Dianne Theresa Higson Is Miss New England

Amid an emotion and surprise filled evening of entertainment, Miss Dianne Theresa Higson, Lowell, Mass. was adjudged the new Miss New England 1964-65 at the Casino Ballroom Tuesday evening in the eighth annual contest.

Second place honors went to Nancy Joan Brackett, Brighton, Mass. while Patricia Curtin of Lawrence, gained the third place honors.

Following an emotion choked farewell talk, Miss Frances Houlihan, Seabrook, N.H. crowned the new Miss New England following her own year of reign in the top spot. For Miss Higson, the adage of "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again" was borne out. The 5 ft. 5 in., 19 year old beauty reached the top 15 girls in both the 1963 Miss New England contest and the 1963 Miss Hampton Beach contest. This year, in a close contest, she went all the way to become the new queen of New England.

Dianne was sponsored by the Hampton Beach Life Guards. She sported a 35-21-35, 112lb. figure. She resides at 90 Andrews Street in Lowell, Mass.

The adage almost also proved true for Nancy Joan Brackett, also 19, who returned to the stage of the ballroom to cop second place honors for the second time. Miss Brackett placed second to Miss Louise Richardson in the 1962 contest and was the third runner-up (fourth place) in the 1963 Miss Hampton Beach contest. Nancy's vital statistics are 5 feet 5 inches tall, 36-25-35 and 120-lbs. Nancy was sponsored by Harris Real Estate.

Pat Curtin, third place winner, was also back for another try. Miss Curtin advanced to the top ten girls in the recent Miss Hampton Beach contest. Sponsored by the Ocean House, Miss Curtin is 18, is 5 feet 6 inches tall and her measurements are 36-25-38 and 132-lbs.

The third runner-up and fourth place winner was Catherine Bisnette, 17, Worcester, Mass. She was sponsored by the Carousel. Fourth runner-up and fifth place winner was Candy McQuaid, 19, Nashua.

A total of 33 of an originally registered 39 girls participated in the pageant. This tied the 1962 pageant for the most girls taking part. Massachusettes took the

First Hampton Beach Queen Returns

On the day of the 1964 Miss New England Contest Mrs. Blanche (Thompson) Worcester, 4 Parkview lane, Bradford, Mass., returned to the scene of her triumph of nearly 50 years ago.

Mrs. Worcester was the first beach queen at Hampton Beach. Back on September 9, 1915 she was crowned as the Carnival Queen. How did she win? It was a little different in those days. In order to meet expenses for the Carnival week activities which were always held the week following Labor Day instead of the week prior as is now done, candidates for the honors were called upon to solicit funds.

The 1915 beach queen recalls that she took the top honors as she was able to collect (with the help of her dad) something over $300. For her efforts she received a large heart shaped box of candy, a small diamond ring and an airplane ride among other things.

Fire Department Busy But Only One Fire Reported

Hampton fire fighters continued their unusually heavy workload as they were called 12 times to render assistance during the past week. But as the summer recreation season passed the halfway mark, no major fires had been logged at the local station.

On July 27 at 11:27 a.m., firemen were called to Ocean Boulevard to wash down gasoline which had leaked from a vehicle owned by Miss Geraldine Killion, Worcester, Mass., Engine 4 responded.

Later on the same day at 11:40 a.m., firemen responded to Riverview Terrace to again wash down gasoline reported leaking from a locked vehicle. The name of the owner was unavailable. Engine 4 responded.

At 2:07 p.m., few hours later, A Montreal, P.Q. man was taken to the Exeter Hospital reportedly suffering from heat exposure. He was removed in the fire department ambulance.

At 6:50 p.m., Kim Hutchinson was treated for first aid at the beach fire station for a cut on his foot. Firemen later sent him to a doctor.

The following day on July 28 at 1:50 a.m., police reported an electric fixture was smoking at a residence on Ashworth Avenue and K street. The department pick-up truck answered the call and firemen disconnected the fixture.

At 11:23 a.m., firemen responded to 19 Highland Avenue in response to a request for resuscitator aid. Fire officials reported that the resuscitator was not needed.

On July 29, at 2:40 p.m., firemen responded to J street to wash down and cover with sand gasoline reported leaking from a parked vehicle. The pick-up truck responded.

At 3:11 a.m. on July 30, Alfred R. Ayotte, Worcester, Mass., was removed to the Exeter Hospital by fire fighters. Firemen responded with a resuscitator aid and then removed Mr. Ayotte to the Exeter Hospital.

At 10:15 p.m., on July 30 fire fighters sent Robert McNulty, Quincy, Mass., to the Exeter Hospital via a friend to be treated in the out patient department. Firemen reported McNulty suffered a cut on the hand.

A Marlboro, Mass., man was taken to the Exeter Hospital in the fire department ambulance at 12:26 p.m. on July 31.

Box 23 was sounded on August 2 at 10:51 a.m. for a car fire on Ocean Boulevard near Ross' Garage. Engine 4 and Ladder 1 responded together with car 20. The vehicle was removed to Ross' Garage.

Firemen were called to the Hampton Beach Marina at 6:23 p.m. on August 2 to render resuscitator aid. However, Robert Bisso, North Newton, Mass., was taken to the Exeter Hospital in the Stargis ambulance.

FASHION SHOW, benefit of Exeter Hospital will be held Aug. 14 at Ye Cocks and Kettle Motor Inn, Seabrook. Featured will be Carol Nashe models, including Leila Shear and clothes from Touraine, New England Shopping Center, and Slocum Furrin, Boston. Master of Ceremonies will be Tom Russell of WEEI.

Zone Board Hearing Set
Two petitions for variances in the Zoning Ordinance have been presented and will be heard before a public hearing on August 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Hampton District Courtroom.

Bernard A. Barteau is asking for a variance for construction of a hall for the Hampton's Post No. 35 American Legion. The hall is to be constructed on land on the south side of the new Beach Expressway and the East side of Landing road if the variance is approved.

The second petition comes on behalf of Thomas R. Stackpole and Wilson Walker, d/b/a The Meatman. It asks for a variance to expand the existing building located at 56 Winnacunnnet road by 76 feet. Additional space will close in exposed refuse area.

12 1/2-LB. POLLOCK caught by Janice Varney qualified her for the Old Salts Club. The catch was made while fishing from a Smith and Gilmore party boat.

Party Boat Fishermen Join Old Salts Club

Deep sea fishermen fishing from the Al Gauron deep sea party boats as well as from the Smith and Gilmore crafts, hauled in several "big ones" to become members of the Old Salts club during the past week.

Paul G. Caron, South Maple street, Worcester, Mass. caught a 28-lb. blue hake while fishing from a Smith and Gilmore party boat.

Also qualifying and fishing from a Smith and Gilmore craft was Chester H. Chapin, Sr., 459 Merrimack Ave., Leominster, Mass. He qualified by boating an 11-lb. codfish.

Charlene Alvina Flemings, 10 Mill street, Lowell, Mass., caught a 5-lb. haddock. The catch of this fish, sanctioned by the Smith and Gilmore officials, qualified Charlene for the Old Salts Club.

John Kiggoroski 200 Blevens Dr., Manchester, qualified with a catch of a 10-lb. haddock. This catch was made from an Al Gauron deep sea fishing boat.

Three other persons qualified with catches from the Smith and Gilmore party boats. They were Clifton M. Campbell, 226 Grant street, Leominster, Mass. with a 25-lb. cod; Edward Desrocher, 21 Florence street, Andover, Mass., with an 11-lb. halibut; and Mike Schwozter, 15, 865 Lafayette road, Hampton, with a 5-lb. haddock.

James Markeil, 3 Brook St., Nashua, qualified by catching a 16-lb. codfish while Janice Veremey, 963 Montgomery St., Williamsett, Mass. also joined the Old Salts Club by virtue of catching an 18 1/2-lb. pollock. This was also caught from a Smith and Gilmore party boat.

Black Cat Found
Anyone missing a large black cat?
Mrs. Paul Estaver, 334 No. Shore Boulevard found one curled up in her convertible this week and would like to return it to the owner.
Mrs. Estaver said the cat has "huge yellow eyes" and is a male.

Hampton Police Department To Join State Mutual Aid Pact

The Hampton police department has joined forces with other police departments around the state in starting a mutual aid pact to deal with riots, violent strikes, racial disturbances and to promote quick capture of criminals.

Hampton Police Chief John Roden said the pact will be similar to the aid agreement among fire departments.

The plan was decided on at a meeting of the executive board of the N. H. Association of Chiefs of Police.

Chief Francis P. McGranahan of Manchester said the chiefs were working on the theory that strength of numbers and a sharing of information can often lead to a quicker capture or setting of a disturbance.

The chiefs decided on the plan of sending men and equipment to aid other areas as one of the best ways to prevent or terminate the problems caused at Hampton Beach on Labor Day and at the motorcycle races at Laconia.

The association also agreed that Hampton Beach cannot hope to control a riot even with State Police aid unless the department receives aid from other departments which might aid in preventing trouble before it starts.

Chief Roden said that the plan must be first approved by the Legislature because of problems involving such things as insurance on men from other areas who might be injured while on duty at another town or city.

Original Art At Lane Library

"Humorous posters give one a lighter feeling when viewed at the Lane Library art gallery. These delightful drawings were done as demonstrations for the Portsmouth High School art students, by their Art Teacher, Miss Phyllis Hodgdon who is director of art in the Portsmouth public schools.

Beautifully crafted sterling silver jewelry, done by the same artist, shares honors with a few pieces of pottery in one show case.

In the other, Miss Hodgdon shows many original and exclusive Christmas Cards, created by her over the years.

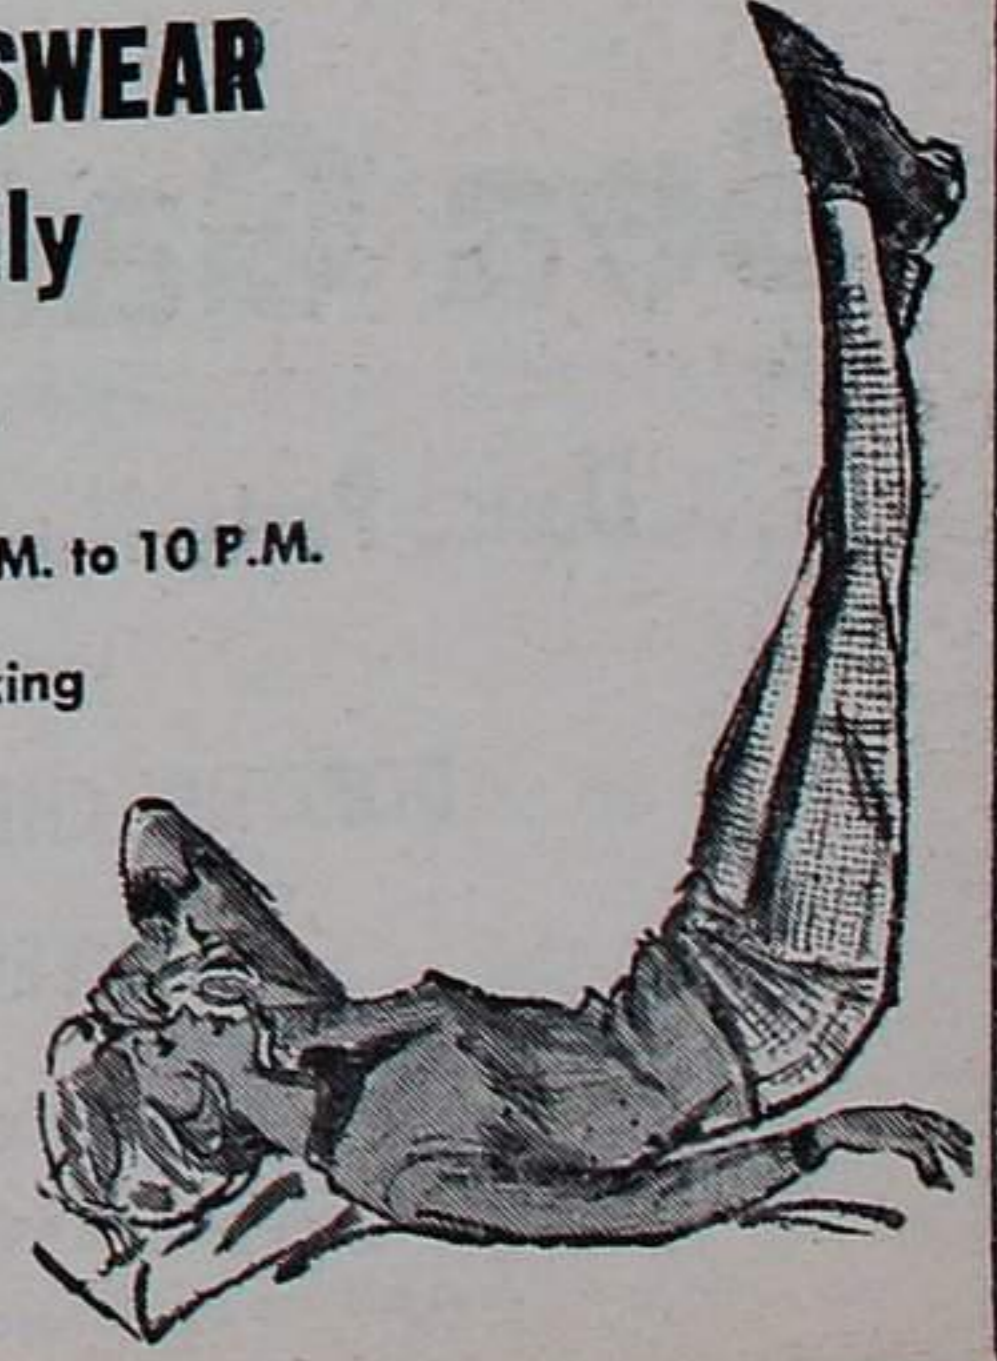

Miss Hodgdon graduated from the Mass. College of Art in Boston, and studied at the University of Chicago and UNH in Durham.

While traveling in Europe, she was much interested in the Art Education in the schools, and spent some time studying art in England.

Property Owners May Help Kill Mosquitoes

One of the things which is about as sure as death and taxes is mosquitoes in the summer. The marshes surrounding Hampton River and its tributaries are ideal breeding grounds for the pesky insects and when one figures that the varieties growing near the seacoast have a range of about 15 miles in their search for food, the problem increases.

In answer to several calls, Town Manager Kenneth Boehner has outlined the Hampton mosquito control program and lists his personal views as to what the home owner can do to supplement the town program.

The town sprays only for adult mosquitoes and flies, since the appropriation was not enough to control larvae or begin a ditching program. The present appropriation is only for $2,000 and in addition, the town is prevented by state law and from property owners from spraying certain areas.

Muster Officials Announced

Two additional hand tub entries have been received for the Firemen's Muster to be held August 29 at the beach and the names of the judges and officials for the meet were also released this past week.

The chairman of the Hampton Beach Muster committee, W. Perry Tarleton, announced this week that the two additional hand-tubs which will be on hand are "The Volunteer" from East Greenwich, R. I. and the "D. A. Taggart", Goffstown, N. H.

Notification was received from Mr. Bertrice Symonds, Marblehead, Mass., president of the New England Veteran Firemen's League of the names of the officials and judges. They are as follows: president, Bertrice Symonds; sec. treas., Charles Mastin, Ashburnham, Mass.; time keeper, Clarence Byrant, Newburyport, Mass.; assistant time keeper, Edward Trask, Everett, Mass.; engine platform, past president Geo. Griswold, Newmarket, N. H., and Edward Claridge, Haverhill, Mass.

Also pipe platform, Charles Plummer, Newbury, Mass., Captain Roland Sturtevant, Danvers, Mass. and alternate, Phil Clark, North Andover, Mass.

Passenger cars in the United States were driven an average of 9,435 miles in 1962, the Automobile Legal Association notes.

The ALA notes that a display in the Old State House, Boston, points out that "In 1722 and up to 1823 more than 300,000 prisoners were locked up" in the now defunct Boston Jail on Queen (now Court) St. in Boston.

BEACH ORGANIST is Mrs. Rae Nichols of Portsmouth. Nichols has been playing weekly before large crowds at Sea Shell. She also is the regular accompanist for the Monday evening talent shows.

Beach Organist Versatile

One of the most popular functions at the beach is the chamber of commerce sponsored organ concert presented from the Sea Shell stage. This year, a Portsmouth, N. H. musician is the regular organist.

Several times a week Rae Nichols, 176 Orchard street, Portsmouth, thrills the audiences on-hand with her renditions on the electric organ.

Rae has a background in music dating back to age four and one half. At that time she started studying piano, mostly classical piano, privately. She also took up jazz. Her initial studies were in Boston with one of her major contributors to her education at an early age Berkley School.

Rae continued her musical studies by taking up Theory Harmony at Boston University and studied organ with Clifford Webber. She also studied concert piano with Julliard professor, Jacob Feuring.

The 1964 Hampton Beach concert organist has a wide background of experience having played not only in England but also in the New York, Nevada and Hawaii.

Little Boar's Head Flower Gardens

In the Seacoast Region of New Hampshire are located the beautiful, privately-owned, gardens of the late Governor of Massachusetts, Alvin T. Fuller, located on a quaint, narrow street at Little Boar's Head, North Hampton.

To reach the gardens, take the first left off Route 1-A, after passing 101-D, and see the beautiful roses, in season, or a display of summer-long blooms.

A shaded "Japanese Garden Pool", at the rear of the main garden, features flowering shrubs, bulbs, an old foot bridge, and a tiny waterfall.

The main garden is decorated with statuary from the four corners of the earth.

Another famous roadside flower garden may be seen on Route 1-A, just north of the old fish houses, making the visitor's garden tour a rewarding one indeed.

Singer, Dancer Win Beach Talent Show

Another large and enthusiastic audience looked on at the Sea Shell as the weekly talent show program sponsored by the chamber of commerce passed the halfway mark for the summer season.

A five year old boy, Frank J. Klemac, 31 Bartlett street, Charlestown, Mass., walked off with the first place trophy in the Junior Division. Frank did a dance march to a soldier's record in smart fashion to win the weekly honors.

In the Senior Division, Don Smith, 20, 709 Douglas street, Jackson, Michigan won top honors by singing "What Kind of Fool Am I?"

In the Junior Division, Janelle Lee McKenney, 10, 39 Ministerial Branch, Bedford, N. H., copped second place honors. She did a toe dance to "The Merry Widow Waltz."

Third place honors went to Jane Sweeney, 13, and Maureen Trainor, 12, Haverhill, Mass. The duo did Irish Step dancing.

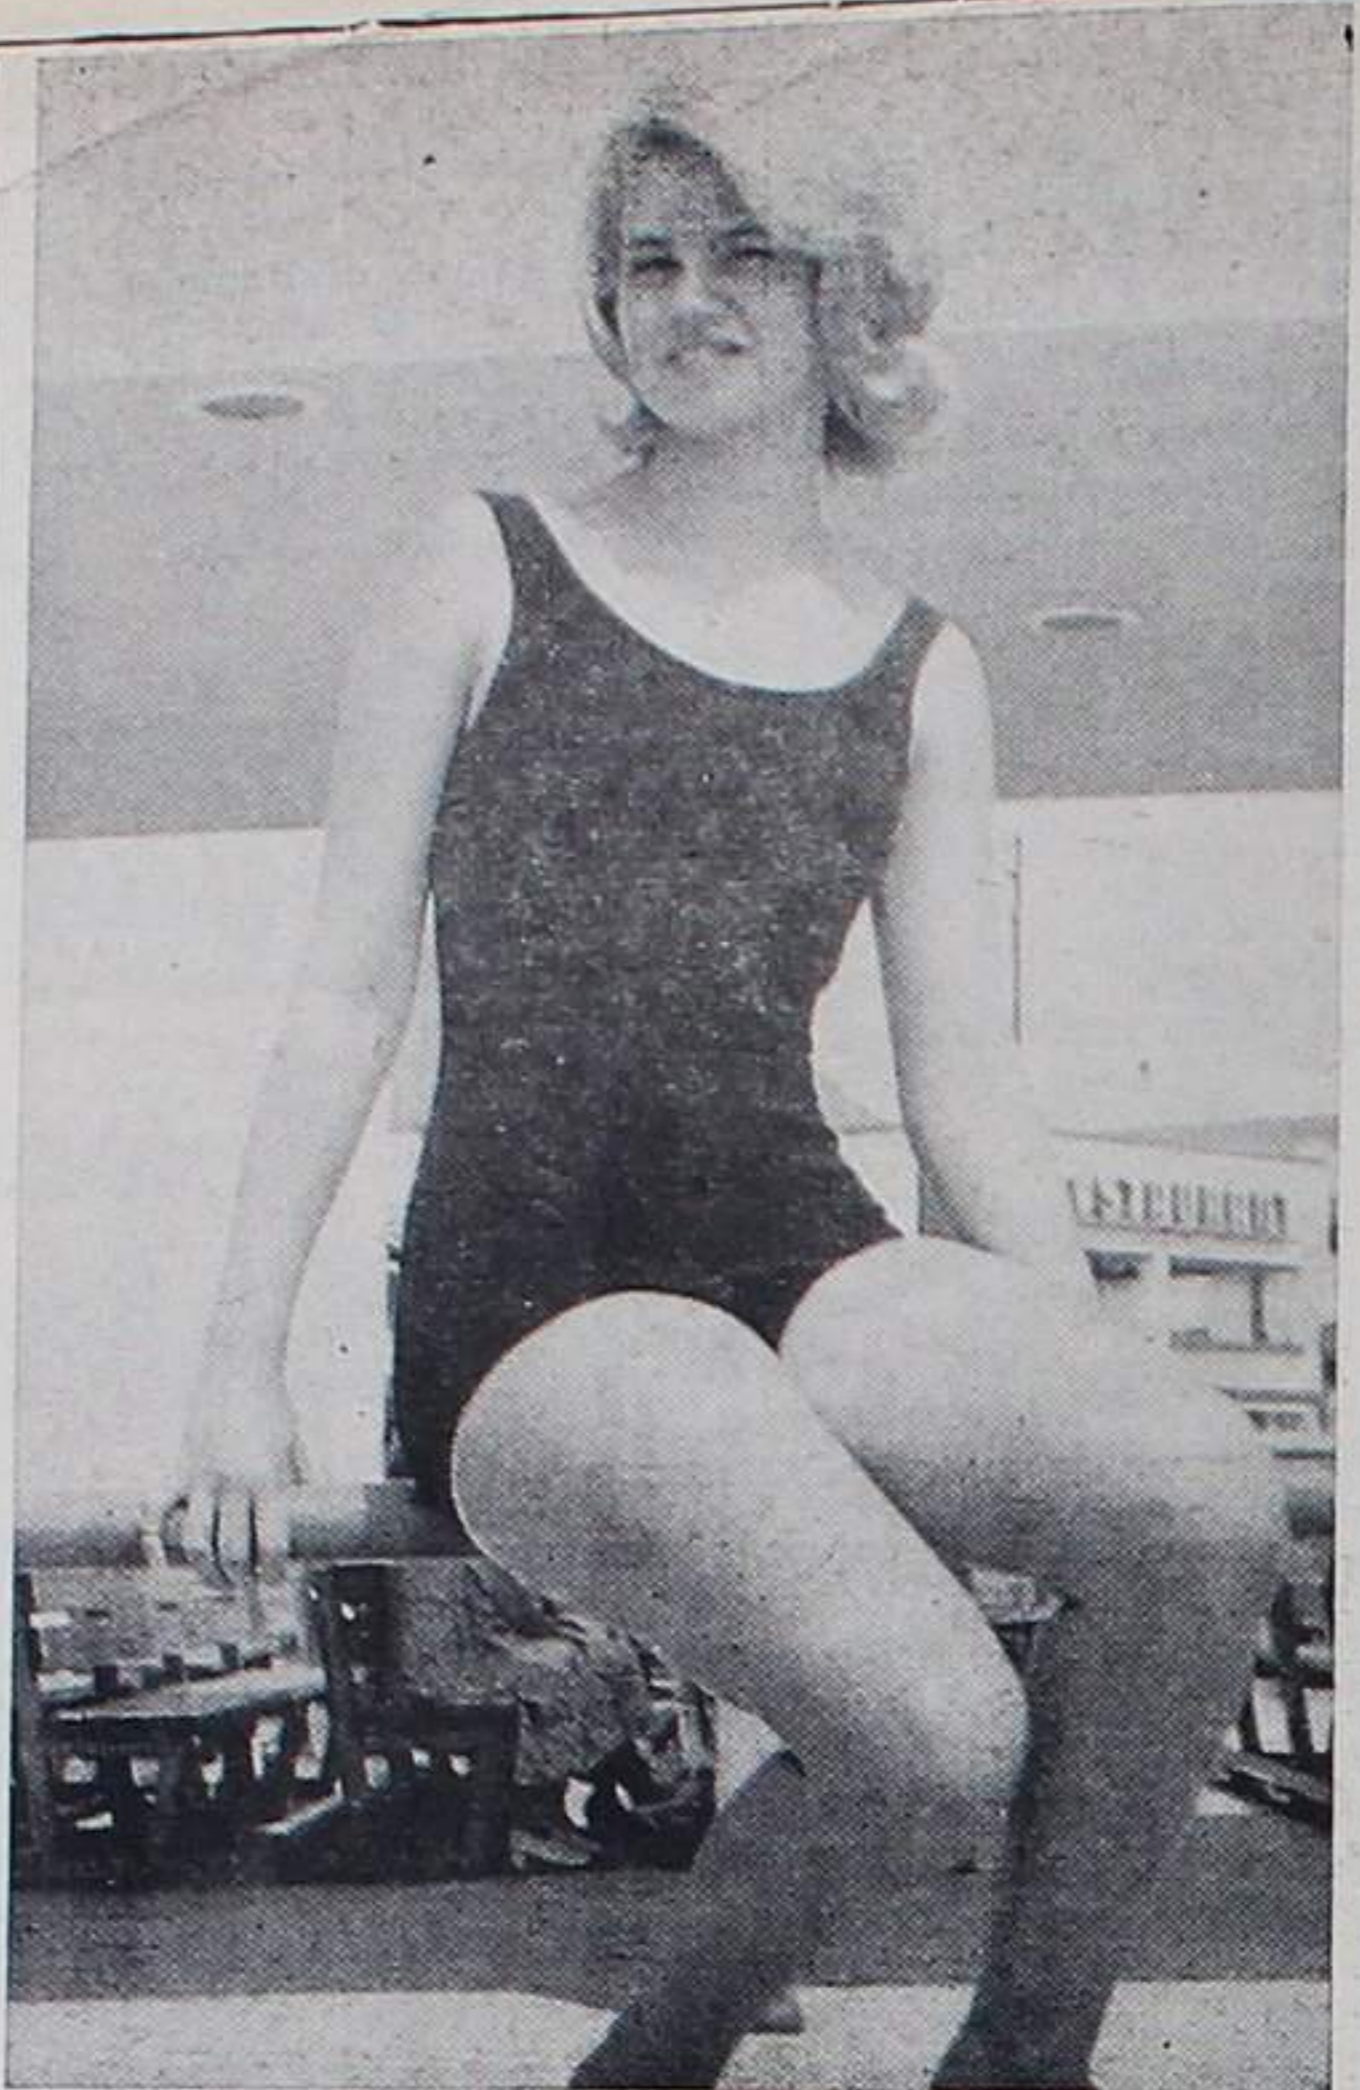

In the Senior Division, The Finley Sisters, 58 College Rd., Chestnut Hill, Mass., took the second place trophy. Colleen, age 17, was at the piano while Kathleen, age 14, played the drums.

Linda McCaul, 16, 16 Irving road, West Lynn, Mass., placed third with a dance to "You'll Be Surprised" and "Bye Bye Blues".

Master of Ceremonies was "Bill" Elliot of the chamber of commerce. He was assisted by promotion director, Mr. Henry Hamel. Candy was presented to the third place winners and all those who didn't place, compliments of Margaret Junkins Candy store.

Republican Women Plan Annual Silver Tea Aug. 12

The Federated Women's Republican Club of Exeter will hold its annual Silver Tea from 4-6 p.m., Wednesday, August 12th at the Exeter Inn.

Mrs. Herrick Macomber, president, announced that all state and county Republican candidates have been invited and she hopes many will make a real effort to come and talk first hand with the candidates who are seeking nomination on the Republican ticket.

Mrs. Macomber comments, "An informed electorate is a strong electorate. This is a chance to meet the candidates informally and talk with them about the issues at stake in this year's vital election."

Shipyard Fifth In Cost Goals

Among the Navy's 11 shipyards, Portsmouth Naval Shipyard ranked fifth in the list of those shipyards exceeding cost reduction goals for the year ended June 30, 1964.

A Navy audit of reports from shipyards placed Philadelphia as the top cost-cutting.

Others in order were New York, Mare Island, and Boston. Portsmouth's goal was a cut of $2,127,000. It cut $5,331,000.

Life Story Of Carl Reiner At Hampton Playhouse

Fresh from the roaring success of its twenties farce, the "Ladies Bump", the Hampton Playhouse plays host on August 10, through August 17, to one of the funniest Broadway comedies of recent years, "Enter Laughing". The play, patterned on the life story of comedian Carl Reiner, tells the story of a young man with ambitions to become an actor. His misadventures are hilarious and apt to keep you laughing all evening long. Along with some mild encounters with sex, a subject about which he is eager but inexperienced, the hero meets other obstacles to his dreams. His desire to be an actor sends flutters of horror through the hearts of Papa and Mama, who want him to be a druggist, and when he develops a crush on an actress at the flea-bitten acting school in which he is enrolled, his girlfriend walks out and leaves him stranded without any clothes whatever for his big opening night performance. Also, the owner of the acting school, a haughty, boozed-up impresario decides to wreak havoc on the boy's dreams and just about succeeds.

The story races along at breakneck speed, with very few chances to breathe between laughs. "The major complaint against the play is that it doesn't provide enough rest periods between side-splitting laughs," said Howard Taubman of the New York Times, when the play opened in New York. "It is an evening of frequently paralyzing laughter," said another critic. Featured in the Hampton production of the play will be Marie Wallace, J. Frank Lucas, Katherine Helmond and James Whittle. The Management of the Playhouse is still in the process of deciding on the actor who will play the role of the stage struck hero, but it is definite that the lucky actor will be a member of the current company.

Anyone who's ever been young will have his heart go out to the adolescent hero of this play. But you'll resent him to, because he'll remind you so sharply of your teen-age foolishness — and because he'll make you laugh so hard your sides will ache. "Enter Laughing" is a gateway to hilarity and the doors are wide open, beginning August 10. Enter and be glad.

Red Cross Swim Program Begins At Kingston Park

"Red Cross Safety Services provide a program that benefits all age groups and teaches informationally all area of community and family life", said Jeremy D. Russman, Water Safety Chairman for the Exeter District Chapter American Red Cross.

"Throughout each year Safety Services is on duty informing the public of safety precautions appropriate to the patterns of individual, group and season activity — in the homes — in industries — on the highway — at community gatherings — during vacations — in the school — in recreational activities — on the beach and on the water — during travel — in illness or disaster."

"One hundred forty-six youngsters and teenagers registered for the Exeter Swimming Program that started July 6th at Kingston Park", added Russman, "and on the 28th certificates were given out to 50 beginners, 15 intermediates, 25 swimmers, 25 Junior Life Savers, 3 Advanced Swimmers and 10 Senior Life Savers."

Celebrating the 50 years of Water Safety in Red Cross, several demonstrations in life saving, resuscitation and safety aids while in the water, were given.

"There is no question that the water safety program, together with the efforts of first aid, has helped cut the drowning rate in this country from 10 per 100,000 in 1914 to 4 in recent years", concluded Russman. "But further, this program has made it possible for millions to engage safely in healthful and enjoyable aquatic recreation."

One hundred thirty-nine are registered for the Aug. swimming session which will start on the 3rd. All those who are registered must be at Kingston Park at 9 a.m. that Monday.

Hank Wajda 2nd At Rock

New Hampshire's Hank Wajda became firmly ensconced on the comeback trail last week, as he moved into a second place tie in the Rockingham Park jockey standings.

The Newmarket rider, perennial New England champ, who rode 72 winners here last year, was out of action from May 29 to July 6 following an accident in the paddock at Suffolk Downs.

But he now has eight winners at the Rock meeting, his most spectacular being a win in Saturday's Amherst purse aboard Count Dormal. The win closed out a $50,432 twin double payoff, an all time Rock record.

Historical Places And Sites Of Interest In Area

Hampton is rich in historical lore and over the years much of the past has been preserved. One of the primary groups behind the preservation of the past is the local Meeting House Green Memorial and Historical Association.

One of the most active workers in this group is Winnacunner High school history instructor, Harold Fernald. Mr. Fernald has compiled a partial list of some of the places a visit to some of which would make excellent dreary, beach day activities.

The aforementioned association operates and maintains a museum located on the original Meeting House Green at Tuck Field. It contains documents, household and farming implements of early Hampton. Many items date to life in Hampton during the early and later Colonial period. The museum is open to the public Wednesday and Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. and is free of charge.

Located adjacent to the museum is the one room school house. This one room district school house was used in Hampton from 1835 to approximately 1920. The school house contains desks, maps, books and other educational lore of the Hampton area during the 18th and early 19th century. The building is open Wednesday and Saturday from 1-4 p.m. and is also free of charge.

Some of the other places of interest include the following: Founders Park, located off Park Avenue and Landing Rd. This Park is dedicated to Rev. Stephen Bachiler and those founding families of Hampton. Stones have been placed on the Green by the various daughter towns and bearing their names as well as many family stones with the names of the early settlers. It is felt that this Park is the only one like it in the United States. The Park was dedicated in 1925.

Meeting House Green, located on Park Ave. Here the first settlers of Hampton built their first Meeting House in 1638. Here, too, the first homes appeared, and around the Green early Hampton grew. Today the Green contains the buildings of the Historical Society, Museum, District School House and various Historical Markers of Hampton's past.

The Landing — On the 14th of October 1638, Rev. Stephen Bachiler and his small band landed here and proceeded to the Meeting House Green. Now known as "Nudds Landing", this Marsh Land Area was the scene of the first brick yard, boat building site, and salt works. Located at the end of Landing Road next to the Hampton Boat Club.

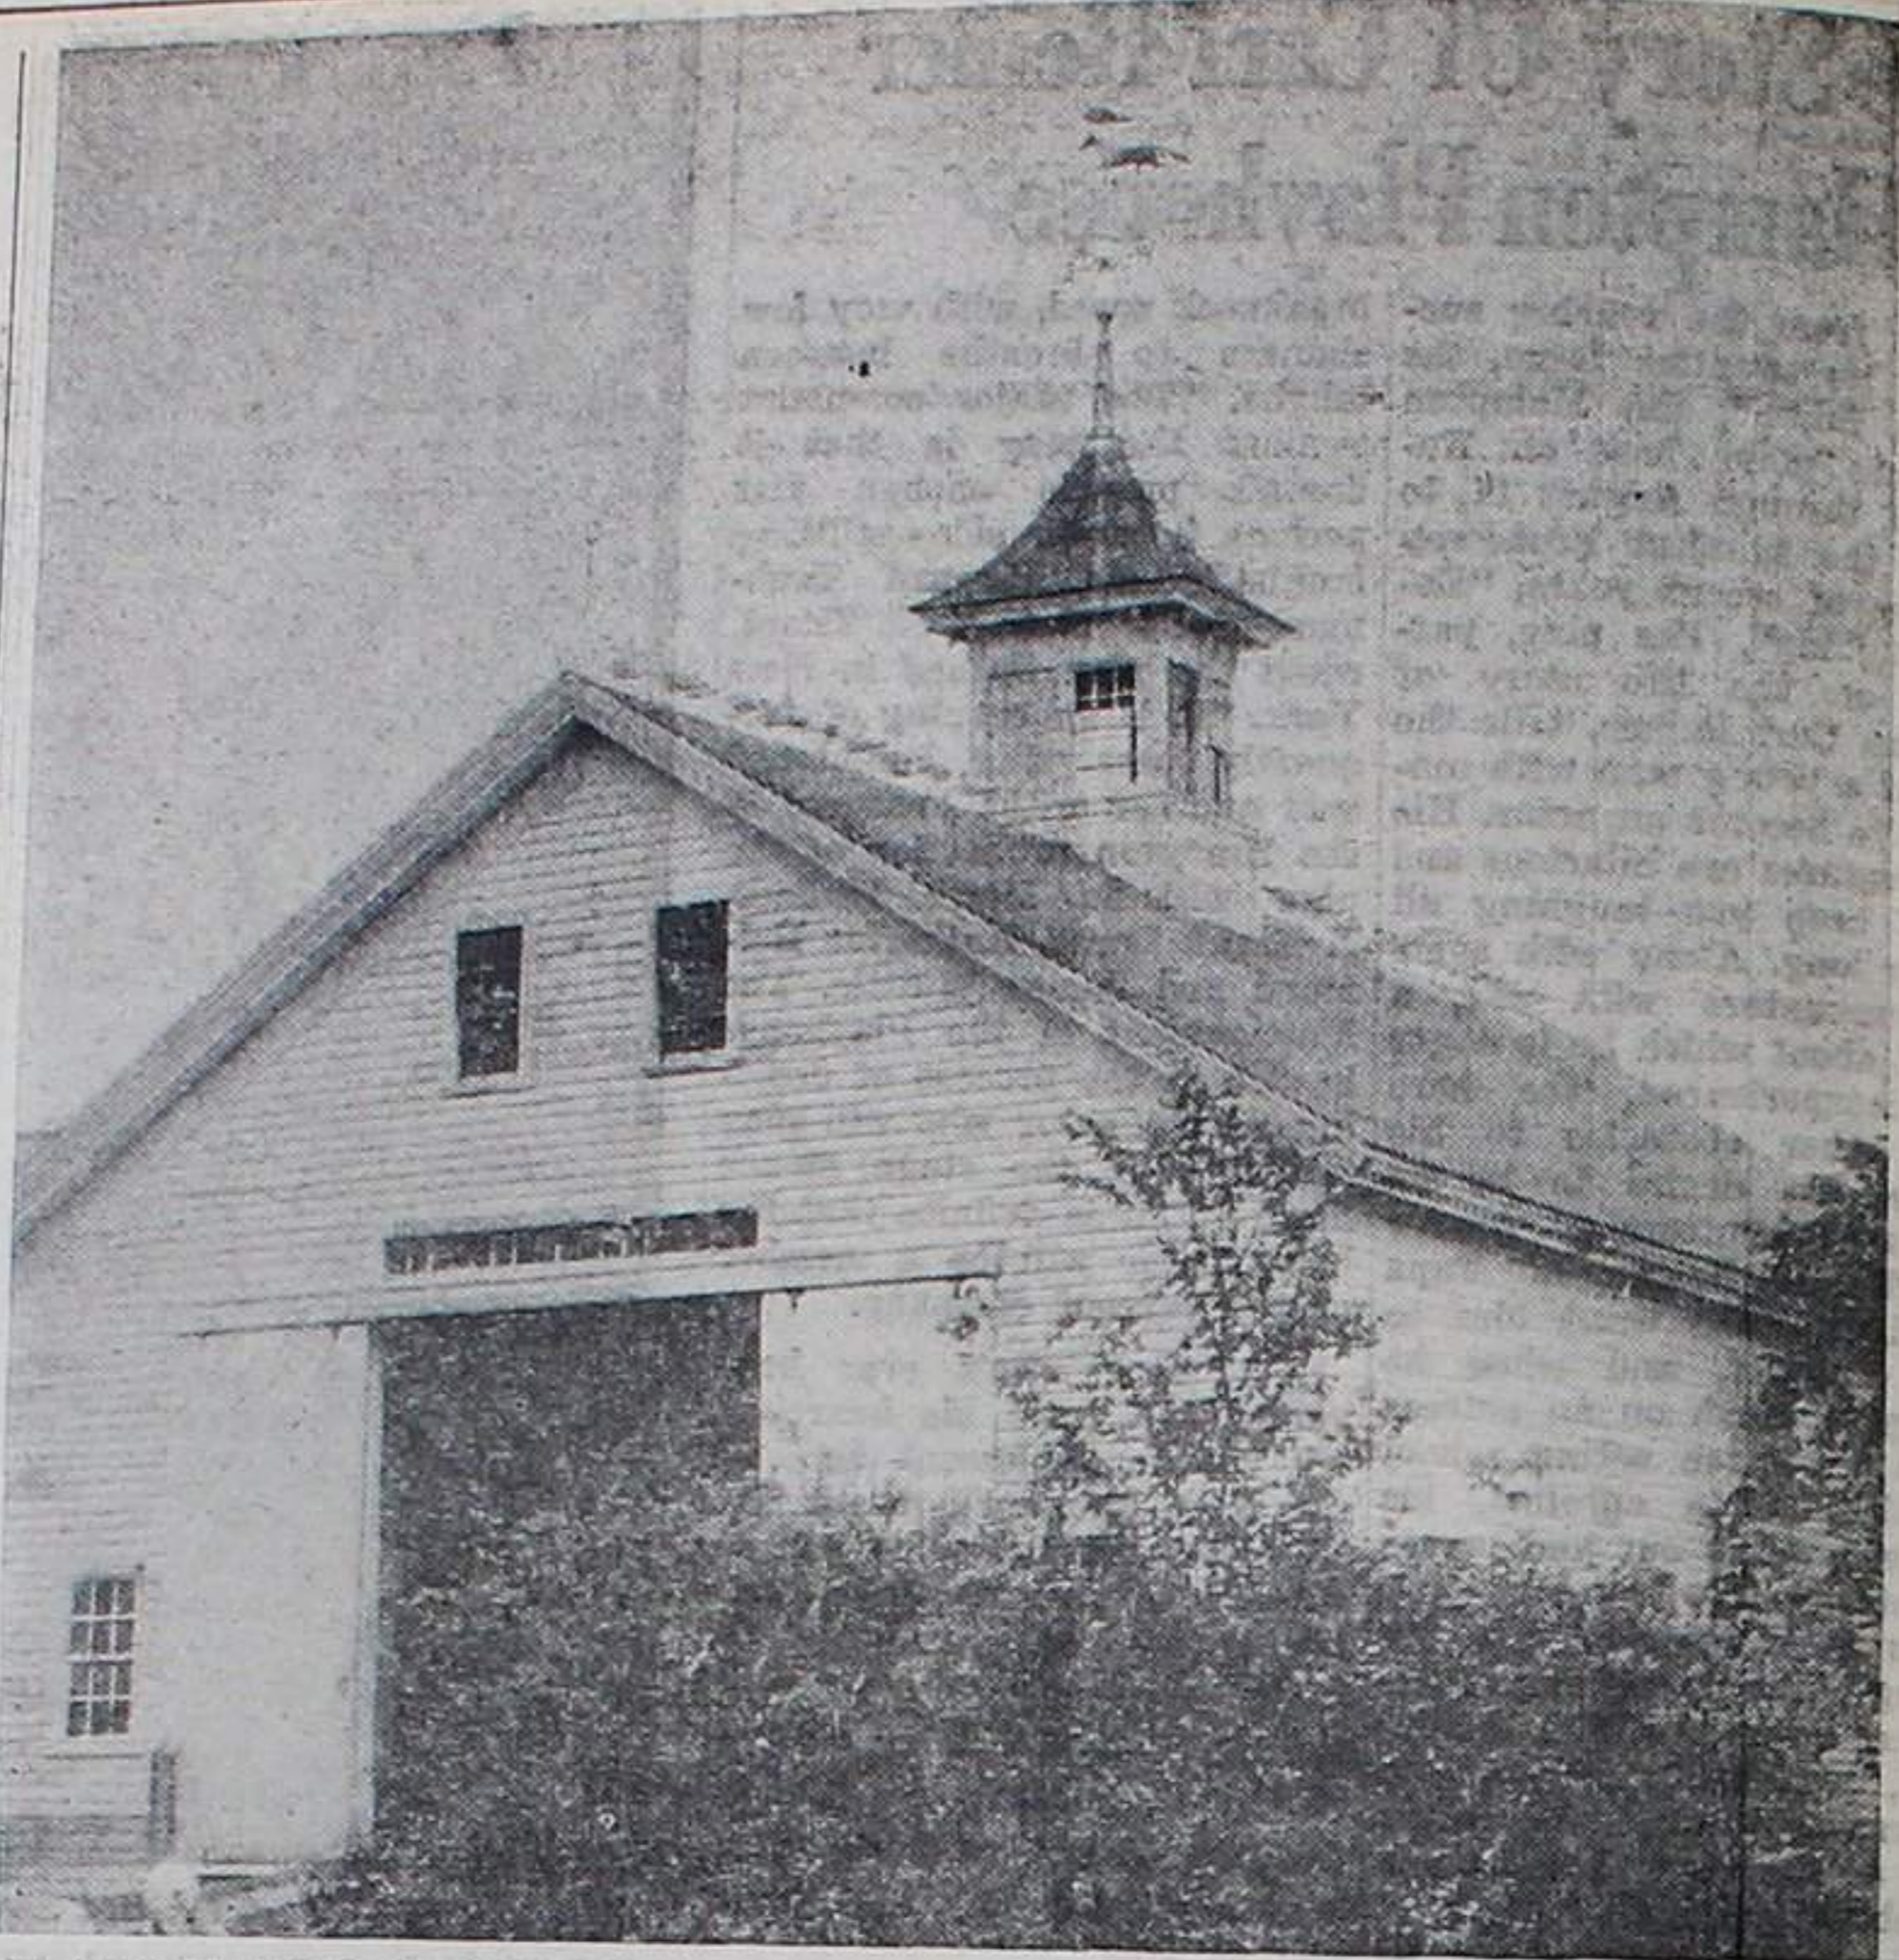

The Hampton Marshes — These "Salt" Marshes today are the only natural areas to be kept just as our forefathers saw them. Today they serve as wild life preserves, yesterday they served as hay fields for our farming community. Sites of the old hay stacks can still be seen.

Great Boars Head — A natural outcropping of rock, said to be the landing spot of the first white men to visit America in the 10th century — The Vikings.

Norseman's Rock (Viking Rock) — Off Thorvald Ave., thought to be the final resting place of Lief Eriksons brother who was killed by Indians in 1008 A.D. This story can be found both in local Indian legend and Viking Mythology. Viking markings can still be seen on the rock.

Sea Side Park — Next to the Coast Guard Station, this Park was the location of the early fish houses of those Hampton men who went to sea for their livelihood. Two of these still stand. This Park and its facilities are available to the public without charge.

Tuck Gristmill — Rebuilt in 1815, this Gristmill served the people of Hampton until early in the 20th Century. Two quarts payment for grinding.

one bushel of corn. This mill has been acquired by the Town and will be restored in the near future.

Godfrey - Dearborn House — Built shortly after the Town was settled, it is believed to be the oldest frame house of its style in New England. Lamies Tavern and Goody Cole Room named after the only woman to be tried and convicted of witchcraft in New Hampshire.

Hedding Camp Meeting Planned

From August 16 to 23 the 102nd session of the Hedding Camp Meeting will be held.

Through the week, there will be workshops covering various topics on religion followed by an evening service each day. Rev. Luther T. Tyson, Methodist Church, Boston Area chaplain of Industrial relations will preach the sermon for the morning day. Rev. Paul Stauffer, district superintendent, will preside.

The afternoon service of opening day will include a film on religion and the economic life entitled "The Captive." Discussion will be led by Chaplain Tyson.

The preacher for the evening service will be Dr. Wilbur C. Ziegler. Presiding will be Rev. Willard V. Sleamaker of Rochester.

WCS Day will be held on August 17 with a morning service, luncheon, and afternoon service. Reservations should be made through Mrs. Herbert Lane, Box 55, Hedding.

On Thursday, there will be a district family outing, in addition to the workshop and evening service.

On Saturday, August 22, the annual meeting of the association, including election of officers will be held at 2 p.m. followed by a concert at 8 p.m. The program will be climaxed on August 23 by morning and afternoon worship services. Sunday vespers, evening service and the candle lighting service.

The sermon for the morning worship at 10:45 will be "Concerns of an African Church" delivered by Dr. Per Hassing. Presiding will be the Rev. Paul A. Stauffer. There will be slides entitled, "An African Journey" by Dr. Hassing at 3 p.m.

Bishop James K. Mathews of the Boston Area of the Methodist Church will deliver the sermon at the 7:30 p.m. service with Rev. Robert C. Sneed of Dover presiding. The candle-lighting service will be at 8 p.m.

Youth Caught In Hamp. Marsh

Hampton police officers had to resort to use of a boat early Wednesday morning, and got an unexpected soaking, but a chase across the Hampton marshes resulted in the apprehension of a Greenland juvenile. Chief John Roden this week had high praise for Officers Ray Whitcomb and Ernest Gregorowicz who made the capture. The two officers, however, needed the assistance of Mr. George Smith of the Hampton Beach Marina.

Well known at Hampton Beach, Mrs. Worcester's folks owned the Seacy Cottage at H street for 15 years prior to selling it.

One of the thrills of her achievement was the plane ride from the sands of Hampton Beach with Chauncey Redding on September 12. She vividly recalls this not only from the attached picture but also because Mr. Redding, the pilot, was killed on October 1, 1915.

During the "old" days, competition was also keen for decorating the automobiles for the gigantic parade held then as today. She took 3 first place trophies for best decorated cars during the parade competition.

Mrs. Worcester recalled hearing "Bill" Elliot, the Singing Cop, on the old bandstand at the beach for many years. Still displaying the effervescent smile and bubbling personality and still wearing her diamond (reset on another ring) Mrs. Worcester vividly recalled much of Hampton Beach of days gone by. But that day on September 9 when she was only 17 years old was one of the high points of her life.

Fall Fair Dates Are Announced

The New Hampshire Fair's association following its annual banquet in Laconia recently announced the fall schedule of fairs. Included are the following dates:

- Rochester, Sept. 19-26; Sandwich, Columbus Day, Oct. 12; Plymouth, Aug. 20-23; Deerfield, Oct. 1-4; Cheshire, Oct. 8-11; Hopkinton, Sept. 4-7; Lancaster, Sept. 4-7; Canaan, Aug. 6-9; No. Haverhill, July 31-Aug. 2; Cornish, Aug. 14-15; New Boston, Sept. 12; and Belknap County, 4-H, Aug. 15.

Note of Thanks

The Hampton Police Department was recently in receipt of a letter of thanks for action taken by members of that department.

The letter from Mrs. Virginia J. Kallas reads as follows:

"My family and I wish to thank you and the men of your department for your alertness and quick action in removing my father, Mr. Nick Papadopoulos, to the Exeter Hospital last Saturday evening. Lack of this prompt service would have been fatal; it saved his life. We are ever so grateful."

Schedule of Events

- (Aug. 5 - Aug. 12)
- August 3 - August 8 — "The Ladies Bump" at the Hampton Playhouse.
- August 7 — Dick Steele, caller, Square Dancing at the State Park.
- August 9th — Community Church, Rev. Arthur Dewey, Hampton, guest minister.
- August 8th — Louis Armstrong at Casino Ballroom.

"Ladies Bump" Reviewed

Do you like an evening of noisy, hilarious comedy antics? Are you still young enough to fix your eyes on a strip-teaser? Then "The Ladies Bump," currently at the Hampton Playhouse, is for you — and you are guaranteed to have fun.

A corny farce of the 1920's and stylized to this wacky era in United States history both in costuming and the conventionalized acting by Director Alfred Christie, "The Ladies Bump" revolves merrily around the improbable reunion of burlesque queens in the home of one of the "ladies" who had climbed high in the social ladder.

Her past had been well-hidden she thought, when the two former spear-carrying burlesquers arrive to complicate her social position. Katherine Helmond delightfully plays the social climber with intended self-conscious emotionalism while Betty Froman Bright drolly adds to the confusion as the ex-burlesque queen turned Shakespearean "artiste" but retaining her love for the bottle.

Triple trouble is injected into the action by shapely, hip-swinging Marie Wallace playing Rose LaMarr.

Miss Wallace sparks the action and certainly commands the attention of every male member of the audience when she appears in a G-string and does an exotic "bump and grind."

An adroit bit of amusing scene-stealing is done by Peter Bailey who delights the audience with his flitty antics as Teddy and David Canary's portrayal of Jack was heightened by his lyrical singing voice that pleasingly changed the madcap pace of "The Ladies Bump" for a few moments while he calmed the assembly with song. Lee Pearce sweetly plays the ingenue and Lucy Landau is her usual funny self as Mrs. Donaldson. The stumbling maid drew a good share of laughter with Jean Lewis' bouncing through the role. J. Frank Lucas extends the versatility of his talent as Herbert and Fred Hoskins, capable stage manager, makes one of his rare, but always droll, appearances on stage instead of back-stage. Nancy La Peter, Trent Knepper and Sarah Christie fill out the supporting cast while Madeline Meredith provides the on-stage accompaniment for the singing.

Steve Nihda's stage setting again sets top quality standards and the costuming in the 1920 modes adds much to the meritment of the show.

If you want a happy evening of fun and boisterous laughter this week, The Hampton Playhouse is the place to find it. "The Ladies Bump" does not pretend to be anything but a riotous farce. The players seem to be having a ball performing this silly bit of theatre and the fun and enthusiasm projects beyond the proscenium arch to the last seat in the balcony.

250 Attend Farewell Party For Rev. and Mrs. Blakeslee

Approximately 250 friends of the Rev. and Mrs. H. Dwight Blakeslee attended the farewell reception held in their honor at Trinity Episcopal church, Sunday evening, July 26.

As a memorial gift the couple was presented with a New England landscape, painted by Aldo T. Hibbard, renowned New England artist. Mr. William Cunningham, warden of Trinity church, made the presentation in behalf of the many persons who contributed toward the purchase of this valuable painting from the Hibbard gallery in Rockport.

During the evening Mrs. John Little and Mrs. Raymond Conley served as hostesses at the refreshment table. Arrangements for the reception were handled by the officers of the Episcopal churchwomen, and refreshments were supervised by Mrs. Russell McGuirk. The guest book was in charge of Mrs. John Higgins, Mrs. Edwin Batchelder, Jr., and Mrs. Gerald French.

Rev. Blakeslee will conduct his final services at Trinity church next Sunday, August 2. A coffee hour will follow the 9:30 service.

During August the family will move to Bethlehem, Penna., where Rev. Blakeslee will assume his duties as Canon of the Cathedral Church of the Nativity, September 1.

Old Home Week Celebrated Aug. 15-23 In New Hampshire

August 15 thru August 23 has been proclaimed "Old Home Week" in the state of New Hampshire. Since Gov. Frank Rollins suggested the annual observance of "Old Home Week and Day" during the summer of 1899, "Old Home Day" has been celebrated in many ways.

This is the 65th year that the Governor of New Hampshire has issued a proclamation setting aside a period in August as "Old Home Week" in this state. Many New Hampshire communities observe either a week or one day to honor its town and its senior and wandering citizens.

This year, approximately 61 towns will hold some type of observance in New Hampshire. Usually the observance will include one or many events such as a parade, beach church supper, band concert, fire works, bon fire, country square dances, church services, fairs and open houses among others. This year, several towns will also be observing their bicentennial celebrations (200 years).

During the day long or week long events one can almost certainly hear from local selectmen or other officials, a "famous" visiting summer celebrity, a "well known" son or daughter returning from afar or some local senior citizen of note and respect.

During the past four years Hampton has revived this custom after an absence of several years. This was mainly done through the efforts of Mrs. Helen Hayden, present town clerk of Hampton, Harold Fernald, and the Meeting House Green Memorial and Historical

OLD HOME WEEK

Three Busy Weeks To Climax Beach Season

Three jam-packed weeks of entertainment arranged both separately and concurrently by Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Hotel Association and the Hampton Beach District Commissioners will climax the 1964 summer season at Hampton Beach.

Highlighting the activities during the coming week will be the annual Children's Day ceremonies slated for August 18, Coronation Ball to be held August 21 and the annual parade of floats and horribles on Saturday, August 22.

Kicking off the program will be the always popular Children's Day. Amateur architects are already on the sands of Hampton Beach practicing for the 11 a.m. Sand Castle contest. This affair has drawn hundreds of applicants over the years and will this year be held on the sands in front of the Sea Shell area.

Area youth and visitors to the beach will be participating parade. This will be formed at Ashworth corner and will proceed to the Sea Shell area where the judging for the best decorations and best rolling toys together with best costumes will take place. This parade should not be confused with the larger parade scheduled for August 22. This parade is for the youth only and will consist of decorated bicycles, doll carriages, and all sorts of original costumes.

The highlight of Children's Day will be the crowning of the Junior Miss Hampton Beach. This will be held at the Sea Shell at 1:45 p.m. with Sheila Scott, Miss Hampton Beach of 1964, expected to be on hand to crown the junior queen. The queen, king and their court will preside over the day long festivities.

At 3:30 p.m., the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce will be given a hand in the entertainment program by the Hampton Beach Precinct Commissioners. Each year for many years the commissioners have distributed free ice cream to the youth taking part in the program and those on hand witnessing the events. The ice cream will be distributed at the John White Memorial playground following the Sea Shell ceremonies at approximately 3:30 p.m.

The day-long affair will be concluded with a Children's Band concert to be held from 4-5 p.m. at the Sea Shell.

The following evening at 8:30 p.m., one of the most colorful and spectacular events of the entire summer season will be held at the Casino Ballroom in the form of the Coronation Ball. Amid an array of color consisting of multi-colored evening gowns and flowers, Miss Sheila Scott will officially receive her crown as the reigning Miss Hampton Beach for 1964-65.

Miss Beverly Hebert, present queen, and recently returned from the Miss Universe contest is expected to be on hand to relinquish her crown. Expected to be present also are the present new Miss New England, Dianne Higson, the CLIMAX
