Seabrook Pier Asset To Area

SEABROOK HARBOR PUBLIC PIER PROJECT gets the once over from Seacoast Regional Executive Secretary John P. Batchelder (atop pier) as new construction work got underway this week. When completed, the new construction work coupled with repairs to the existing dock will give the boating enthusiasts another public pier. Both sides of Hampton River will now have excellent accommodations for boaters and fishermen.

Assets to local boating enthusiasts continued to mount with notice of another addition to the boating program of the local waterways. Over at Seabrook Harbor a unique re-construction program is underway which will go a long ways toward giving boat owners and fishermen top facilities on both sides of Hampton River.

Public officials in the Town of Seabrook, the N. H. Department of Public Works and Highway and the Seacoast Region office are rapidly concluding preparations for the twenty-second birthday of the newly rebuilt Public Pier at Seabrook Harbor. The two hundred foot long wooden structure was built by the State Highway Department in 1942 at the time of the re-construction of the Hampton River Bridge.

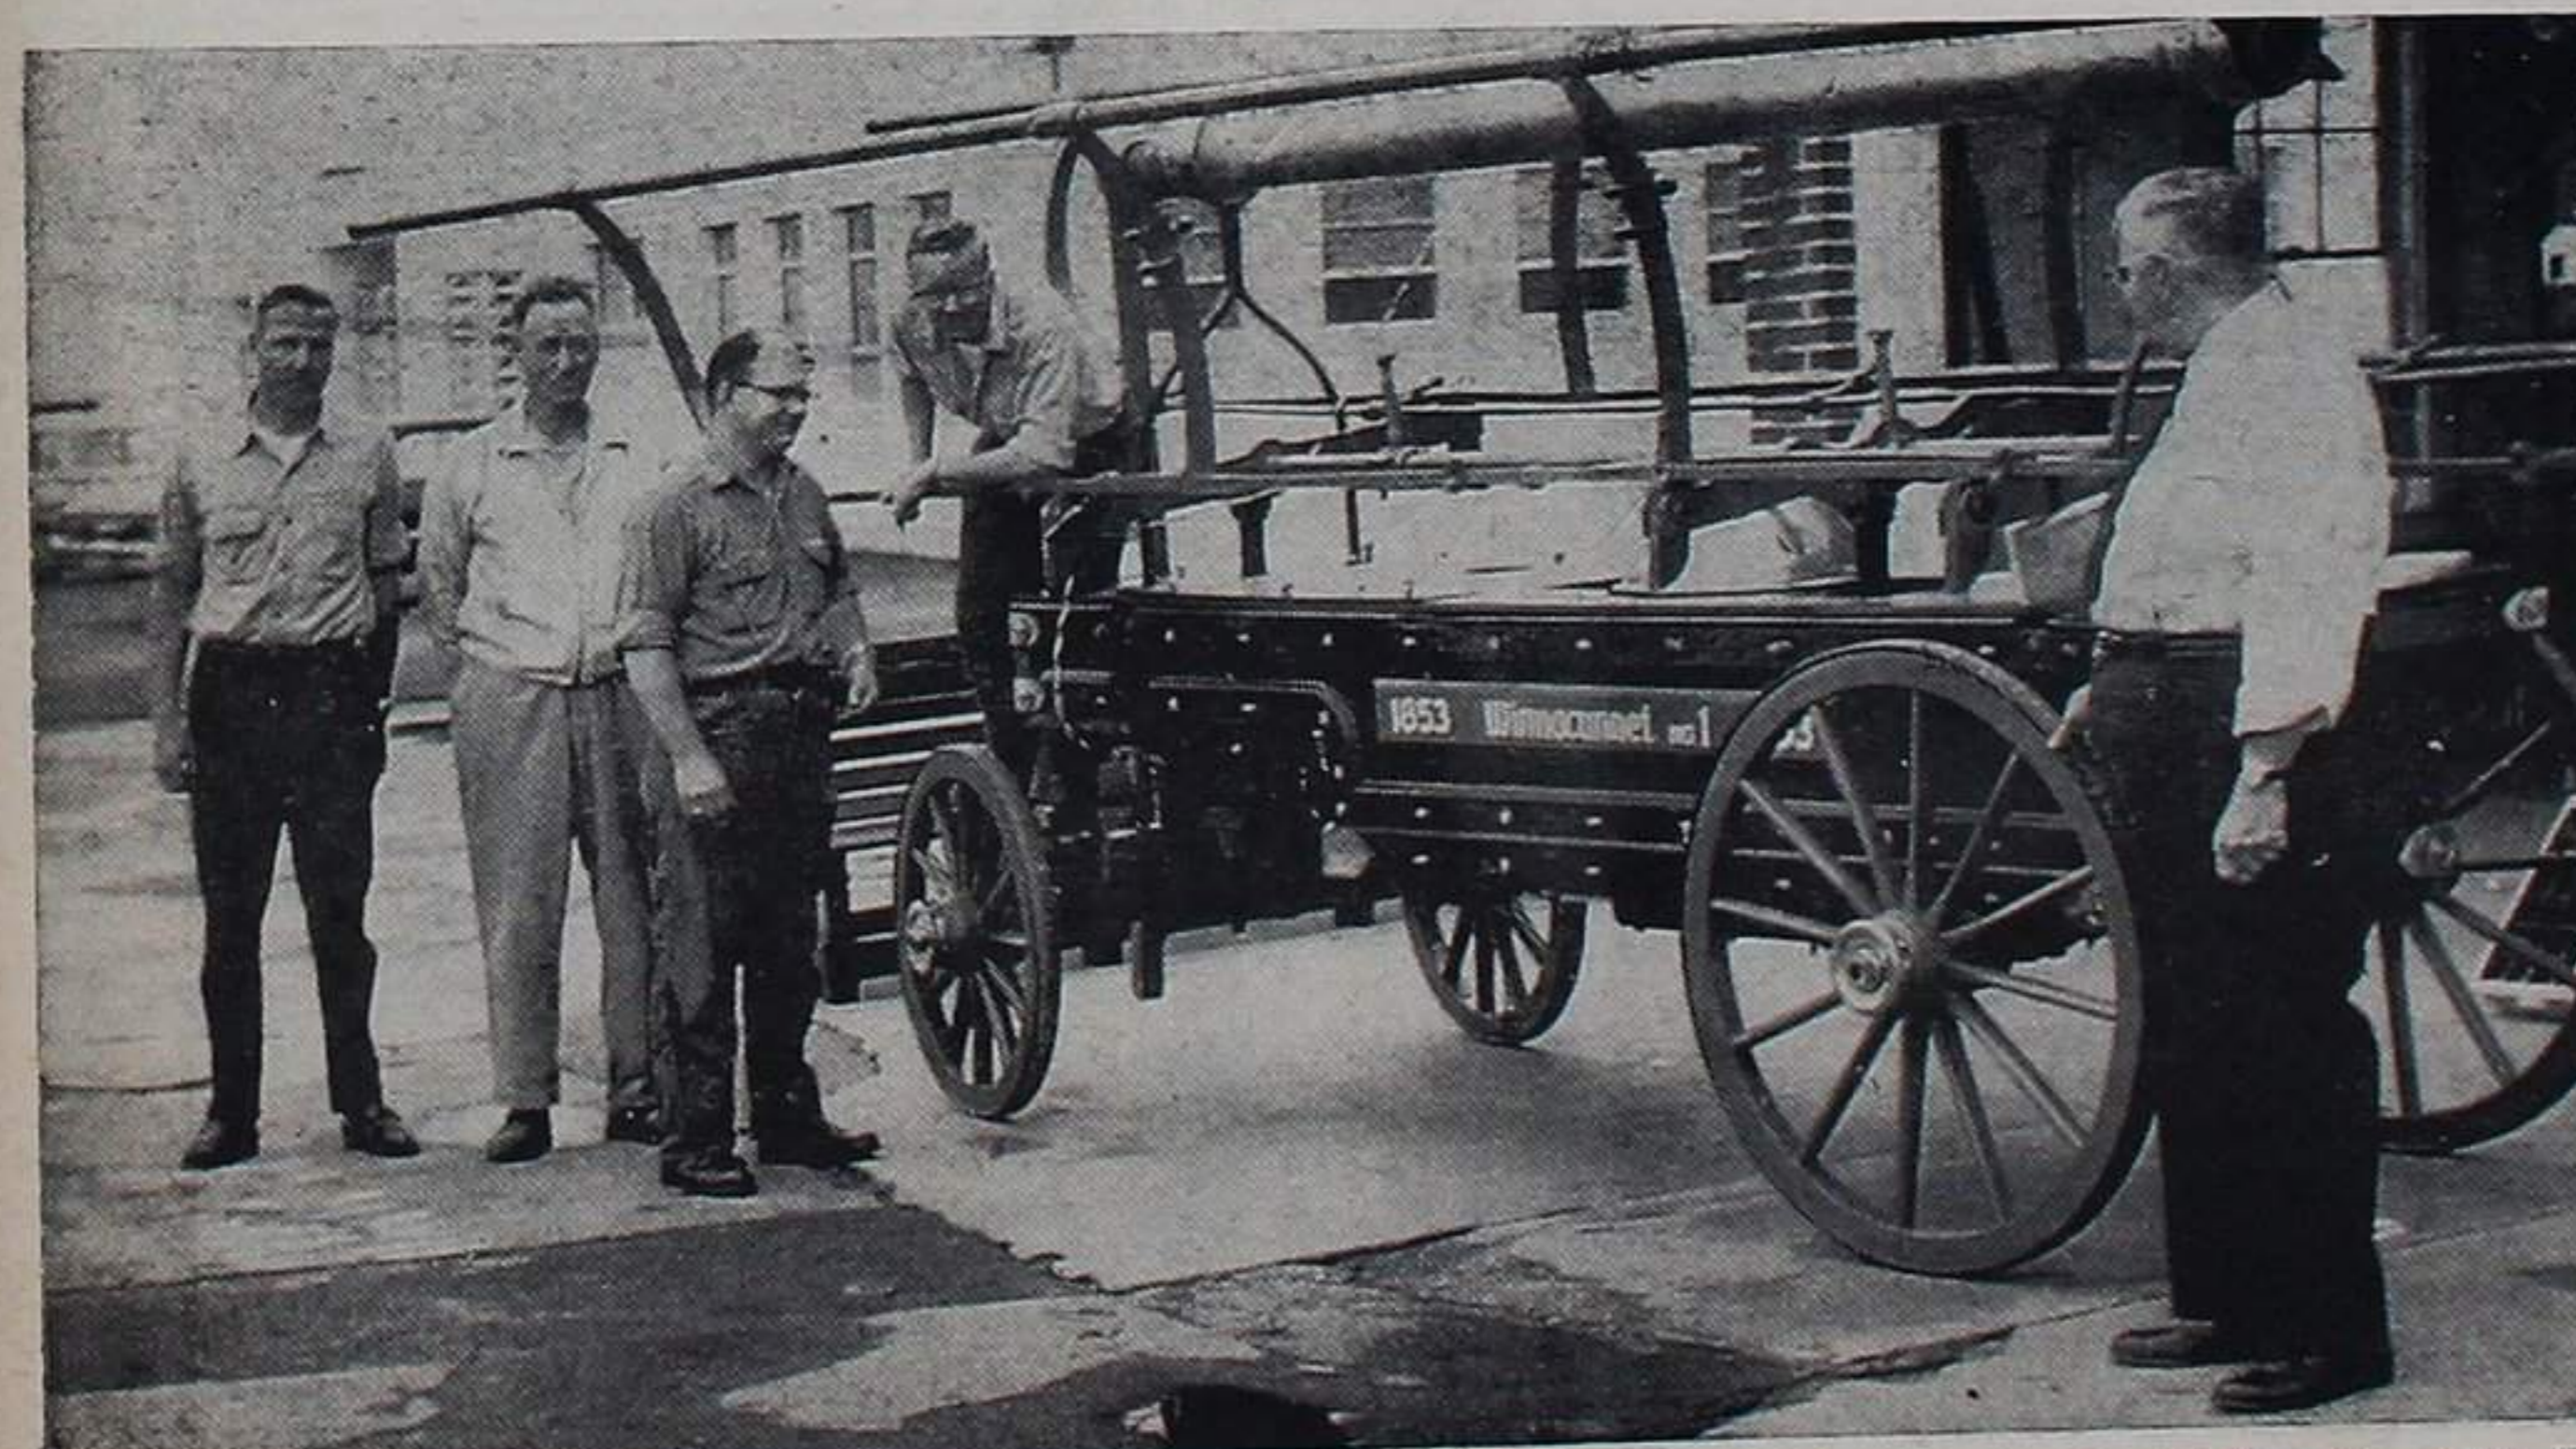

The original structure, a well designed pier with a wide walkway, was completed with a ramp and large floats. Several years ago, an early winter storm severely damaged the floats and the pier fell into a period of neglect. A commercial fishing operator became the primary user of the pier and performed some necessary maintenance in the intervening years. The Town officials discussed the abandonment of the pier on several occasions but the interest of the fishermen at the harbor kept the facility operating.

Since 1960, two things happened which focused attention on the pier; first was the rapid increase in pleasure boating activities all along the New Hampshire coast and the second was the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers program for the improvement of Hampton and Seabrook Harbors. The Corps of Engineers proposed a three quarter of a million dollar project which would widen the channels, construct jetties and provide anchorages in both harbors. Local participation was required along with that of the State of New Hampshire. Last July, Gov. John W. King signed into

Firemen Ready Hand Tub For Action

WINNACUNNET NO. 1, restored hand tub owned by Hampton Beach Firemen's Relief association, fought fires from New York to Maine. The relic, built in 1853, will compete in its first official muster competition on August 29 under its new name. Shown above are members of the crew, Charlie Burlington, Perry Tarleton, Lt. William Stickney and Howard Stickney as they disassemble remaining work to be completed on the pistons with Chief Perley George. All, with the exception of Mr. Tarleton, are members of the local fire department. Mr. Tarleton was the man who made it possible for the local fire fighters to own their own hand tub as he did most of the leg work in obtaining it.

On August 22, visitors to Hampton Beach who will be witnessing the annual parade will see a brightly restored piece of fire apparatus bearing the name Winnacunnet I. A few days later, this same piece of apparatus will be put into action in its first local competition as it takes part in the New England League Firemen's muster at Hampton Beach.

During the winter months the fire fighters of the Hampton Beach and the Hampton Fire department have been restoring an 1853 hand tub. Nearing completion on the restoration phase of the project, the hand tub will be given a trial run in the near future.

Many fire departments around the country pride themselves on their restored pieces of equipment similar to that of the local department. Each year, many hand tubs have come to Hampton Beach to participate in the annual August parades.

Over in neighboring Newbury, Mass., that department prides itself on a hand tub which holds many records. Up in Newmarket another famed tub is located.

The members of the local department are in hopes that

Many Local Girls Aspire For
"Miss Hampton Beach" Title

Local girls dominated the most recent applications from those persons who will be seeking the Miss Hampton Beach title in two weeks. Eight more registrants brought the total of girls now signed up to 14.

Heading the local girls who were all classmates at Winnacunnet High school during the past year is Frances Houlihan. Frances is presently the titleholder of Miss New England and will be endeavoring to join Sandie Kay as she attempts to hold both titles concurrently. Only Miss Kaye was able to do this. Francis will be a senior at Winnacunnet High school. She placed high in the Miss Hampton Beach contest last season and then returned to walk off with the Miss New England title. She resides in Seabrook.

She will be joined by Marcia Butler, recent Winnacunnet graduate. Marcia is not unfamiliar with beauty pageants as she recently placed second in the Miss Portsmouth pageant for the Miss America contest. She was edged by a Miss Hampton Beach contestant of last year, Karen Pimantal. Miss Butler resides at 72 Mill road, Hampton.

Sheila Teresa Scott, 16, 12 K street, another name not unfamiliar to local residents and beach goers, will be making her first attempt at the crown. Sheila copped the top honors in the Monday evening talent show competition last summer and went on to appear on television. She will be sponsored by Somerset Lodge.

Janice Palmer, a versatile dancer and member of the Winnacunnet High band drum majorettes staff, will also be making her first attempt at capturing the crown. Janice, 17, resides at 133 Winnacunnet road.

Rounding out the list of local entrants to date is Lynn DeBenedictus, Lafayette road, Hampton Falls. Lynn also recently graduated from Winnacunnet High school.

Others who registered with Mr. Henry Hamel, promotion director at the chamber office, are Sandra Lee Jamieson, 18, 36 Third street, Medford, Mass.; Patricia Smith, 18, of Greenfield, Mass.; Walda Sweeney, 19, of 21 Fourth avenue, Haverhill, Mass., and Joan Guziec, 1715 Carew street, Springfield, Mass.

This year's contest will be held Tuesday, July 21, at 8:30 p.m. from the Casino Ballroom.

law an Act introduced by Sen. Douglass Hunter which provided the State funds required.

The Corps of Engineers had earlier established a primary requirement for the program — there must be a public landing at each harbor. John Pierce Batchelder, Executive Director of the Seacoast Regional Development Association, during the summer of 1963, began a program for the rehabilitation of the public landing at Hampton. The Division of Parks and the Dept. of Resources and Economic Development, the agency which had jurisdiction of the Hampton pier, agreed to proceed with the reconstruction and the work was completed in the fall of 1963.

Batchelder then conferred with the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Seabrook who sponsored a special article at the Annual Town Meeting held in March, 1964. The Regional agency and Malcolm Chase, Special Projects Engineer of the N. H. Department of Public Works and Highways, began the development of cost estimates and a full report was given to the Seabrook Town Meeting. By unanimous vote, the Town appropriated the sum of $4,500.00 to the pier repair project.

Commissioner John Morton of the Highway Dept. agreed to lend additional technical assistance to the project and Tom White, Chief of the Bridge Division was assigned to confer with Chase, Batchelder and the Selectmen. By early May, the entire project began to take shape and the Seacoast Regional agency advertised for bids on the major portions of the construction program. The Board of Selectmen reviewed the bids and awards were given to the low bidders. A wide steel ramp, patterned after the ramp at the State Marina at Rye Harbor, was constructed by White's Welding shop at Hampton. Jerry's Marina at Eliot, experienced in pile driving at Seabrook, was given the contract for the driving of ten new pilings.

As the pile driving work progressed, the Town Public Works crew and some experienced carpenters were detailed to the pier project by the Selectmen. Batchelder and Bill Felch, Town Road Agent supervised the crew in the reconstruction of the old pier. The first thirty feet of wooden structure was removed and a gravel ramp was constructed on the shore end of the pier. The deep water end of the pier is being completely rebuilt by the Town crew and the new pilings installed around the perimeter of the old pier will form a tower which will provide support for the new ramp and the old pier as well.

Two new floats, specifically designed for the Seabrook Harbor project were constructed by the firm of Tedford and Martin of Ipswich, Mass., specialists in marine float construction. The flotation material, Dow Styrofoam, should require practically no maintenance. The floats and the supporting pilings were designed for the addition of extra floats as the future boat traffic may demand.

The reconstruction of the Seabrook Pier and the role of the Seacoast Region in the technical supervision of the project is a departure from the regional planning and recreational development work normally associated with the Region office and marks the third construction program undertaken by the Region during the past year. The repair program at the Hampton pier has been referred to and the Region also supervised the acquisition and construction of the Information Booth at the Hampton Toll Plaza on the N. H. Turnpike during the spring of '63. Batchelder stated today that the Seabrook program has been one of the most interesting; the thorough cooperation between the Town, the State Department of Public Works and Highways and the Region has been one of the best examples of getting things done by working together. The reconstruction project will be completed during the current week of July 6, 1964 and the Seacoast Regional Development office will forward a detailed report to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers concerning the reconstruction projects at both public landings at Hampton and Seabrook Harbors.

Isle of Shoals Prove Popular Attraction

Approximately 10 miles off the New Hampshire Coast line are located the Isles of Shoals. Each summer, hundreds of persons visit the shoals either by means of their own pleasure craft or by special daily boat rides.

On August 2, the Isles of Shoals will commemorate the 350th anniversary of their discovery by Capt. John Smith. The ceremony will take place at the Smith monument on Star Island, a Unitarian-Universalist and Congregational conference site.

Cooperating groups will be the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America in the State of New Hampshire, the New Hampshire Historical Society, the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of N. H., the Isles of Shoals Congregational Corporation, the Isles of Shoals Unitarian Association, and the Star Island Corporation.

The main address will be given by Mr. Daniel Griffin, director of the New Hampshire Historical Society. Mr. Philip Marston, Governor of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Hampshire will dedicate the monument that organization rebuilt 50 years ago.

The public is invited to attend the celebration. The excursion boat "Viking" will leave the Ceres St. dock in Portsmouth at 11 a.m. and return to Portsmouth at 5:05 p.m. Boat passage must be secured prior to July 29. DICK COLLINS

Nice to see you again this week.

Your reporter made a visit to the Hampton Playhouse recently and he was given a tour of the new look. We talked with Pete Baily who holds down the job as Public Relations man at the Playhouse. Pete tells us that it is a 14 hour day at the Playhouse every day with hardly time to relax at all.

This coming week, another play takes the stage with the production "Sailor Beware!" being held. The play tells the story of a plump, thunderous voiced provincial mother bent on the blocking of her daughter's marriage. Should be great. Hope to see you there.

On the local dance scene, Mr. Lester Lanin comes to the Casino Ballroom Saturday night. The band still has a "beat" that is difficult to "beat". Meanwhile, Jack Dineen's College Mixers will be getting a great deal of local attention.

At the Seagate Ballroom, things are in full swing with five rock and roll bands on hand to keep all in a happy and gay mood. A fun packed evening is the menu for any night at the Seagate Ballroom.

Very often local DJ's from WTSN will be providing the dancing sounds. Hope to see you there.

A grand "hello" to Mr. Henry Hamel back at the local chamber of commerce for his 12th season. A great guy.

You can be sure that over the bridge in Salisbury, the Frolics with their new shows seems to be becoming very popular. These shows should catch on with the vacationists.

A spot that one visiting the beach can not afford to miss is the new Troll Bridge restaurant. Very reasonable for a low budget vacation.

Checking the "CIA" file we find that Jim at Fallon's drug store digs "party girls." Tom at the Casino clam store wants a "Rag Doll." Ann L. at the Casino restaurant "Please Tell Me Why?" Greg at Jack's has "Beans In His Ears", and finally my roommate Dennie "Lazy Bones."

And remember to... swing. RLC

Police Use Radar

Hampton police expect to put new radar equipment to use in the near future. The equipment will be used specifically to check cars for speeding on the Hampton roads.

Hampton voters approved purchase of a unit at the March town meeting. The cost of the equipment is approximately $890.

The equipment will be used on all Hampton streets and more particularly on those which have been trouble with speeding cars in the past.

The unit is designed to fit any police vehicle or town owned truck. It can be mounted to the side of the vehicle doors and has a range of approximately 600 yards.

The equipment cannot be put to use until a license is received from the FCC. Town Manager Kenneth Boehner said he expects to receive the license in the near future.

At the same time, Mr. Boehner pointed out that unless the selectmen approve erection of special signs in the future notifying persons approaching Hampton streets that radar is in use, none will be posted. There are no present plans for posting of such signs. Mr. Boehner said he feels the normal speed limit signs as already posted are sufficient notice to the motorist.

Inquiries Reach Record High

Inquiries from vacationists planning a stay in the Seacoast Region of New Hampshire reached an all time high during the month of June. John Pierce Batchelder, Executive Director of the Seacoast Region agency announced today that inquiries reaching the Portsmouth office were a phenomenal 150% ahead of June of last year. The tourist inquiry program at the region, which is coordinated with the State of New Hampshire promotion program, has been running more than twenty per cent ahead of last year during the months of March, April and May.

Batchelder said that the impact of the New York World's Fair is quite apparent since many of the inquiries are coming from tourists from the mid-west and far west who are planning a New England tour in conjunction with a visit to the Fair. The Regional promotion program which is closely coordinated with the State Vacation Planning Kit also utilizes many other pieces of State literature, advertisements in national periodicals and is operated through the out-of-state travel offices maintained by the State and the New England Council in Boston, Cleveland, Montreal and New York City. The increase in the number of inquiries has been so great that the Region has had to obtain the part-time services of high school students to handle the added volume of mailings this year. The Seacoast Guide, the annual publication of the Regional Association is being distributed at the New York World's Fair as well as the New Hampshire Accommodations Listing which is published by the Seacoast and the other five regions of the State of New Hampshire.

Dunfey Store Robbed At Fair

Police are seeking thieves who broke into the Dunfey family's Country Store at the New England Exhibition at the New York World's Fair. The thieves entered the building on Sunday, getting away with $700 from a cash box.

Playhouse Review

The Hampton Playhouse is marking time between two musicals — the opening "Irma La Douce" and the much anticipated, "My Fair Lady", for next week — with an amusing comedy of domestic relations, "Sailor Beware".

The clever script of "Sailor Beware" concerns the arrival of an orphaned sailor to marry the daughter of a household dominated by an overbearing and possessive female who does all the thinking for the family and blasts out her thoughts in thunderous orders. As the wedding hour approaches, the bewildered sailor has more and more doubt about the wisdom of his marriage — and thereby hangs the tail, and tale.

Unfortunately, Lucy Landau, in the starring role of Emma Hornett struggled with opening night jitters, forgetting lines, failing to come up with cues and on several occasions losing her composure completely breaking into laughter on what was supposed to be a seriously delivered tirade.

Since she dominated the dialogue throughout the play, the timing was way off beat producing a dissonance comparable to the first violinist in the Boston Symphony playing along in a different key and time from the rest of the orchestra. Miss Landau was just having one of those nights that could not be rescued by the hardworking supporting players because so much of the humor evolved out of Miss Landau's performance.

WINNACUNNET HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR, Janice Palmer, Hampton, was the first local contestant to register for the Miss Hampton Beach contest. Janice is a versatile dancer, gymnast and is a drum majorette for the local school band.

Louis Beachner — who, also, directed "Sailor Beware" — was outstanding as the henpecked husband. This accomplished actor-director — whose Marchbanks and Hamlet are still fresh in my memory even though nearly twenty years have elapsed — had full understanding and mastery of a difficult characterization.

The frustrated Aunt Edie, whose continuous recall of her "great sorrow" sparked much of the humor in "Sailor Beware", got a convincing bit of acting out of Katherine Helmond while comedienne Betty Bright added to the laughter as the next door neighbor.

The young roles — Kathy Brown, as the bride, and Phil Clark, as the bridegroom, were strongly played. James Whittle deserves special commendation as the best-man and so does Barrie O'Brien, as the bride's maid. Both of these young actors gave colorful and exciting performances. Trent Knepper, a veteran thespian, completed the cast as the minister.

Steven Nihda's stage setting was bursting with color and atmosphere and captured realistically the domestic surroundings in which the script was set. It looks as if the Hampton Playhouse has another winning set-designer in Nihda.

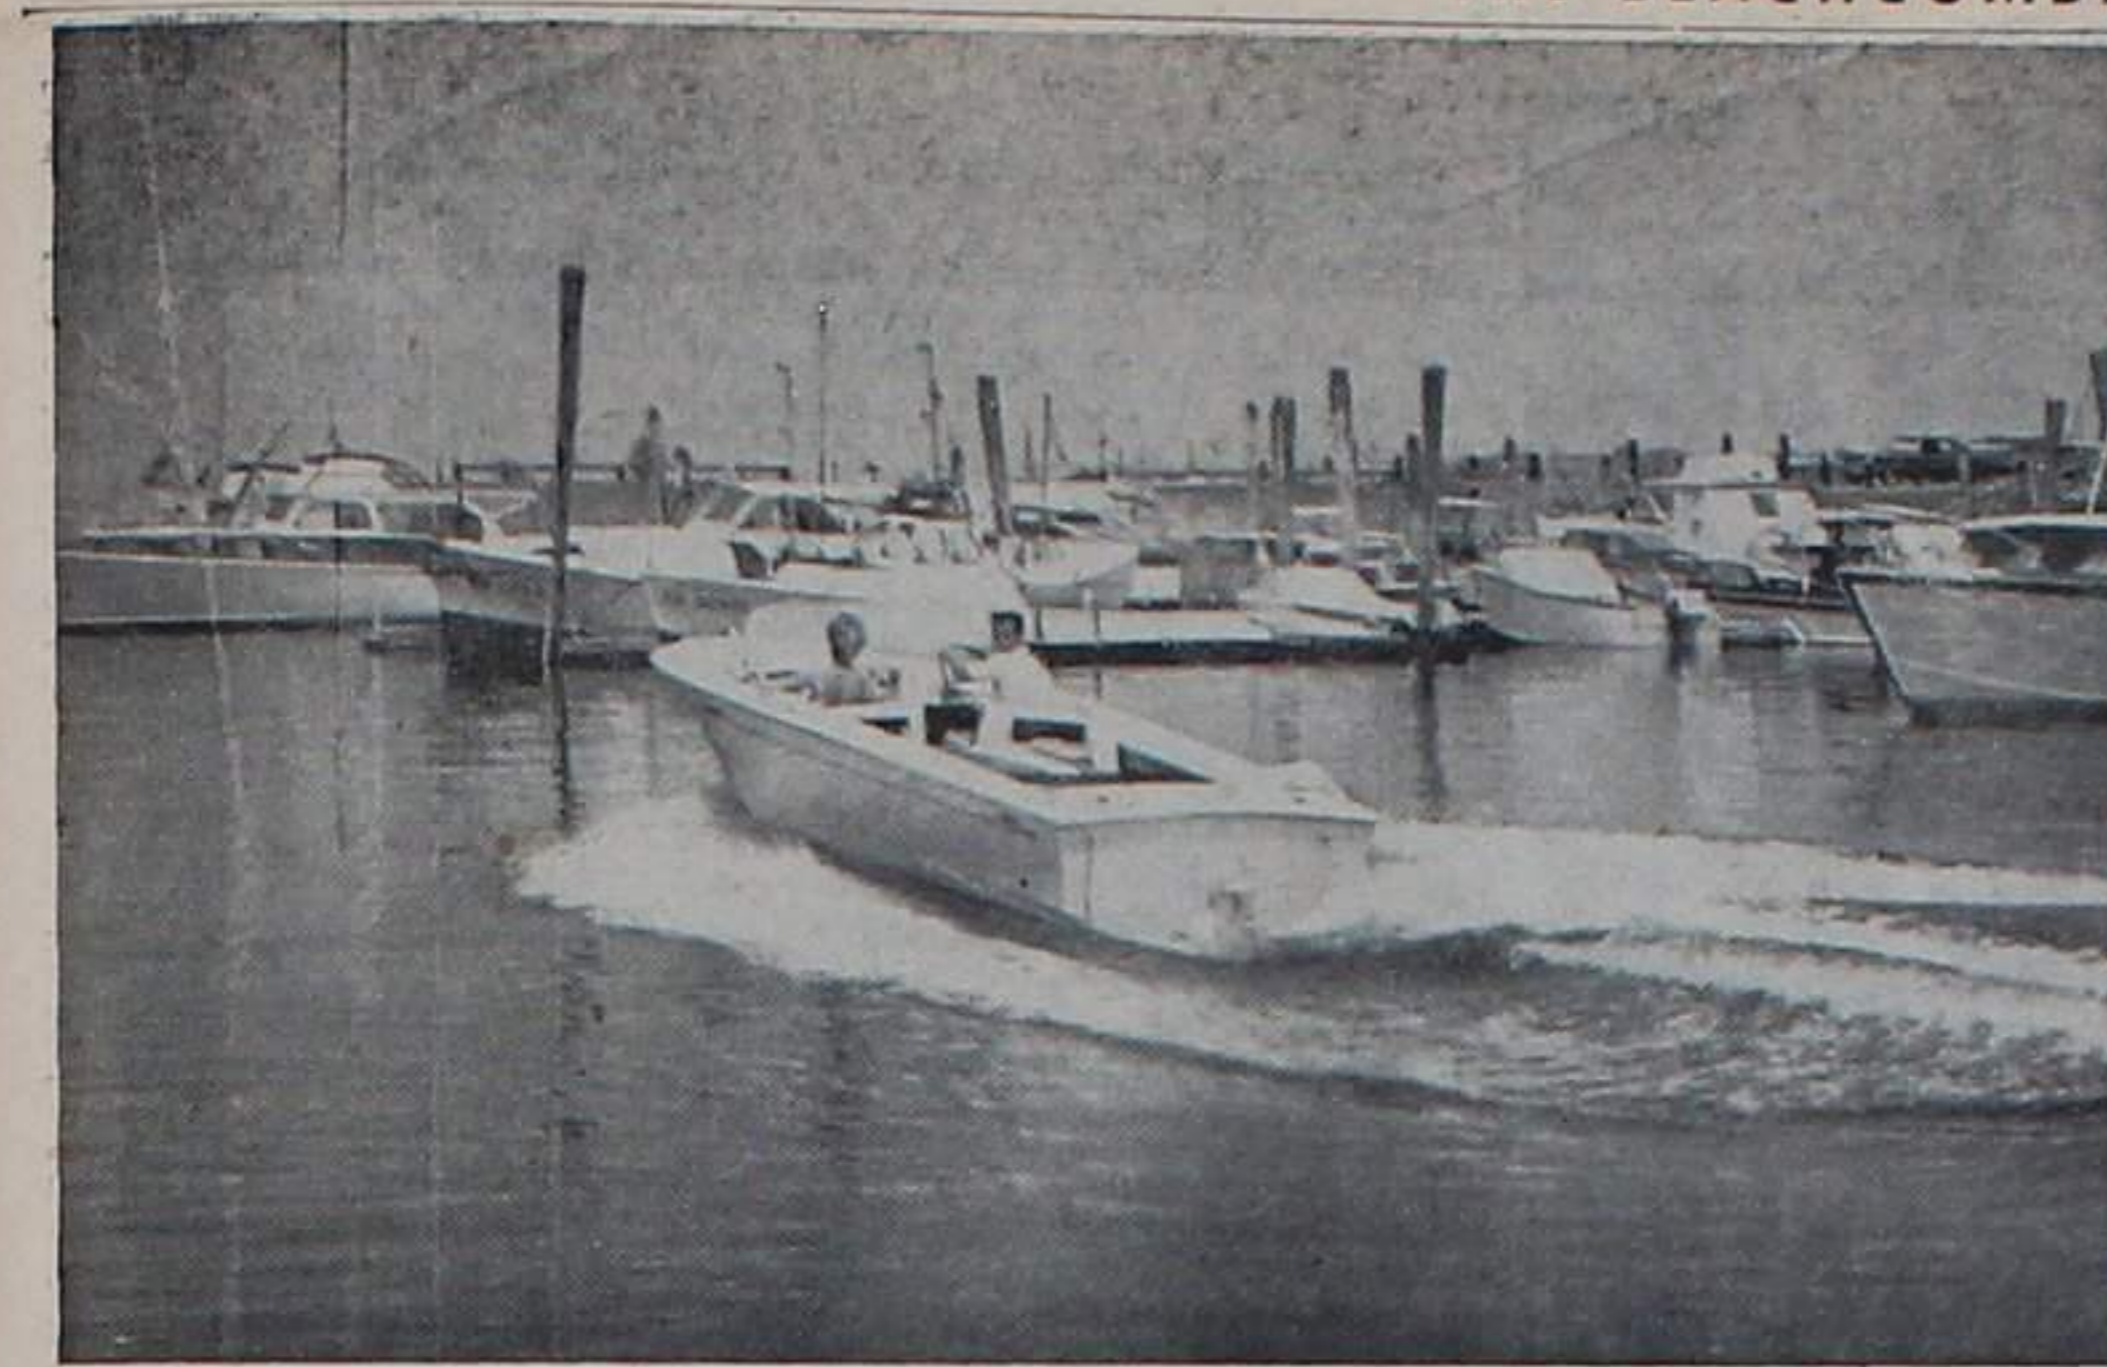

"Sailor Beware" is really a funny comedy and by the time this review appears, Miss Landau could be in better command of her role so that the full quality of a good comedy can be projected into the audience.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Jeannette M. Hopkins, 10 Fales street, Worcester, Mass. to Mr. Thomas Jolly of 248 Clover street, Worcester, Mass. was announced this week.

The occasion came during the height of the Hampton Beach Casino ballroom activities and the 4th of July celebration. Special selections were played for the couple by Ted Herbert at the ballroom.

NEWEST AMUSEMENT AND FORM OF RECREATION at Hampton Beach is the speed boat ride. Operator Barry Spratt is pictured above with Sharon Timanus, Oklahoma City, a nominee for the Miss Hampton Beach title. General John S. O'Brien, director of Vacation Travel department for the New England Council, addressed an audience of 50 persons at the annual mid-year meeting of the Seacoast Regional Development association held Tuesday, June 30, at Lamie's Tavern.

Mr. O'Brien traced the development of close liaison between the Seacoast Region office and the New England Council and made particular reference to the New England offices maintained in Cleveland, Ohio, and at Rockefeller Plaza in New York. These offices, created for the purpose of developing increased tourist business for the New England Region service countless thousands of vacation inquiries relating to the recreation industry of the New Hampshire Region. They are also prime distribution points for Seacoast Region literature. A new development, the Salt Water Fishing Reports, are based on information dispatched from the Portsmouth office of the Region to the Boston, Montreal, Cleveland and New York offices under a program initiated by Mr. O'Brien.

The possibility of the Winter Olympics in 1976, a New England Council project, was discussed by O'Brien who pointed out the tremendous economic impact that such a venture would have on the entire New England economy.

During the second part of the business session, David Hoeh, Administrative Assistant to Mary Louise Hancock of the Special Planning Project, reported on the role of the new Planning Agency in the development of plans for Great Bay. Hoeh stated that a complete analysis of the public access points to Great Bay had been completed. This tabulated information will be made available to the Seacoast Regional Planning program for their use in preparing more comprehensive planning studies of the area. Mr. Hoeh stated that the State Planning project, charged with the responsibility for the development of plans for the recreation industry in the entire state, could not develop the type of comprehensive planning necessary for the overall development of a complex area such as Great Bay.

Seacoast Region President Ralph Harris convened the business session following a dinner held for the Officers and Directors of the Association. The Executive Director of the Region, John Pierce Batchelder, gave a mid-year report which discussed several important programs including the publication of The Seacoast Guide, the Seabrook Harbor construction project which is being supervised by the Region, the Vacation Inquiry program, the annual audit, the membership roster, and the Seacoast Regional Planning project.

During the discussion period which followed the address by Mr. Hoeh, the Executive Director of the Region proposed that the Region request the State Special Planning Project to develop an outline of a comprehensive plan for Great Bay and prepare an estimate of the planning project cost. The data could then be referred to the Seacoast Regional Planning Committee for further action.

Mad, Mad Romp, Sailor Beware At Playhouse

Marriage is, most people would admit, a noble and happy institution, the source of much that is happy and good in life, but trying to attain this state of nuptial bliss is something else again. In "Sailor Beware", the present attraction at the Hampton Playhouse, a daughter is about to marry a sailor, but she has bargained without Ma — a plump and thunderous voiced virago who divides her time between hectoring her mouse-like husband, brow-beating the entire household, and glaring distastefully at her daughter's bridegroom with eyes as cold as a cod of the fishmonger's slab. "You can't reason with men, you've got to train them," is her philosophy and it is considerable understatement to say that she practices that which she preaches. She manages to drive the sailor away, but he returns home to win daughter and Mom on his own terms, as the play builds to a comic and tearful climax, ringing true to the end and sending audiences home in a Christmas glow of good will to all men.

Lucy Landau, an all-time popular favorite at the Hampton Playhouse, returned to handle the long and uproarious role of the mother, and let it be issued now as a warning that she will work your funny bone as it has never been worked before.

In 1957, Lucy Landau appeared on the television quiz show, "Name That Tune", and won $25,000. Since that time, her beginning in show business, she has worked continually on television, in the movies, and on the Broadway stage. In the movies, she has appeared with Doris Day and James Garner in, "The Thrill of It All," and with Rock Hudson and Gina Lollobrigida, in the soon to be released, "Strange Bedfellows". On Broadway, she appeared with Bette Davis in Tennessee Williams', "Night of The Iguana," and with Kim Stanley and Horst Bucholz, in "Cheri." Hampton audiences will remember her particularly for her show-stopping song and dance routine in, "The Boy-Friend." Miss Landau wishes it to be known, that after serving for two years as a gunner in World War II, she is well prepared for her booming role in, "Sailor Beware", certainly one of the rowdiest and most touching stage farces of all time.

The show began July 6th, and will continue nightly for six days.

Popular Talent Show Attracts Top Performers

Two top-notch performers walked off with the first place honors in the Junior and Senior Divisions of the first weekly talent program held at the Sea Shell Monday evening.

Versatile Christine Dudek, 15, 36 Crest street, Ludlow, Mass. sang, danced and played the piano as she won the hearts of the audience with her performance. She started her act by playing the piano. She followed up this part of the routine by singing and then completed the performance with a tap and ballet-toe dance.

Right behind her in the judging which was done by audience applause were the Rippers, an instrumental quartet from Exeter. They played a rock and roll number, "Surf Jam" and also received a tremendous hand from the audience. Both received trophies presented by Production Manager Henry Hamel.

Miss Peggy LeBlanc, 11, walked away with the first place honors in the Junior division with a sophisticated tap dance at "Nagasaki". Peggy Bennington, 9, Lafayette St., Bennington, Vermont, but she is staying at the Colony Cabins for a week.

Returning to the stage this year was 9-year-old John Slattery, 17 Curwin circle, Lynn, Mass. He took second place honors by singing "If You Knew Suzie".

Seven year old Jean Prizio, 57 Perry avenue, Worcester, Mass. copped third place with a hula dance to "Hawaiian War Chant". She gained the third place prize in a run off after a three way tie resulted for third place honors.

Others competing were Delia Donahue and Gail Pierson, 11½ and 8½, from Woburn, Mass. and Medford, Mass. They sang "If I Had A Hammer".

Patricia Sullivan, 8, 63 Best-tick street, Braintree, Mass. did an acrobatic twist to a medley of songs.

Master of Ceremonies was "Bill" Elliot.

NHSS Boards Begin Physicals For Men Of 18

New Hampshire Selective Service Local Boards will begin in July to order 18-year-old registrants for complete examination by the Armed Forces, Oscar N. Grandmaison, State Director of Selective Service said today.

Mr. Grandmaison emphasized that the examination of 18-year-olds does not mean that they face induction in the immediate future.

The examination of 18-year-olds who are out of school and not deferred for other reasons initiates a program announced by President Johnson on January 5, 1964. The President directed the Secretary of Defense and the Director of Selective Service to begin the early examination of 18-year-old registrants after a presidential task force study determined that large numbers of young men being found disqualified for military service were interested in obtaining educational, vocational, and medical rehabilitation.

In announcing the plan to examine 18-year-olds, the President pointed out that early examination will enable those who are qualified for military service to plan intelligently their future careers in this respect. It will enable those found unqualified to get to work promptly on the education, training, or health services which can be of benefit to them.

The President also noted that "... early examination will not mean early induction. There will be no change in the present practice of calling older registrants for actual induction into the Armed Forces before younger ones are called."

At the present time, men are being reached for induction between 21½ and 22, as a national average. In New Hampshire the average age of involuntary induction is about 21 years 6 months, Mr. Grandmaison said.

Association, and the League of the Sacred Heart of St. Jean Baptist Church.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Victorine (Plante) Roy; six sons, Euclide Roy, Lawrence, Mass., Roger Roy and Raymond Roy, both of Manchester, Bertrand Roy of Hampton Beach, Lionel Roy and Andrew Roy, both of Manchester; three daughters, Mrs. Raymond (Lillian) Gosse-lin of Manchester, Mrs. Andrew (Therese) Pepin of Bedford, and Mrs. Kenneth (Estelle) Ryder of Cleveland, Ohio; 28 grandchildren; a brother, Hector Roy of Manchester; 2 sisters, Mrs. Henri Lerouillier and Mrs. Olive Rene both of Ham Nord, and several nephews and nieces.

Mr. Roy attended St. Jean Baptist Church where a solemn high Mass of requiem was celebrated Wednesday morning at 10. Burial was in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

UNH Music School

From August 9 through 23rd the University of New Hampshire will again play host to the Summer Youth Music School, largest of its kind on the Eastern seaboard.

Students of high school age will be admitted to the school upon the recommendation of local school directors or group leaders. The students will work with teachers of "superior calibre" and will have the opportunity to associate with music-minded young people from many sections of the country.

Highway Traffic, Recreation Activity Study Begins in N.H.

Governor John W. King, announced the beginning of a study relating highway traffic counts and the intensity of recreation activity at selected locations in New Hampshire.

In announcing the study, Gov. King said, "The State Planning Project in cooperation with the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station has undertaken a unique approach toward the evaluation of recreational activity. If the study is successful, a relationship will be evident between the number of travellers on New Hampshire's highways and number of people engaged in selected outdoor recreation activities. If the relationship exists it will be possible to plan the development of outdoor recreation facilities to meet the demand as indicated from simple highway traffic counts."

"The study will be during three periods this summer," said State Planning Project Director, Mary Louise Hancock. "The first period beginning July 1 will end on July 8th. The two subsequent will be August 21 to 26 and September 3 to 8. This will insure coverage of all possible time, weather, and seasonal factors."

"With the cooperation of the Department of Public Works and Highways," she continued, "traffic counters have been located at selected spots around the State. Readings will be made during the study period and related to the field observations being recorded by ten State Planning Project field-workers. In addition to the field observations, the cooperation of selected paid amusement and lodging place operators has been assured. Each will report the size of their business on the study days."

"The State has been divided into ten study regions for the purpose of personnel assignments," continued Miss Hancock. "The data gathered, however, will conform to the six existing recreation regions. The activities to be inventoried are the summer use of ski lifts, fresh water swimming, sight-seeing and driving for pleasure, hiking, golfing, and private camping."

As reported in the work plan, it is expected that the study will produce improved ways of estimating recreation use, of establishing the effect of weather locally and distant upon those seeking recreation, and it will define the consequences of holidays, weekends, and periods of the day upon she concluded. The State Planning Project, initiated in May, 1963, by Gov. King, is undertaking studies leading to the preparation of a comprehensive statewide resource preservation and development plan. The Project is financed in part by funds taken from the $9 million State Park Improvement Bond Issue and supplemented by funds and services contributed from other State agencies. The State contribution is matched by a grant from the Housing and Home Finance Agency under the Urban Planning Assistance Program. The Project expects to complete its work in May, '65.

A mail return questionnaire will be used to gather information on outdoor recreation activities other than fresh water swimming. The questionnaires will be placed in holders at locations frequented by the hiker, golfer, or camper. If necessary, the mail return questionnaire will be supplemented by field interview in order to provide complete data.

"It is fortunate for the State Planning Project and the State of New Hampshire that the Forest Service is engaged in this research at this time," said Miss Hancock. "Their experience and previous research provide us with the opportunity to accomplish a pioneering step in recreation supply and demand research. We anticipate that the conclusion of this study will provide some of the most interesting surprises of the State Planning Project."

This week the popular dining spot in Seabrook, opened a spacious new cocktail room, "Old Kettle Lounge." The lounge will be open to the public from 5 p.m. to mid-night every day of the week with nightly entertainment provided by classic guitarist, Tom Berger and organist Bill Morong. The music ranges from classical to swing for dancing or simply for the listener's enjoyment.

This is a completely new facility at the Kettle, but it uses the plank room for the air-conditioned cocktail lounge space. Contemporary paintings by well known artists of the seacoast region will be featured on the walls during the summer, both in the lounge and in the restaurant itself. Present exhibits include the works of well known Maine artist, Joyce Price Manser, as well as a selection of water color landscapes of shoreline scenes from the studio of Marion Fulton.

Another innovation was announced this week when for the first time since its construction the Kettle's Olympic size pool will provide swimming instruction for area children at a nominal fee. Mr. Frank Spring of Dartmouth College will conduct individual lessons during each weekday by appointment.

Jet Speedboat Is Big Attraction At Hampton Beach

A new attraction for the beach this year is the Turbo-craft Speedboat rides at Hampton Beach Marina, near the Seabrook bridge. The boat is a new, sleek 18 footer with a Ford V-8 Interceptor engine that purrs smoother than an outboard.

The interior of the jet boat is large and comfortable, and not a drop of the great spray comes over its high gunwales. This type of boat, because it has no underwater propeller, has gained acclaim for its rapid acceleration, its ability to change direction in a flash, and the feature of being able to go through only a few inches of shallow water at high speed.

When you get about a few hundred yards from the sweltering beach, you can feel a welcome ten degree drop in temperature, aided by a cool sea breeze. So any time you want to get a cool, fast ride on the ocean stop down to the Marina by the Smith and Gilmore pier.

Hand Tub —

their tub will eventually fall into the category of famous old time fire equipment.

Actually the local departmental members have been looking for sometime for such a piece of equipment. Credit for the actual obtaining of the apparatus must go to Mr. Perry Tarleton, 10 Riverview terrace at the beach.

The history of the present tub which is receiving the finishing touches of work is rich and interesting. The hand tub was built in 1853 for the city of Elmira, New York. Its original name was "Germania".

The hand tub was later sold to the Manchester, N. H., Fire department and became known as "Germania 2." Changing hands rapidly it was still later sold to the Everett, Mass., department and continued to bear the same name.

Coming a little nearer to being owned by the local department, the equipment was sold to Chelsea, Mass., with the name being changed to Winnisimett, Bath, Maine, was next in line with the name changed again to Shadock No. 2. The name it bore when received by the local department.

A veteran's firemen's company in Georgetown, Mass., became the ensuing owner. This unit eventually disbanded and the hand tub was left out of doors for many years. Through the effort of Mr. Perry Tarleton, the tub then became the property of the local department.

Restoring the equipment has not been an easy task as the apparatus was in a bad state of repair. But the local firemen doing most of the work themselves have polished the brass work, repaired the broken parts and were this week completing work on the ever important pistons. Some time in the next couple of weeks the fire fighters will give the tub a work out. She holds a pretty fair "shooting" mark with the hose of 245 feet 7 1/2 inches. They have their sights set on capturing the top prize in the August 29 muster.

During the past several months, the Hampton Beach firemen have spent untold hours in rebuilding the hand tub in addition to spending funds needed to replace parts.

The Hampton Beach Firemen's Relief association joined the New England State's Veterans Firemen's League in May of 1964. The new name of the tub is given in honor of the Hamptons.

The foreman of the hand tub is Perry Tarleton. Mr. Tarleton is a former deputy fire chief and has had experience at handtub musters. Assistant foreman is Charles Burlington of the Hampton Beach Fire department. The head pipeman will be Howard Stickney and the foreman of the hose patrol will be Lt. William Stickney. Both of the latter are with the Hampton Beach department.

In 1917 the hand tub won the league muster at Boston with a play of 284 feet, 4 3/4 inches.

Vi's Antiques Has New Flair

Vi and "Flip" DeFillippo have done what many would like to do. They're in the antique business — but with a flair!

That's why "The Ten Penny" — every visitor gets an antique ten penny nail as a souvenir of the visit.

"Flip" and Vi's interest in New Hampshire and old barns led to the beginning of the idea — and finally to the shop and its name. As specialists in old barns, they have collected a wide variety of hinges, hardware, barn equipment, and a priceless collection of hand-made nails, becoming rarer and rarer as days go by.

Vi's "Ten Penny" doesn't stop at iron, however, for a visit to the charming barn, stable shop, and downstairs showroom is a treat for any collector of glass, fine furniture, and primitives.

Located on Exeter road 101D in North Hampton, the "Ten Penny" is easily found: it's at the biggest red barn between North Hampton and the Exeter-Hampton Expressway — and well worth a "ten penny" trip.

17th Annual Beauty Pageant Set For Tuesday At Beach

Close to 40 girls from several sections of the United States are expected to take part in the 17th Annual Miss Hampton Beach Beauty Pageant. This years contest has attracted girls from as far away as Oklahoma and California and yet is interspersed with more local area girls than ever before participated.

For three consecutive years, the home state of New Hampshire has dominated the local scene. Last year statuette Beverly Hebert of Manchester took top honors. A year earlier the first Hampton girl to cop the title in many years, Jonnye McLeod, and a year earlier Sandie Kaye of Plaistow walked off with the honors. All three girls have or will be officially representing the Granite State in the Miss Universe contest at Miami Beach, Fla.

This year's contest will present another bit of excitement for another lass. A local girl, Miss Francis Houlihan of Seabrook, present title holder of Miss New England, will be seeking to make history. Only one other girl, Sandie Kaye, has held the titles of Miss New England and Miss Hampton Beach simultaneously. A Winnacunnet High school senior, Francis will be endeavoring to duplicate this feat. Over the years the BEACH-PAGEANT

Bunnies Find Home

Everything happens at Hampton Beach. One family, the Francis Jacques', are beginning to think so.

The owners of the Sand Motel and the Springfield Hotel, the Jacques, approximately two weeks ago, became the "guardians" of new born rabbits.

Late one evening, Mr. Frank Morrisette, manager of the Sand Motel, observed a rabbit in an area in the front yard of the motel. Upon an ensuing investigation, he found five newly born baby rabbits. For a couple of evenings the mother rabbit returned to feed her young as Mr. Morrisette endeavored to protect the new family.

Suddenly the babies were orphaned when their mother was killed while attempting to cross busy Ashworth avenue.

It was then that the Jacques children, Reggie and Lorraine, stepped in to take over. Making use of a doll's baby bottle, the children managed to feed the hungry babies after they were transferred to the Springfield at 89 Ocean boulevard. After 10 days, four of the rabbits were progressing rapidly and had advanced to the eating stage. One rabbit died.

In addition to continued feedings from the baby bottle, the rabbits were fed rabbit food, water and lettuce.

All the rabbits were identical in color. All were brown and black with a white spot on the forehead.

The new family was attracting quite a bit of attention among the visitors to the Springfield and neighborhood. Mr. Jacques said there has been no decision as to what will be done with the rabbits once big enough to be on their own.

LIFE SAVING DEEDS, not quite like those performed by the Hampton Beach Life Guards, nevertheless life saving, made Lorraine and Reggie Jacques heroes recently. The 2 youngsters took in five baby rabbits born in the front yard of a beach motel after they were orphaned. They are shown above feeding the four surviving rabbits. Lorraine is making use of a dolls baby bottle and Reggie with lettuce which the rabbits had just started to eat.
