the queens were Gerald McGrath, George Haseltine, and David Kapela.

Other members of the court were Valerie Ann Wilkins, Myrna McLane, Imelda Sullivan, Carol Canfield, Ronnie McInnis, Geraldine Wilde, Jane Eagan, Lea Tansey, and Peggy Hawkins.

Reigning over the blue and silver children's float was the Junior King and Queen, Richard Kidd and Susan Elaine Hunt, both of Hampton. Their court consisted of Donald Kapela, Martha Broderick, Maureen Gavin, Ivy Tuttle, Deborah Stanley, Eileen Connelly, Sharon Commey, Barbara Hanlon, Christine Arsenault, Patty Jones, Richard Elliot, and the two Cuddy sisters.

Another interesting float was the Hampton Beach "Bus-mobile" colorfully decorated by the attendants and children of the John C. White Memorial playground at Hampton Beach. There were also a number of floats entered by the merchants of Hampton Beach.

Besides the floats there were five bands, many antique cars, and scores of horribles, accompanying the parade.

Lake Sunapee, high in the wooded mountains of western New Hampshire, has been a popular vacation area for more than a century. It offers swimming, boating and fishing as well as a cool retreat from city, noise, heat and humidity for people who enjoy a vacation outdoors. Nearby Mt. Sunapee State Park, with a soaring chairlift, a public beach, and excellent picnic facilities, plus summer theaters, boat rides, art colonies and water shows on the lake, all help to make the area a natural center for vacation enjoyment.

Rehearing Denied By Court On Fishhouses

The New Hampshire Supreme Court denied the defendants in the "Fish House Case" a rehearing Monday.

The 13 persons who own buildings on the one-acre plot just north of the Hampton Beach Coast Guard station filed a petition for rehearing of the case after the state's high court ruled the land belongs to the town in a decision June 30.

Since 1950 the town of Hampton has been involved in a legal controversy over the ownership of the land on which the fish houses, some of which are used as summer cottages, are located. The owners of the buildings also claimed title to the land which was once used as a landing for Hampton fishermen.

The Supreme Court decision upheld an earlier ruling by the Rockingham county Superior Court which ordered the defendants in the case to give up their claims on the property. Since the request for another hearing has been turned down by the state's highest court, the owners will have to move the buildings.

Town officials have not yet taken any action toward carrying out the vote of the 1950 town meeting which authorized the selectmen "to keep and maintain a free public property forever that area known as the fish house' area."

Many Speakers Listed For Dineen Testimonial Sept. 8

Speakers for the John Dineen testimonial dinner were announced this week by William Elliot, program chairman for the affair.

The dinner honoring Dineen on his retirement as president of the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Wentworth - by - the Sea in New Castle September 8.

A dozen different speakers will review various phases of Dineen's life. James Holihan Dineen's boyhood friend and a fellow member in the Name club of Lawrence, Mass. will touch on his boyhood.

Bill Clark, who recently retired as head football coach at Phillips Exeter Academy, will tell of Dineen's school days at the academy. Clark became a football star at Amesbury, Mass. high school, and was a star player at PEA and Dartmouth college, which is also Dineen's alma mater.

Jack Corcoran, another friend at Dartmouth, will review his college years, and Jack McLaughlin, a friend of Dineen in Boston University Law school and in the FBI, will also speak. William Elliot will discuss Dineen's association with the Chamber of Commerce and other activities at Hampton Beach.

James Batterbury, superintendent of the Hampton Beach Casino, will speak for all the Casino employees at the testimonial. Eddie Rugg, ballroom editor of the Boston Record-American, will speak about Dineen's work in the ballroom industry, and William Patton, president of the New England Parks and Beaches association, is slated to speak of Dineen's activities in that organization.

The main speaker will be Nils "Swede" Nelson, former Harvard football star and coach, who is now a wool broker in Boston. Nelson is founder of the Nelson sportsmanship awards which are presented annually to outstanding college football players. He became a friend of Dineen through the Boston Gridiron club.

Also scheduled to speak are Governor Wesley Powell, Senator Norris Cotton and John Buckley, mayor of Lawrence, Mass. Walter Brown, owner of the Boston Garden, the Celtic and the Bruins sports clubs in Boston, will be toastmaster.

Usherettes for the testimonial will be present and former beauty queens at Hampton Beach.

Approximately 450 reservations have been made, Elliot said, and reservations should be placed early as seats are limited. Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, Elliot said, and ladies are invited.

Boar's Head Group To Hold Annual Session

The annual dinner meeting of the Great Boar's Head Civic association will be held at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, August 30, at the Boar's Head Inn. Reservations should be made with Mr. Philip Nearing, manager.

All property owners on the Head and other interested people are invited to attend. Nominations for officers for the coming year will be presented and annual dues collected at this meeting.

It is hoped that there will be a good attendance of people who are interested in the welfare of Great Boar's Head.

TALENT WINNERS last week were, left to right, Mary Downing, nine, of Somerville, Mass., who danced a hornpipe, Gerald and Ann McGrath, ten and eight, of Jamaica Plain, Mass., who danced a jig to Irish Washerwoman and also sang, and Denise Lyons, seven, of Medford, Mass., who sang "Sunny Side of the Street."

Concord Girl Is Miss New England

Marjory Jane Macleod of Concord, N.H., celebrated her 19th birthday yesterday by winning the title of Miss New England of 1959 in a beautiful pageant at the Casino ballroom.

Miss Macleod, five-foot-eight brunette, was selected by seven judges from 23 candidates for the title. The Concord beauty entered the contest last Saturday when she visited Hampton Beach as Miss Lion of Concord during the Gala Family Day festivities sponsored by the Lions of Hampton. Besides her title of Miss Lion, the Miss New England title was the first formal recognition she has received for her beauty. Illness prevented her from entering the Miss New Hampshire contest last spring.

A graduate of Concord High school, she has been employed at the Concord National Bank for more than two years. She plays the piano and enjoys swimming and dancing.

Contest accountants termed last night's contest the closest they have ever seen. Wilson P. Dennett and Wayne I. Elliot disclosed that only four points separated the top three finalists, according to the votes of the judges. A point system similar to that used in the Miss America contest was used for the judging.

Second place runner-up was Miss Joan Cole, 20, of Hull, Mass., and third place runner-up was Miss Debbie Zabriskie, 16, of Newburyport, Mass., who was also the third place winner in the Miss Hampton Beach contest three weeks ago.

Queen Marjory was crowned by Miss Hampton Beach of 1959, Dianne Lipson. Her 24-inch trophy was awarded by Miss Hampton Beach of 1957, Sally Ann Freedman, and her Hampton Beach of 1958, Carolyn Ann Komant.

Hi Folks!

Here I am again to tell you what little there is to know about persons, places, and things on the beach.

Next week, with John Dineen's permission and time, a surf riding contest would be appreciated. I would like to tell Dick Sanson that if he can prove what he said in last week's Beachcomber, then I will admit what I said was false information. But, not until then!!!

Linda Jo had a nice "Welcome Home" party for Ada Tuesday night. A fine time was had by all!

The people at Hudon's were very pleased this week when a former employee, Rachel Dube, came to visit.

The lifeguards improved a great deal last Sunday when Bill De Sele substituted for an absent guard.

Hey!! Bob D., when are you going to stay out of places you don't belong?

Everyone at Hudon's will be sad next Sunday when they lose their southern bus boy. Jim Miller is returning to North Carolina, making a stop at Atlantic City on the way. He will be accompanied by his brother, Matt.

Signing off till next week.

Pollock Catch Is Reported Heavy

The season's heaviest catch of pollock was reported this week by party boat operators at Hampton Beach, while excellent codfish and haddock fishing continued.

Since last Saturday more than 20 pollock weighing more than 16 pounds each have been brought in by fishermen from the Hampton Beach piers. In a three-hour period Monday morning one small fishing party brought back more than a dozen pollock, nine of which ranged in weight from 16 to 28 1/2 pounds.

Party boat skippers attributed the recent run of pollock to the break in the calm hot weather. Besides the pollock, cod, and haddock run in deep water, fishing in the Hampton river is also reported to be picking up. Several large striped bass have been hooked in recent weeks in the river. Good flounder fishing is expected in September.

Bay State Man To Conduct Beach Band

Harold Hill, director of the Worcester, Mass. city band, will conduct both concerts by the Hampton Beach concert band this Thursday evening.

Hill was invited to direct the band by the regular director, Dyson Kring. A novelty musician, Hill plays glass bottles, marimba, chimes, bells, etc., in addition to several regular instruments.

CAROLYN KOMANT, Miss Hampton Beach of 1958, told about her experiences as Miss Maine in the recent Miss Universe pageant in an interview with "Bill Elliot", master of ceremonies for the Miss New England contest. Miss Komant is the third Miss Universe candidate in the history of the pageant to sign a movie contract.

Suffers Hemorrhage

The Hampton police ambulance was used Monday to take a seven-year-old girl with a severely bleeding nose to Exeter Hospital.

Miss Elizabeth Jane Moore of Medford, Mass., was bathing at Hampton Beach when she was stricken with a hemorrhage from the nose. Taken to the hospital by Capt. Lloyd C. Ring, she was treated there by Dr. Peter A. Meneghin of Hampton.

A boy cut the corn with a sickle, hitched up Old Jerry and hauled the corn to the barn floor. He wasn't tempted to see if he could cut 1200 pounds in an hour. The chopped fodder fell into a basket beneath the knives as one turned the crank. Perhaps a "great amount of work could be accomplished," but when enough corn stalks were chopped for the cows' supper, a future citizen was justified in thinking that if chopping corn fodder was easy work, he didn't want to try anything the catalog writers would label a hard task.
