depicting Cinderella. Second place honors went to the Win-AI apartments float entered by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dow. Trophies were presented to these winners also.

Seven bands took part in the parade including the Shoemakers from Haverhill, Mass.; Granite State Highlanders from Dover; the Sacred Heart band from Lowell, Mass.; Immaculate Conception band from Winchester, Mass.; Hampton Beach concert band; Newburyport Neptunes; and the Old Newbury band.

Close to 75 antique automobiles participated together with more than 50 pieces of old time to modern fire apparatus.

Some of the real old timers in the fire equipment unit included a 1919 LaFrance Handtub from Amesbury and Georgetown, Mass.; an 1852 handtub from Newmarket; 1878 handtub from Newburyport, Mass.; 1865 handtub from Newbury, Mass.; 1861 handtub from West Newbury, Mass.; and a 1798 bucket type handtub from Groveland, Mass. In part, some of the other area towns which entered equipment included departments in Rowley, Mass., Stratham, Hampton Beach, Rye, Seabrook, Merrimac and Salisbury, Mass.; Byfield and West Newbury, Mass.; North Hampton, Brentwood, Plaistow, Newton, Kensington, Exeter, Greenland, Portsmouth and Hampton Falls. Smokey the Bear from the New Hampshire Forestry department also made a big hit.

Mr. Perry Tarleton of Hampton Beach, in charge of the fire department units, presented the Fire Queen trophy to Miss Judith Berlo in brief ceremonies at the Sea Shell following the parade.

Other floats entered included Bridge Realty, North Hampton Junior Women's club, Exeter-Hampton Electric Co., Route 95 Motor Inn, Mary Annette Beauty Salon, Casino Beauty Shop, Staples Hardware, Sea Side Surrey, Henry's Real Estate and Cott Bottling Co.

Riding in the featured float presented by the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce were Miss Hampton Beach, Miss Beverly Hebert, and Miss New England, Miss Frances Houlihan and their court. The Junior King and Queen's float, also presented by the chamber of commerce, included the junior court and Queen Cindy Chevalier and King John Malek of Hampton. Special cars carried Miss Louise Richardson, Miss Beverly for the Miss America contest and the outgoing Miss New England, and Miss Georgia Taggart, Miss New Hampshire for the Miss America contest, sponsored by the Hampton Jaycees. Assisting with the parade arrangements were Henry Hamel, Mrs. Janice Hunt, Rick Darrah and Miss Holly Elliot of the chamber of commerce and Mrs. Florence Lockner and Sen. Douglass Hunter of the Hotel association. "Bill" Elliot served as master of ceremonies in describing the units in the parade.

One of the featured guests in the parade was "Elmer The Rube Sheriff", impersonated by Edwin "Spencer" Poore of West Newbury, Mass. He has been participating in parades for over 30 years.

Miss Hampton Beach Crowned At Gala Mardi Gras Ball

Amid an array of beauty and spectacular color, the 1963 summer recreation season reached a climax last week as Miss Jonnye McLeod of Hampton relinquished her crown and title of Miss Hampton Beach to Miss Beverly Hebert, Manchester.

Serving as Queen Beverly's special attendants in a court that numbered nearly 100 girls were Miss Frances Houlihan, Miss New England of 1963-64 and Miss Louise Ann Richardson, Miss New England of 1962-63. Both girls, together with Miss McLeod, shared the spotlight at center stage.

Each girl, attired in an evening gown, was introduced by Master of Ceremonies "Bill" Elliot as she crossed the stage and took her place in the court. Each girl also carried a bouquet of flowers.

Prior to the highlight of the evening, the Junior King and Queen for Miss Hampton Beach were introduced together with their court. Queen Lucinda Chevalier and King John Malek shared the stage with the senior queens. Both youngsters are from Hampton.

Serving in the court for the Junior King and Queen were Susan Saulnier, Joan McClusky, Paula Taylor, Leslye Welch, Dodie Straka, Susan Tobin, Richard Monihan, Chris Wurschmidt and Jeff Morgan.

Following the entrance of Queen Beverly's special attendants, the coveted crown was placed atop the head of Miss Hebert by Miss Jonnye McLeod as she climaxed a spectacular year's reign. Jonnye went on from the Miss Hampton Beach pageant of last year to capture the title of Miss Portsmouth for the Miss America contest. Later she journeyed to Miami Beach as Miss New Hampshire for the Miss Universe contest.

Serving as pages for the two new queens were Michael Toppan and William Fisher for Miss Hampton Beach and Tom Doheny and Michael Lee MacDonald for Miss New England. Making a tremendous hit with the audience at the Casino Ballroom were Babe and Billy Marshall. Babe served as the flower bearer while Billy served as crown bearer.

Following the crowning ceremonies, Miss Hampton Beach and Miss New England led the other members of the court and their escorts in the traditional Grand March.

Local Police Note Decline In Smashups

Police logged their quietest week of the entire summer season during the past week with only a few minor accidents being reported.

In a rear end collision, cars driven by David McLean, 20, East Kingston, and Douglas B. MacNeil, 19, Gloucester, Mass., were damaged in an August 22 accident. Both cars were headed in a northerly direction on Ocean boulevard when the mishap took place at 5:10 p.m. Officers Smith and McCrady reported that the McLean car sustained extensive rear end damage while the MacNeil car was damaged extensively on the front end.

In a mishap at 9:45 p.m. on August 24, cars driven by Charles E. Berube, Hudson and Susan Emslie, 1 Mill road were in collision. No injuries were reported to police but the rear bumper and light of the Berube vehicle were reported as being damaged.

THE NEWEST MEMBER to qualify for the Old Salts club at Hampton Beach is Michael LaMontagne of 186 Ashworth ave., Hampton Beach, who is being congratulated for catching an 11 1/2-lb. Codfish from a Smith & Gilmore's party boat.

THE MUSIC MAKERS from Ayer, Mass. walked off with top honors in the grand finals of the 1963 Junior Division talent competition this week. Pictured following their victory over the other winners of the weekly competition Monday evening is the instrumentalist trio who played guitar, drums and trumpet.

Singer-Trio Top Talent At Beach

A striking brunette from Hampton Beach and a trio of 12-year-old boys from Ayer, Mass., emerged grand champions of the 1963 Monday evening Talent Shows following the finals Monday evening.

In one of the finest combined demonstrations of youthful talent ever seen at the beach, the winners of the seven previous summer contests in both the Junior and Senior divisions gathered to vie for the top honors. Walking off with the Junior Division trophy was Miss Sheila Scott, 15, Somerset Lodge, Hampton Beach.

The Music Makers from Ayer, Mass., gained the grand prize in the Junior Division. Sheila, accompanied by the Starliners, performed like a professional as she sang her own composition of "I Know". The Music Makers, an instrumentalist group playing on the drums, guitar and trumpet, gave their versions of "Rag Time", "Five Foot Five" and "When the Saints Come Marching Home".

The competition was exceptionally keen this year with nearly every act being of top notch calibre. Participating in the Junior Division in addition to the winners were Denise Rouleau, 8, 19 Putnam street, Somerville, Mass., who sang and danced to the "Can Can"; Babe and Billy Marshall, 53, Glenn road, Lowell, Mass., 5 and 6, who sang and danced to "Ain't She Sweet"; John Brien, 11, 80 Pembroke road, North Andover, Mass., who sang "Ave Maria"; "Danny Boy" and "Granada"; Denise Dupuis, 11, 615 Ocean boulevard, Hampton Beach who did a tap dance routine; and Robert Beaupre, 11, 565 Western avenue, Lynn, Mass., who sang and danced to "Everywhere You Go".

In the Senior Division, Bill McGinniss, 17, 20 Pierce avenue, Beverly, Mass., sang the "Super Skier" as he accompanied himself on the guitar; Janice Tripp, 19, 85 Sexton avenue, Westwood, Mass., sang a medley from the Music Man; Linda and John Perry "Bill Beverly, Mass., sang "Bill Bailey" accompanied by John Perry on the guitar; and a sextet of girls playing the trumpets and drums from Lowell, Mass., gave their version of "Hopeless Polka". Included in this group were Linda DeCato, 15, Kathy Morris, 16, Maureen McCarthy, 14, Christine Brady, 11, Veronica McTine Brady, 11, Grace Murphy, 15, Hugh, 14, Grace Murphy, 15.

The final group consisted of six boys from Lowell, Mass., who called themselves the Sewing Circle Six. They were an instrumentalist group who played "Bill Bailey". Included in the group were Brien Richards, Ed Richards, Jedd Richards, Dennis McHugh, Peter McHugh and Bill Lally.

Area Golfers Swing Against Leukemia

Lou Congo, pro at the Exeter Country club announced that Labor Day, Sept 2nd, will be the day for Exeter golfers to take their swing against leukemia. The club will sponsor a Medal Tourney for men and women, trophies being awarded the winners. Registration fee, $1.00 donation.

Golf players in the area are asked to support this endeavor to their fullest, as proceeds will be donated to the Leukemia society to help in the fight against leukemia through it's world-wide research program.

Danvers Trip Set By Oceanside Grange

"Hello", I say for the last time this season. The summer has come and gone very fast, but I am sure it has been well worth your stay here at Hampton.

Your truly has had a lot of fun writing for the BEACHCOMBER even though I did have a late start. But I have tried to tell what, where, when and whom that was taking place in and around Hampton Beach.

HUGE DRAGON conceived and put together by local residents made a big hit in the annual Parade of Horribles last Saturday afternoon.

AU REVOIR
Where has the summer gone? It was only a few short weeks ago when we here at the BEACHCOMBER opened our first 1963 edition with the words "our all too short summer season is upon us." Yet, with Mother Nature and the Old Weatherman cooperating for one of the best summers, weatherwise, in many a year, many records have been set at the beach.

With this final edition of the BEACHCOMBER for 1963, the staff would like to wish you one and all a pleasant fall, winter and spring. We will certainly be looking forward to renewing old acquaintances and making new friends come 1964.

Once again, history making has played a prominent part in the local Seacoast Region. We realize it is impossible to cover every iota of news occurring at Happy Hampton Beach, but we have tried to keep you abreast of the major happenings.

Although the summer season officially closes at Hampton Beach with the singing of Auld Lang Syne on Labor Day evening, a drive to the beach in early fall and even during the winter months can be a pleasant experience and serve as a reminder of a happier season at Happy Hampton Beach next season. In fact, some of the finest beach weather usually comes along in early and mid-September.

In the engine of an eighty-cylinder car traveling at 50 miles per hour, 136 spark plug firings occur every second, according to the National Automobile Club.

Local Youngsters Reign Supreme For Day At Beach

Two local youngsters, Miss Lucinda Chevalier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chevalier, and John Malek, son of Mrs. Nancy Malek and the late

Chief of Police John Malek, officially received their crowns at Coronation ceremonies on Children's Day last week as the Junior King and Queen for Mardi Gras week.

The crowning took place following the annual Children's Day parade on Thursday afternoon. Members of the court had the honor of placing the crowns on the heads of the two Hampton youngsters.

Prior to the Coronation ceremonies, the duo officiated over the annual parade. Charmaned this year by Mrs. Harriet McCurdy and assisted by judges H. Kane, Mrs. Florence Lockner, Mrs. Gladys Ring and Mrs. B. Marshall, the parade was the longest children's parade ever held.

Judging was done at the Oceanside Record Hop for the prettiest costume, funniest costume and most original costume. The judging was done prior to the parade.

Prizes donated by area merchants and trophies were awarded for the above categories along with those for the best decorated doll carriage, best decorated bicycle and the prettiest rolling toy.

The following open letter of praise and thanks was accorded this week to local Fire Chief Perley George by Mr. W. Perry Tarleton, chairman of the Fire Equipment Division of the Mardi Gras parade.

To Chief Perley George and to all members of the Hampton Fire department:

"I want to say many, many thanks for the very splendid work and cooperation extended to me in making the Fire Equipment Division of the Mardi Gras parade on Saturday, August 17 the very success that it was.

"Without that help and cooperation, success could not have been attained."

SUMMER TOURIST TRAFFIC to New Hampshire's Seacoast region has been benefiting for nearly a month by the opening of all eight miles of the new Exeter-Hampton expressway. Aerial photo shows eastern end of the 8-mile highway as it crosses the marshes behind the Hampton Beach water front to head westerly to its interchange with U. S. 1 and the N. H. Turnpike then join Route 101 by-pass in Exeter. This section of the expressway from Hampton Beach to U. S. Route 1 was built by the State Highway department's maintenance division forces under local agent Earl Spear of North Hampton. Entire eight miles of new highway cost $4 million.

Longer Tows Planned For Area Ski Slope

An extensive expansion program is presently under way at the Locke Ski slopes in Amesbury which will, when completed, according to officials, find local area skiers enjoying the use of the longest slope this side of the White Mountains.

Joseph "Donnie" Deschenes, owner of the Locke's Ski Slope, South Hampton road, is through the purchase of additional land at the top of Pow Wow Hill, in the process of extending one tow from its original 900 feet to 1,500 feet.

In addition to this, the slope is being widened so that four tows will be available for operation next winter. Three of the tows will be 900 feet in length.

Announcement was also made that in the planning stage is a tow for beginners who will also have a special area set aside for them. The slope will be less challenging and isolated from slopes being used by the more experienced skiers.

Mr. Deschenes noted that when next winter rolls around he will have a slope which will handle 1,000 to 1,500 skiers without any problems.

A lubricating oil for watches is made from the oil in Brazil nuts.

Playhouse Tradition Upheld By Presentation Of Comedy

The 1963 season draws to a full, family comedy, "Take Her, She's Mine". It pleasantly draws the curtain on a full summer of good theatre which included a musical, a mystery, a violent drama, a collection of sophisticated comedies and Behan's unclassifiable theatrical romp.

parents have in understanding the antics and fads of their children. Backstage after the opening night, Dick Kennedy cleverly summarized the play as "The Father of the Bride Goes To College". This phrase hits it right on the head and "Take Her, She's Mine" is saturated with the same type of humor that made "Father Of The Bride" such a hit comedy—the worries and frustrations and misunderstandings—and LOVE that can exist between a father and a daughter.

Richard Kennedy and Katherine Helmond team up as the father and mother of a college bound daughter and wring the maximum humor out of the fast moving and witty dialogue, while Barrie O'Brien—a talented young star with a bright future—creates a charming daughter, Mollie.

Vivacious Betsy Patrick's portrayal of the younger daughter, Liz, was another bright spot in the play as was Karen Monko in her characterization of the daughter of multiply-divorced parents. The veteran, Betty Fromen Bright, has one scene as the English professor that is hilarious and the young comer, Stephen Levi, shows real promise from his characterization of Alex.

Peter Bailey, as Emmett, and Freddy Hoskins, as Mr. Whitmyer, have a short sketch in which the father is chastizing his son for making improper advances to Mollie that rolls the audience in the aisles. The balance of the large cast includes Barbara Getz, Rebecca Callahan, Walter Berry, Edward Blake, Bill Robertson, Victoria Weber, and Sonny Spiller.

The selection of plays for the 1963 season at the Hampton Playhouse was diversified and was geared to entertain and amuse a wide audience. Some excellent theatre was offered the seacoast area between June and September and the ringing down of the final curtain always produces a bit of nostalgic sadness.

Perhaps, this is why "Take Her, She's Mine" was chosen for the last play of the season. It is charming, funny and so true to life for those who have gone through exactly the same experiences with their own children: This is a family play with broad appeal for young and old and highly recommended as a show to see before the children start back to school next week. State Police Crackdown On Route 1 Truck Traffic

An all-out campaign has been launched by state police as they crack down on speeding and overloaded trucks in the seacoast area. Maj. H. F. Gray, state police official, made the announcement earlier this week. According to officials, two officers are being assigned two days a week to check truck traffic on the main route, U. S. 1, to Portsmouth on the major Boston to Portland, Maine run. It was also noted that despite a recent change in the law liberalizing allowable weight on four-axle, semi-trailer trucks to 66,400 pounds and 73,280 pounds on five-axle trucks, many trucks are overloaded by as many as five tons, according to the state police head. Several such violations, have been noticeable in recent court cases in Hampton court together with a violation which has found truck drivers operating diesel tractors as part of semi-trailer units who have not complied with the User's Permit for diesel fuel which is a part of the local laws. Equipment and speed checks are being made regularly and with results according to the state police. Maj. Gray denied a report that truckers were being stopped to force them to use the nearby New Hampshire toll road to Portsmouth. Maj. Gray said, "We don't

FINISHING TOUCHES follows close inspection by this amateur builder who competed in the Most Religious category during the Sand Castle Contest last week. Miniature replica of a church is shown.

Annual Sand Castle Contest Biggest Ever Held At Beach

A total of 75 units, constructed by over 150 youngsters, were entered in the annual Children's Day Sand Castle contest in front of the Sea Shell last Thursday morning. The children, comprising the largest group ever to take part in the traditional event, put their artistic ability to work for nearly 25 minutes Thursday morning in vying for the top prizes in three separate categories including the Most Original, Most Religious Motif and Outstanding Miniature work.

Top award for the Most Original group went to Tim and John Tisdell, ages 11 and 8, from Springfield, Mass. Second place honors in this category were won by Sandra Mathews, 9, Malden, Mass.

John Kane and Leon Noury, 11 and 10, working as a team, and from Hampton, gained the top trophy for the Most Religious work. Second place was won by Patty O'Neil and Mary and Billy Calahan, 11, 12 and 7. Their address was given as Hampton Beach.

Billy Stewart, 11, Ridgewood, New Jersey, copped the Best Miniature award while second place honors in this category were won by Michelle and Michael Casky, 9 and 7, of Mil-ties. The castles were constructed over a wide area of the beach as hundreds of spectators watched the amateur artists at work.

Judging was done by Mrs. Virginia Hurley of Tewksbury, Mass., Mrs. Janice Hunt of the chamber of commerce, Mrs. Florence Lockner and Mrs. James Fallon, Sr., both of the beach. Assisting in the registration were the Junior Miss Hampton Beach, Cindy Chevalier and Holly Elliot. Prizes were donated by beach business people with trophies going to the first place winners in each group. The awards were made on the Sea Shell immediately following the competition.

Local Garden Club Plans Fair Exhibit

Mrs. Edna Pearl Parr was hostess to the Salty Marsh garden club August 21 at her home, 10 Emerald avenue.

A morning coffee preceded the business meeting at which Elsa Polley was named corresponding secretary of the club. It was also announced that Hilda Morse would be chairman of the club's entry at Deerfield Fair.

The semi-annual meeting of the New Hampshire Garden clubs will be held at Concord, Sept. 18. Reservations should be made by those members wishing to attend with the club president, Velma Hansen, by Sept. 10. Club members have been requested to make corsages for those at the head table at this meeting.

Reports were given on the activities of the club during the summer months, following which Mrs. Carl Dahlgren, president of the N. H. Federation of Garden clubs spoke to the group. Her talk stressed "We find strength in unity, as we build for the future."

The next meeting will be held at the Plum Island, Mass. Recreation area with Mr. J. C. Appel, refuge manager, as the speaker, Sept. 17. Members will meet at the home of the president, 10 a.m. Each member should bring a chair and lunch.

Pease Takes Top AF Score On Inspection

Pease Air Force Base officials were recently congratulated for the first place result in the annual 8th Air Force facilities inspection.

Brig. Gen. Robert B. Miller, 817th Air Division Commander at Pease received a letter from Lt. Gen. Joseph J. Nazzaro, commander of the 8th Air Force.

Gen. Nazzaro's letter says, "Pease topped the list this year for all 8th Air Force stations with an 'in the blue' rate of 90.5 per cent — the highest ever scored."

Gen. Miller also expressed his own congratulations to all personnel at Pease for contributing to the achievement.

Pierson Named To Full-Time Police Post

George Pierson, 86 Mace road, a part-time police officer for some time, has been assigned permanent duty with the local department.

The former police special will become a permanent member of the force, replacing Officer Thomas Burke who will be leaving this fall to take up duties as a school teacher in Exeter. Officer Burke, however, according to town officials, will remain with the force as a special officer.

"Horribles" Invade Beach

Thousands of persons lined both side of Ashworth avenue under perfect weather conditions to witness the second gigantic parade of the Mardi Gras week festivities.

In the line of march for the traditional Horribles parade last Saturday was everything from beautiful floats to horribles, and man-made dragons to bands. One of the largest contingents was entered by the J street gang. Many persons were dressed as skeletons. The devil was also present.

Many of the costumes and float designs were unique as the business people and visitors to different areas of the beach conceived many novel ideas to make the Saturday afternoon parade enjoyable for the spectators.

Hampton Man Wins Promotion At Shipyard

A Hampton man, Alan L. Rowe, was among those recently promoted to supervisory positions at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard. The promotions were announced by Rear Admiral Charles J. Palmer USN, shipyard commander.

Rowe, who resides at 2 Emery lane, was named to supervise the Design division's foundation and fittings section. He received his college training at Duke University, from which he graduated in 1951. He has been employed at the shipyard since 1951 and has held a supervisory rating since 1955.

Cotton Requests Granite State Weather Station

A request that New Hampshire be given every consideration for the establishment of a weather forecasting station came recently from Sen. Norris Cotton.

In a statement issued from his Washington office, Sen. Cotton noted the request came during Senate Commerce Committee hearings on the nomination of Robert M. White of Connecticut to the post of chief of the weather bureau.

Sen. Cotton pointed out that New Hampshire has no weather bureau station that is qualified and authorized to forecast the weather and added that the state needs at least one such station.

The American Museum of Natural History in New York is not a single structure, but 19 interconnected buildings.

Discovery Highlights Youth Group's Tour

The discovery of two neatly carved names and dates, apparently weathered by the waters of the Atlantic Ocean, located on rocks off the Hampton Beach State Park area proved to be one of the highlights of a trip by several members of an American Youth Hostel group which recently visited at Hampton Beach.

The names Walter Boynton and Albert Bolton are clearly etched into the large boulders in front of the state park area. After the name of Boynton appears the number 21. It was at first believed that the number might have read 1621 but the first two numbers are barely legible. A check with local town officials revealed no records of the inscriptions. After the Bolton name appears to be the number 09.

Headed by a Columbia University student, John Helfer of Pleasantville, New York, six boys and six girls on a bicycle tour of New York, Massachusetts, Maine and New Hampshire recently spent a few days at Hampton Beach. The group usually spend their evenings in hostleries. While at the beach, they put up at the Wilbert Hotel on C street.

The trip, lasting approximately a month and costing each person approximately $175, found the group embarking from New York. They traveled by train to Great Barrington, Mass. and then bicycled through much of Massachusetts visiting such places as Tanglewood, the Connecticut Valley region, Mohawk Trail, Lake Sunapee area, Kittery, Maine and were scheduled to leave for the last leg of their trip to Gloucester and Boston, Mass. before entraining for home.

Helfer briefly explained the work of the American Youth Hostel as examples of youths working to gether. He noted that the boys and girls, ages 14-16, found it difficult to pedal 10 miles a day at the outset of the tour but now found it nothing to cover 30 miles a day.

On the trek, in addition to Helfer, were Barry Goldman, Jeff Chester, Richard Bernstein, Larry Schwatzer, Joan Cooper, Beth Shapiro, Terry Schwartz, Laurel Colin Gold and Meredith Jones.

THE DEVIL was a prominent figure during the Horribles Parade last Saturday afternoon.

ALL ABOARD for boat trip were the words echoed by officials of the John Hancock FCA Outing last Saturday. Group of employees and members of their families is shown boarding Smith and Gilmore craft for brief tour of area.

Insurance Company Holds Yearly Outing At Beach

The employees of the John Hancock Life Insurance company took part in their annual FCA summer outing at Hampton Beach in an all-day family affair Saturday.

Chairman of the day-long activities, Paul C. McAuliffe and co-chairman Janet M. Tenney, arranged the program.

The group left Boston at 8 a.m. and by 9 to 11 a.m., they were taking part in a mid-morning luncheon at the Casino dining counter.

Displaying special tags, some of the events they participated in and some of the places visited during the day included Casino bathhouse, playground, bowling, skee ball, indoor golf and bicycle riding at Ferncroft Alleys. Also, a special bus took the visitors to the Smith and Gilmore docks for boat rides.

Other items during the day found the FCA group participating in Jack Dineen's record hop, calisthenics, band concert, dance contests at the Casino Ballroom, scenic tour, Miss FCA Summer Queen contest and dancing in the afternoon at the Casino Ballroom.

Officers of the FCA include George J. Kutz, president; Henry M. McCarthy, vice president; Barbara B. Johnson, secretary; and David Nagle, treasurer.

Meeting Called At Beach On Parking Problem

All beach business owners and cottage owners residing on the lettered streets from Ashworth corner to Hampton River Bridge are asked to be present at a meeting next Thursday evening to discuss parking problems.

The meeting will be held in the Sea Shell beginning at 7 p.m. on Thursday, September 5. It will be conducted by the chamber of commerce committee working on parking problems on these streets.

Chamber committee officials are urging all persons residing in or having businesses in these areas to be present for the meeting.

Firemen Note 'Quietest' Week For Summer

Local fire fighters experienced the quietest week of the summer season as they were called out only four times in the past seven days.

On August 25, Engine 2 and Tank 1 answered a telephone alarm from the Byron Redman residence at 405 Winnacunnet road. The call was received at 10:51 a.m. for a burning furnace motor. Firemen found everything under control when they arrived with no fire, other than in the motor, resulting.

At 7:44 a.m. on August 24, firemen were called to render resuscitator and ambulance assistance to Father Sklandis, 151 Roger street, Lowell, Mass. He was taken from 11 Nudd avenue to the Exeter Hospital by firemen.

Firemen were called out twice on August 20. The first call was received at 12:07 p.m.

for a brush fire in a new development off Woodland road. Engines 2 and 3 and Tank 1 responded. The second fire came at 11:28 p.m. when brush, which had previously been burned during the day, was reported smouldering and sparking. Tank 1 answered this alarm.

Fire Chief Perley George also announced this week that plans are well underway for the October Minstrel Show. The first rehearsal is scheduled for September 6 and will be held at the fire station.
