Phase 1, consisting of the installation of three package lift stations - one uptown and the others at Plaice Cove and High street - together with the installation of many miles of new mains, has nearly been completed. Phases two and three of the project ran into a snag when the bids were too high. However, pending the final approval of the state and federal authorities, arrangments have nearly been completed to commence with Phase 2 which includes installation and construction of the King's highway and Winnacunnet road lift stations. Both of these are essential parts of the new system and must be installed before the new lines can be put into operation.

Approval was given during the winter months for construction of a new $80,000 police station which will not be ready for the 1963 season, but which is under construction on Ashworth avenue. This structure will include the latest in police equipment.

Perhaps the next major item of importance is the construction of the new expressway which leads to Hampton Beach from the west. Segments of this road are expected to b completed in August and the remainder during the coming

The roadway will terminate at Church street and Brown avenue. In conjunction with this matter was the failure of townspeople to come up with approval of construction of a feeder road paralleling Ashworth avenue at the rear of the beach to disperse the anticipated traffic. The Hampton Beach Precinct voters, however, at their annual meeting, authorized appointment of a committee to continue to pursue the project for hopes of future approval.

Shown above with Head Lifeguard Dan Stone are at the Casino with a similar hop being held for the Guard Tom Quinlan and ex-guards Neil MacNevin, Joe Williams and Bob Ross.

The traditional summer entertainment programs will get underway in full swing with the first fireworks show of the year Thursday evening at 9:10 p.m. The show will take place on the sand near the Sea Shell.

Monday evening, the weekly Monday evening talent shows will get underway under the direction of promotional director Henry Hamel and Master of Ceremonies William Elliot. Applications for the Monday evening shows, which have become permanent events over the past few years, are being accepted by Mr. Hamel at the chamber office.

Beginning at 7 p.m. each Monday evening, the junior division show will be conducted with the seniors to take part immediately after. At the end of each program, the winners will be awarded trophies. The winners of each division each Monday evening will be invited to return to take part in the grand championship talent show during the latter part of August.

Defending grand champions from last summer are Joyce Roy who was 12 last summer and Wayne B. Sanderson who was 22 when he took the top honors. Miss Roy, from Amesbury, Mass., won with her rendition of a medley of tunes as played on the electric organ including "Lady of Spain", "Yankee Doodle Boy" and "Merry Widow".

Mr. Sanderson from Manchester sang "Unchained Melody" to take the top honors in the senior division.

Also beginning at 10:30 a.m. Friday morning the daily calesthentics programs will be commenced on the sand in front of the chamber of commerce office. Monday evening following the talent show, the traditional Get Acquainted dances will be held at the Casino

On Wednesdays, teenage record hops will be held older teens Thursday evenings.

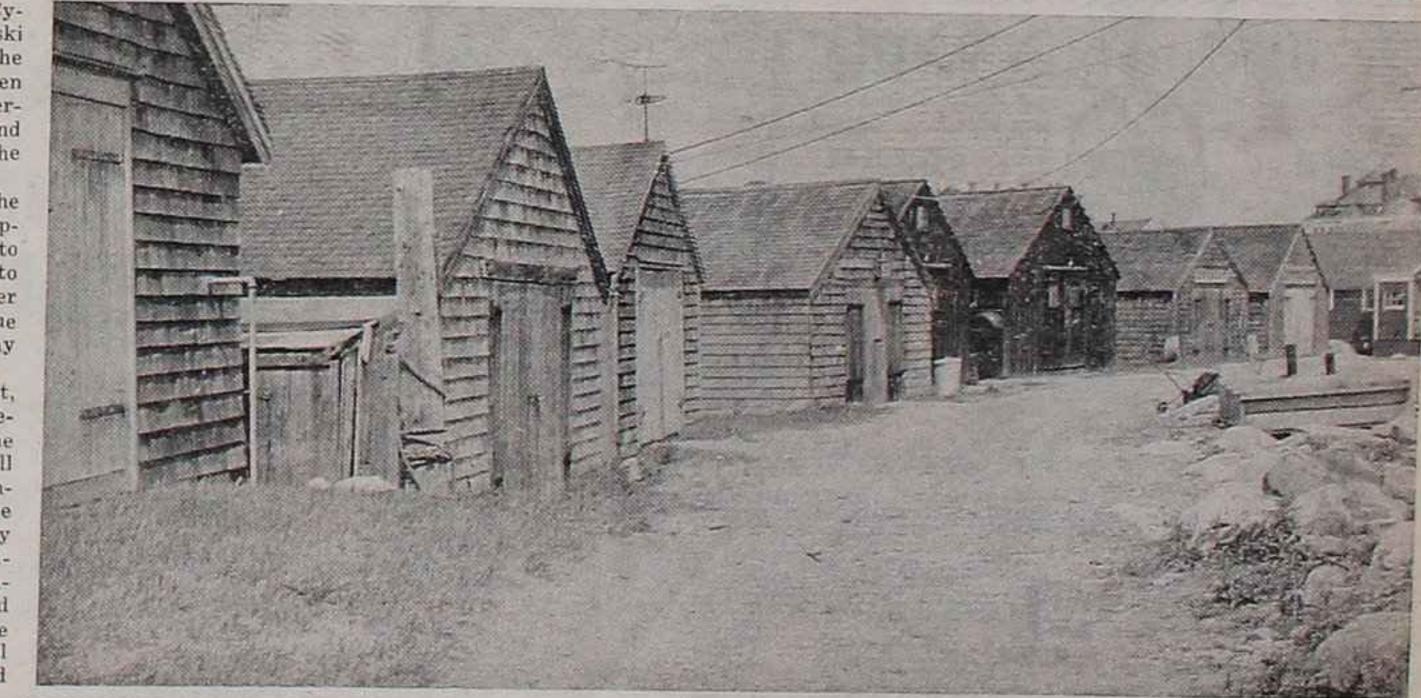

Veteran Beach Life Guard To Head Crew

Hampton lifeguards Joel Cygan and Alexander Turczynski made the second rescue of the summer season recently when they aided in bringing Pat Mercedies of Methuen, Mass. and another girl to safety over the past weekend.

Caught on a sand bar on the Seabrook Beach side of Hampton river, the girls ran into difficulty as they attempted to cross a deep stretch of water with the tide rising. The rescue came at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday afternoon.

Dan Stone, Hampton resident, who will again head the lifeguards this season, released the names of the guards who will be working with him. Returning for another season at the beach are Ed Waters, Larry Klimac, Ted Davis, Jim Donahue, Jim Marriman. Tom Quinlan, Paul Quinlan and Ronald LeBlanc. Newcomers include Joel Cygan, Don Tremblay, Paul Leonardson, Bob Davis Alexander Turczynski.

HISTORIC NORTH HAMPTON BEACH FISH HOUSES remain one of the few sights of bygone days along the local seacoast as a reminder of days gone by. Many livings were earned by lobstermen who daily rolled their dories into the sea to pull their lobster

A local human interest story being enacted presently as Earl Spear, local road agent for the state highway department, and his men have taken it upon themselves to protect a mother Killdeer bird which Cusk is in the process of hatching our eggs.

All the more unusual is the fact that the beautifully colored bird is nesting not three feet off the new highway leading to Hampton Beach. Unseen by the average passerby using 680 Lafayette Road the new stretch of roadway between Landing road and Brown avenue at the beach, the nest was discovered by the highway crew working to complete that

The Killdeer blends in with the surrounding gravel and over the past weekend survived a barrage of beer cans which, probably unknowingly, were tossed nearby alongside the road. The highway crew mer have staked off the area wit three wooden stakes at intersection of the new road way and Glade Path.

Storm Hazard Study Conducted In Coastal Area

A field survey by a group from Clark University of Worcester, Mass., is scheduled to be conducted in the local area during the final two weeks of June. The geographic research studies made are for the purpose to add to the understanding of the human use of the outer coastal areas as related to storm hazards.

Specifically, studies have been made in the following categories: (1) the relationship between varying topographic characteristics and coastal hazards; (2) the geographic extent, magnitude and rates of increase of human occupance of the outer coastal areas; (3) the distribution and characteristics of coastal activity and settlement found within zones of varying hazards; (4) the process of coastal settlement, development and growth; (5) current conservation of coastal communities

C Of C Official Sets Hot Pace

A week ago Sunday, Russell Tobey of the N. H. Division of Recreation stood on the stage of the new Sea Shell and introduced the master of ceremonies for the dedication program of the new project as William "Bill" Elliot, "Mr. Hampton Beach."

For 41 of his 50 plus years, "Bill" Elliot, better over the years as the "Singing Cop" and more recently as the executive secretary of the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce has worked towards two goals - (1) to make people happy and (2) to promote Hampton and Hampton Beach.

The par 35 course has just about everything from hills to level land to a man-made irrigation pond in the center of the course. The holes vary from a short 186 yards to a long of 502 yards with pars from three to five. Total yardage is 3,140 yards.

The course is located on Post road or Route 151 just south of Winnicut road and alongside Interstate 95. Tentative plans; depending on many conditions, are under way to commence construction of second nine holes this fall.

A small temporary shop has been constructed in the dairy barn with Bob Varrell of Rye in charge. A fulltime work crew has been employed to keep the course in top shape. Only three of the holes are presently completed. True distance from the tees are not ready on the other six.

It was recently announced by Safety Services Director Clif-ton W Smith that boating registrations will "very likely" set a new record this year.

The latest tabulations show an increase of more than 1,000 registrations when compared to the same period in 1962.

On the basis of these figures, Mr. Smith said total registrations for 1963 will surpass the 40,000 mark for a new record.

Announcement was made last week following the weekly meeting of the board of directors of the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce that the board will look into the possibility of extending an invitation to the American Legion to hold its annual convention at Hampton Beach next season.

The group will inquire into the possibility of holding either the state or New England convention at the beach.

For many years, the directors have been endeavoring to provide top conditions for such conventions to be held at the beach and the chamber ha asked Executive Secretary Wil liam Elliot to investigate al aspects of such conventions which would be expected of the chamber.

Hampton Harbor Project Wins Executive Approval

SITE OF NEW HARBOR WORK to be undertaken at Hampton Beach is shown in the shot of the will take place within the harbor mouth and inside Hampton Harbor mouth looking towards the bridge. Gov. John King recently signed into law a harbors to enlarge the channels to both Seabrook and bill which will find major improvements being undertaken in both Hampton and Seabrook Harbors Hampton docks. by dredging and constructing jetties together with the renourishment of Hampton Beach proper with sand.

Several years of cooperative planning and work on the part of local area citizens, state legislators, town, state, and beach officials together with the aid of the Federal government were climaxed late last week as Gov. John King signed the bill which will better Hampton and Seabrook Harbors and the sands of Hampton Beach.

The bill relative to the improvement of the Hampton Harbor entrance, dredging of the inner and outer harbors for both Hampton and Seabrook by widening and deepening the channels, and the restoration of sand lost by erosion on state-owned land at Hampton Beach, passed both the Senate and House of Representatives in the final moments of the recent 1963 legislative session. It was one of the final bills signed by Gov. King.

Much of the more than 10 feet in depth of sand that has washed from the northerly end of the main beach is expected to be replaced by sand dredged from the harbor. Thousands of yards of sand have washed southward with much of it spilling over the jetty at the entrance of Hampton Harbor and on into the harbor creating hazardous sand bars for boats.

Future steps, according to Sen. Douglass Hunter, include the notifying of the U.S. Army Engineers that the project has been approved on state and local levels. It is then expected that the matter will be discussed between Federal officials and the members of the N. H. Highway dpartment. Contracts and specifications will have to be prepared and then the project let out for the customary bidding period.

Included in the project as approved will be construction of a jetty over the Church street ledges to curb the flow of sand southward. The jetty at the Harbor mouth is expected to be enlarged and dredging

The entire project including local, state and federal funds is expected to exceed half a million dollars.
