

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

States and Canada through the cooperation of the Department of Resources and Economic Development.

The chamber personnel also assists in locating individuals, in finding cottages, hotels, motels, streets, churches, service clubs, doctors, police and fire departments among other things. Nearly every type of inquiry conceivable is handled at the office. They also help by giving recreational information in helping visitors to locate golf courses and ascertain greens fees, locate public tennis courts, athletic events, and assisting with fresh and salt water fishing trips. Hunting, riding, cruising, motion picture information, theater programs and many other items are printed periodically throughout the summer in mimeographed bulletins for the help of the visitor.

The local office also maintains a lost child bureau. By means of the public address system, hundreds of lost children are restored to their parents each season. As many as 21 lost children on a single Sunday were cared for last summer and were later united with often frustrated parents. The police are also aided in handling and delivering hundreds of urgent messages each summer.

An important direct service is rendered by mail with as many as 10,000 inquiries a week concerning the Hampton area being answered personally by the office help.

One of the major reasons so many vacationists choose Hampton Beach annually to other recreational areas is the fine,

SMALL IN SIZE but powerful in competition when the chips were down was Michael McLean, 13 1/2, Boston, Mass., center, who copped the first place trophy in recent Junior Division Talent Show competition. Mike sang "Climb Ev'ry Mountain". Two very talented young ladies, Charlene Crall, 12, right, Cohoes, N. Y. and Nancy Roy, Salem, N. H. took second and third place honors. clean entertainment programs offered, most of which are free of charge. For many years band concerts have highlighted a daily program. Weekly talent shows have given persons a chance to entertain and others to enjoy. Guest artists appear periodically, swim races, contests, boat races, parades beauty contests, dances and special programs are but a few of the items arranged by the chamber for the pleasure of the visitor and area resident as well.

Sandown To Celebrate Old Home Day

The annual Sandown Old Home Day will be observed Sunday with special religious services, a home cooked turkey dinner and a meeting of the historical society.

The religious service will begin at 11:15 a.m. in the Old Meeting House, which was built in 1774. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Donald H. Baldwin, First Methodist Church, San Rafael, Calif.

The turkey dinner will be served at 1 p.m. in the town hall.

The annual meeting of the Old Meeting House Historical Association will begin at 1:45 p.m. with election of officers as the main part of the meeting.

Formal events will conclude with a patriotic service with a speaker from the U. S. Navy and music by choirs from Hampstead and Billerica, Mass. a cookout with all but 20 home residents seated out on the lawn for hot dogs, hamburgers and cold drink and ice cream.

Prisoners of the jail assisted in moving the elderly on to the lawn. Dr. John Blaisdell of Brentwood heads the staff of doctors which includes Dr. Herman Sanders of Candia, and Dr. Edwin Lee of Exeter. One of the doctors is on duty each day at the home.

The general supervision of the home is under the control of Mr. and Mrs. George Hillon of Brentwood with Miriam W. Dodge the Supervisor of Nurses.

Gala Day Planned For Muster

Officials manning 21 old time handtubs have already signified intentions of taking part in the August 28 day long New England League Firemen's Muster. A sensational hit with beach visitors and residents alike last year, this summer's meet has promise of being one of the largest ever held in New England.

Some of the top handtubs in the area are coming from four of the six New England states to compete for the top honors according to Perry Tarleton, local co-ordinator. Listed to date and planning to be on hand are the "Protection 1" of Newbury, Mass.; the "Hancock" of Ashburnham, Mass.; the "Tiger 1" from Newmarket, N. H.; "Niagara 2" from Upton, Mass.; "Always Ready" from Westminster, Mass.; and the "OKO's" from Marblehead, Mass.

Also expected to be at the beach are the "Gerry 5" from Marblehead, Mass.; "Gardner 4" from West Newbury, Mass.; "L. V. Spaulding 5" from Haverhill, Mass.; "Hydrant 3" from Holliston, Mass.; "Neptune" from Newburyport, Mass.; "Volunteer" from East Greenwich, R. I.; and the "Constitution 2" from New Boston, N. H.

Others are "Niagara 3" from Brunswick, Maine; "Triumph" from Berwick, Maine; "Gov.

Miss Reynolds Begins Beach Reign

"I found it a different experience. It was fun meeting so many new girls".

The modesty and quietness with which these words were spoken tells a partial story of Judy Reynolds, the pretty 18 year old Manchester girl who will officially be crowned Miss Hampton Beach 1965-66 on August 20th.

"I came to the beach all alone and with the exception of George Valhouli of Hale Shoe who sponsored me; no one from my family was their to see me win the title."

When queried as to why she said she lacked the confidence even though she had placed second in the Miss Essex County Contest last September, she went on to note that "My only ambition was not to get eliminated in the first round." And she didn't. In fact, she went on to pile up the phenomenal number of 88 out of 100 points, most ever in a Miss Hampton Beach Contest.

Physically, Judy has light brown hair and sparkling brown eyes. She stands 5 feet 6 inches in height, weighs 127 lbs. and her vital statistics are 36-24-35.

But it is more than the physical qualities that won the Manchester lass the top honors. Perhaps overly modest, Judy was nevertheless extremely excited about winning the crown. She burst into tears of happiness backstage when her name was announced as the winner.

Prior to moving to Manchester, 433 South Jewett Street, Judy lived for 14 years in Haverhill, Mass. In fact, she still travels to Haverhill to have her hair done. Perhaps its a good thing that she did, at least for her. For it was Mr. Valhouli's cousin who is the proprietor of the beauty salon and it was through him that Judy was eventually entered in the contest as sponsored by Hale Shoe of Hampton Beach.

Judy attended John Greenleaf Whittier grade and junior high school in Haverhill and then graduated last June from Manchester Memorial High School.

She is presently working as a payroll clerk. However, this fall she plans to enroll at the New Hampshire Barber School in Manchester and plans to become a lady barber. She took the college course in high school

The Collins View

By DICK COLLINS

A few nights ago I got the old '55 Chevy started and decided to take in a little scenery around the area. Over the bridge we went and into Salisbury, the other beach. We find that in this other beach there is no C of C or any other merchant group so the next step was to find out why. So after talking with a couple of businessmen I find the reason for no C of C etc. is that once this beach did have such an organization and they did try to give the beach a much needed boost but there were many other people trying to do just the opposite. Yours truly can remember when they did bring a high wire act and this took place in the center of the beach. It does seem strange to find a large business area like Salisbury with no C of C but business seems to be good just the same so I guess this business of no C of C has not really hurt the summer operators at this resort beach. Also on the outskirts of this beach there is the "Salisbury Drive-In" that features a lot of the oldies but goodies films. So if you have missed a certain picture that you wanted to see, watch the Beachcomber and hop in your wheels and watch all the stars under the stars.

At this point your reporter would like to give Harriet McCurdy credit for her ideas to promote the beach. The one about Miss New England was a very good one, Harriet. A few weeks ago I mentioned the playground; now I know a bit more and have met the staff that works there. One of my very good friends is Bill Fletcher who works as an attendant at the playground.

This is Bill's first year at the beach, he attends Austin Prep and is also a member of CAVE and does a lot of work for "NO". So, mommy your children are in good hands at the playground. There are more on the staff of course but at this time space does not permit but they are a great group working on a very low budget.

And now to make our weekly check with my THRUSH-

SPECTOR Agents: Tom at a local soda bar says "Let Me Be Free"; Frank Oatis at the office says "Help"; Carol Shine says "Tonight Is The Night"; Pat, Head Hostess at a local restaurant says "Yes, I'm Ready"; to Dennis at Mr. P's, "Girls Come Running"; Joan McCartney says, "It's Gonna Take A Miracle, and this being my birthday I wish myself a "Happy Birthday Baby".

And to the staff of CAVE, it's nice to be important but more important to be nice. R. L. C.

Local Women

The New England Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs will be held September 22, 23, 24 at Wentworth-by-the-Sea. The date for the Portsmouth District meeting is September 30 at Milton, N. H.

Mrs. Richard P. McDonough, Chairman of Status of Women, and Mrs. Robert Moebus, who has been appointed on the Hospitality Committee, attended from the Grafton Club, Portsmouth. Also present was Mrs. Charles Hussey, Jr., Director of Junior Clubs and a member of the Greenland Junior Women's Club, Inc., and Mrs. Cecil A. Man's Recipe

By HAYDN S. PEARSON

Cedelia's Chocolate Cookie

A garden in the evening is a heart-satisfying spot. The heat of the day is gone; quietness has settled over the countryside. The fever and tension of the working hours evaporates and the benediction of dusk lies on the land.

Blanche and I enjoy the hour when the sun has dropped behind the blue-black mountain and the shadows are bionacking in the lowland. Man's daylight hours are filled with the business of making a living, but when day is done and the hermit thrushes are singing their haunting requiem to day, the peace of Nature displaces man's turmoil.

This cookie needs one-third cup butter or margarine, two squares chocolate, one-half teaspoon almond extract, one tablespoon light corn syrup, one egg beaten, one cup sugar, one cup flour, one-fourth teaspoon soda, one-eighth teaspoon cloves, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-third cup chopped nuts, powdered sugar.

Put butter in quart and a half saucepan over low heat.

When it begins to melt, add chocolate and let it melt. Cool the liquid and add flavorings and syrup and mix. Add beaten egg and sugar and mix. Sift in flour with other dry ingredients. Mix; add nuts and mix again. Make batter into one inch balls and roll the balls in powdered sugar.

Bake at 350 for 11-12 minutes, but be careful not to overbake. Keep this cookie in a tight jar with a slice of bread. The cookie has a distinctive flavor but needs the bread to keep from getting too crisp.

Susan's Walnut Bread

I am not, I feel, an unduly curious-minded citizen. Many points concerning homo sapiens interest me and I occasionally conduct a personal poll in the interest of objective reporting.

For example, this business of guest towels is burgeoning into a serious situation. They come in multitudinous colors, many designs and with desperate attempts at humor and originality. However, if they keep making towels smaller and smaller, pretty soon they'll be so minuscule that one cannot use them.

As bathrooms become more scenic, first thing you know folks will hang pictures in them. My recent poll convinces me that the dinky, miniature pieces of cloth are for decor. I don't object, but let's face facts. There is nothing like a good turkish towel for drying.

For afternoon tea or supper, this bread goes well. Use three cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one and a fourth teaspoons salt, one and a fourth cups sugar, one cup of walnuts chopped, one egg beaten, one and a fourth cups milk, one tablespoon light cream, one-fourth cup butter or margarine melted, one tablespoon light brown sugar.

Sift flour with baking powder, salt and white sugar. Stir in nuts. Combine egg, milk, cream, melted butter and brown sugar. Mix with flour and stir well.

Bake in two loaf tins at 325 about 60 minutes or until done. Turn off the oven, and leave loaves in oven five or six minutes to brown.

"Ladies Night...": See To Believe

"Ladies Night In A Turkish Bath" — currently shaking the rafters at the Hampton Playhouse—must be seen to be believed. It is a wild combination of corny jokes, hammy acting, impossible situations and fantastic gimmicks that will provide you with one of your funniest evenings of the summer. Every play can't be "Hamlet" — and "Ladies Night In A Turkish Bath" never gets beyond the first syllable — but it is hilarious.

Ian Sullivan — recreating the role of the biology professor who is so frightened by women that he does not dare to look at a female in a low cut gown — has added embellishments and refinements (if that is a proper word in this play) to his characterization that makes it a masterpiece of comedy acting and his hilarious scene, when he gets a full dose of female flesh on finding himself in a Turkish bath for women, will roll you in the aisles.

Although, Sullivan's comic performance dominates the show, there are many contributing scenes scattered through the large cast that add to the high-jinks, so watch for the following belly-laughs: —

Diedre Owen, who plays the shy student in love with the shy professor, in her attempt to make love on the divan as the temptress.

Patricia Fay's similar failure on the same divan when she attempts to get the professor to make a pass at her on a bet with her husband of a fur coat against a box of cigars.

Marie Wallace when her dress gets caught in the professors zipper — and, of course, when she displays a real stunner of feminine charms in her usual second act strip which gle balloons like the famous Sally Rand of by-gone days. Marie Wallace is covered with a deep strip act by the simple expedient of a pin that bursts the balloons one at a time.

Anthony Palmer's observation of the strip act sitting on the rub down table in the Turkish bath dressed as a woman.

Dick Kennedy with his drunk scene in the last act when he bombs on stage dressed in a ballet costume.

The two veterans, Lucy Landau and Madge West with their rub down and steam bath scenes in the Turkish bath.

De French, as Mrs. Tarleton, and Rue McClanahan, as Kittie, in their mother and daughter scene along with Susan Howard's bit as the French maid.

The balance of the madcap cast was made up of Diane Johnson, Helen Dyer, Steve Warner, Francine Sockin, Anita Cigna, Linda Oliva, Charlotte Costello and Nomi Cammetti.

Co-Managers Al Christie and John Vari have apparently thrown "Ladies Night In A Turkish Bath" into their summer schedule as a breather before plunging into the intense and shocking drama coming up next week, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" It has been a good choice because the two plays are certainly at opposite ends of the poles. If you want a wild night of fun and laughter, "Ladies Night In A Turkish Bath" will keep you laughing from curtain to curtain and even out into the parking lot.

Children's Day Draws Near

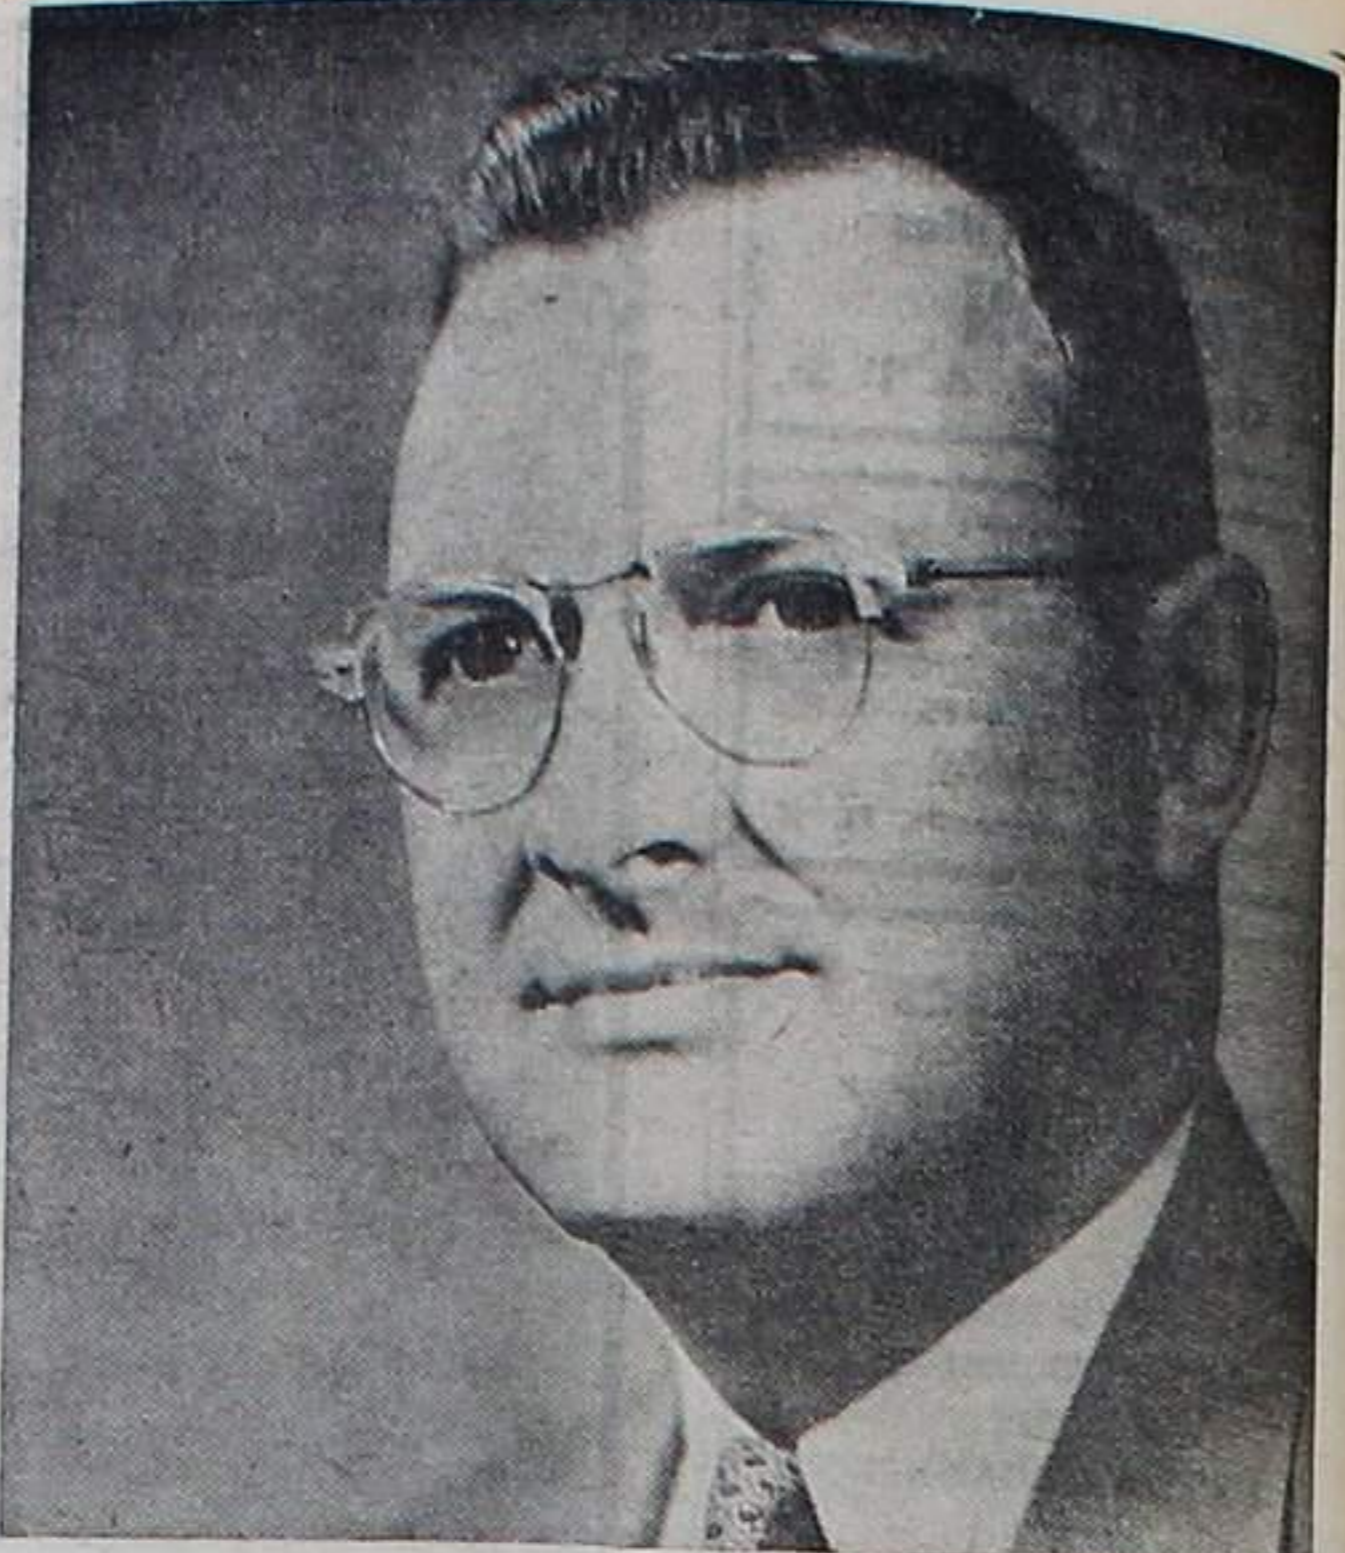

It's almost here. That day set aside for youngsters only at the beach.

Beginning at 11 a.m. on August 18th, there will be the annual sand castle competition on the sands from in front of the Sea Shell.

At 1 p.m. the parade of children will form at Ashworth corner at the junction of Ashworth Avenue and Ocean Blvd. Any child who desires to take part is asked to decorate a rolling toy or wear a costume. There will be many prizes awarded for such as the most original costume, best rolling toys and others. So get those bikes and baby carriages out. Decorate them to the best of your ability. Think of some unique costume. Every child on the beach is invited to take part in the parade with the line of march from Ashworth corner to the Sea Shell stage.

Immediately following the awarding of prizes to the youngsters the Junior King and Queen will be crowned in a brief coronation ceremonies on the stage of the Sea Shell.

At 2:30 p.m. the Hampton Beach Village Precinct Commissioners will again distribute free ice cream at the John C. White Memorial playground. The day long activities for the youngsters will close with a special band concert from 4-5 p.m.

PAUL N. WORMWOOD, 49, has been elected Vice-President, Treasurer and a Director of the Exeter Banking Co. A former Vice-President and cashier of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Greenfield, Mass., Wormwood will assume his new duties September 1. Wormwood is married to the former Ruth Johnson of Springfield, Mass., and the couple has four children.

YMCA Camp Lincoln Cited

YMCA Camp Lincoln at Kingston, Southern District Y.M.C.A. resident camp for boys ages seven to 14 has received accreditation and recognition from the National Council Y.M.C.A. for the fifth consecutive year, it has been announced by Charles "Tiny" Harmon of Portsmouth, Chairman of the Camp Lincoln Committee and Joseph Bassett, of Kingston, Chairman of the Camp Lincoln Development Committee.

The camp received national recognition under the standards and visitation plan of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. following several appraisals and inspections by representatives of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. A minimum score of 420 points was required to receive certification and Camp Lincoln received 591 points.

The certification cited the Camp Lincoln Committee and Camp Lincoln Development Committee, camp staff and Southern District Y.M.C.A. Executive and Camp Lincoln Director, Theodore C. Reidt of Exeter for the improvements in facilities and program during the 1965 season.

This summer Camp Lincoln is experiencing its finest season in its history as approximately 200 individual boys from across Rockingham County, other parts of New Hampshire and other states have been taking part in the many varied activities of Camp Lincoln's expanding program.

Sand Castle Contest Aug. 18

Calling all amateur architects. The traditional sand castle contest for all youngsters will be held on the sands in front of the Sea Shell beginning at 11 a.m. on August 18. All children interested in taking part in the competition are asked to be at the chamber of commerce building to register and receive their numbers by 10 a.m. on the day of the contest. Each year there is competition in this contest with youngsters vying for top trophies and prizes in several categories including most religious motif, most original, miniature and others. So get practiced up for the actual competition as time is of the essence. No foreign substance such as cement may be used. Only sand and water plus natural beach objects such as seaweed, shells, stones and wood found on the beach. The only other allowance for other materials is made for items constructed by the builder from paper or such. These might include miniature flags. The builders will all compete in a designated area on the beach and will be given between 20 and 30 minutes to complete their project. Judges will decide the winners and they will be announced from the stage of the Sea Shell immediately following the competition.

Musicians Win Talent Show

A talented young organist and an outstanding instrumental group copped the top awards in the August 2 talent show at the Sea Shell stage in the Junior and Senior division competition respectively.

Ten year old Cynthia Ann Garand, 32 Charles Street, Newburyport, Mass., playing "Feed the Birds" on the organ, walked off with the first place trophy in the Junior Division competition.

Second place honors went to Donna Hennings, 12, Boulder, Colorado who sang the same song. She was presented the trophy by Production Manager Henry Hamel. In third place in the Junior Division was Lynn Angelini, 6, 22 Arthur Street, Worcester, Mass. Lynn, a cute and talented youngster was attired in a bright kangaroo costume. She danced to "Lu Lu the Kangaroo."

Others taking part in the Junior Division were Dana Marie Bell, 10, and Mary Ann Griffin, 11, Chelmsford, Mass. and Clinton, Conn. They sang a duet "He's Got the Whole World In His Hands." Roberta Martelucci, 13, Cranston, R. I., sang and played the guitar while Janet Pasquariella, 7, of Schenectady, N. Y. tap danced. Also taking part was a singer, John Slattery, Lynn, Mass. and the Carlson Sisters, 10, 9, 8, and 6, Peabody, Mass. who sang and danced.

The Vee-Jay's from Haverhill Mass., an instrumental group consisting of three guitars and drums needed only about three minutes to unanimously walk off with the top award in the Senior Division. The group arrived late due to car trouble, set up quickly and then "wowed" the Sea Shell audience with a song.

Another quartet, this time of young ladies, called the Janettes and also from Haverhill, Mass., took the second place trophy with a dance routine.

Third place honors were won by Mitzie Forand, Methuen, Mass. who played the organ.

First place winners are scheduled to return to the stage of the Sea Shell on Monday, August 30th, to compete for the grand prize of the summer long talent shows.

Floats Wanted For Parade

Floats. Floats. Floats. As many floats as possible are wanted for the annual Hotel Association and Chamber of Commerce Parade of Floats on Saturday, August 21.

Trophies will be awarded this year to the winning entries. All merchants, businesses and individuals are invited to enter any type of float.

Information pertaining to the parade may be obtained by calling the chamber of commerce information booth. Instructions will be mailed immediately.

The chamber is in hopes of making this the biggest and best parade yet. Let's get busy on those ideas for floats and enter one this year even if it is only something simple.

Old Salts
Catch Haddock

Catches of haddock still predominated among those fish being boated or landed by the latest members of the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce Old Salts Club. But the big ones — Cod, Pollock and Blue Hake — are being caught of late as evidenced by the latest list of members released by the Chamber of Commerce Office.

John P. Driscoll, 422 High Street, Hampton, caught a 19 1/2 lb. Codfish and a 5 lb. Haddock to qualify while fishing aboard the "Princess Ruth II" with Bob Simons of Hampton as the skipper. The catches were made with rod and reel and were certified by weighing and checking clerks at the Smith and Gilmore pier.

Captain Simons, 9 Lamprey Terrace, Hampton, also qualified as he caught a 13 lb. Blue Hake with a handline and then landed a 6 lb. bass with a rod and reel.

One of the largest catches of the past couple of weeks as registered at the chamber office was that of a 21 lb. Pollock. The catch was made by George Demariais, 16 Cedar Street, Nashua.

On July 27 George Nordquist, 17 Vernon Street, Worcester, Mass., qualified with a catch of a 16 lb. Codfish. Not too many Cods have been registered as yet at the Old Salts headquarters in the chamber of commerce office.

Another of the large catches registered was that of Doctor S. Cucinotta, 1534 South Broad Street, Philadelphia, Pa. He caught a 22 lb. Pollock. The catch was certified by Officials at the Al Gauron Deep Sea Fishing headquarters.

John Gilligan led the list of those making the big catches with a 34 lb. Codfish. John, 24 West Point Terrace, Tariffville, Conn. made his catch on July 28th.

Also on July 28, Ken Hubbard, 1 Ocean Boulevard, Hampton Beach, N. H. caught a 12 lb. Blue Hake to qualify. The catch was made aboard the "Alice G" captained by Walt Sturgis.

Some of the other persons who qualified for membership during the recent weeks were Roy Tarboz, 261 Newbury Street, Peabody, Mass.; Bryon Madden, 345 Myrtle St., Manchester; Mark Welsh, 9413 Walhampton Drive, Louisville, Kentucky; Richard Welsh, 9413 Walhampton Drive, Louisville, Kentucky; and Debra Mullen, 13, 15 Thayer Street, Leonminster, Mass.

Others to gain membership during the recent weeks were Edward Coughlin, 52 Bennett St., Natick, Mass.; Dennis Reardon, 54 Bennet Street, Natick, Mass.; Lewis J. McGuire, 169 Pool Road, North Haven, Conn.; Jill Grise, 972 Tinkham Road, Wilbraham, Mass.; Mrs. Francis Courture, 65 Davis Street, Holyoke, Mass.

A GOOD DRIVER MUST BE KEPT IN REPAIR! Abenaki County Club Golf Pro Walt Hewins, left, gives Eric Johnson of North Hampton a few tips on wood play during a break in activities at the local club. Hewins has been pro at the course for several years but spends winters on Cape Cod as a school teacher. Johnson, captain of the Winnacunnet High School Golf Team last year, is working at Abenaki this summer.

Balanced Scales
Warmth and moisture brood

On the land. Heat from a brassy sun browns the lawns and cures grasses on thin-soiled uplands. Dawns are misty in the lowlands and fog patches hover on mountain shoulders. Day follows day with a seemingly unchanged pattern. The scales appear balanced. Twice in that period of time man labels a year. Time seems to pause while great forces behind the scenes consolidate for a season ahead. In February and again in August, the land and its life forms seem to mark time.

In the quietness of early morning hours, the few bird calls are strangely distinct. Fields and meadows, highland ridges and cattail-fringed swamps wait patiently through the hot hours. Goldenrod begin to lift shining spikes and blue vervain paints pictures in the low spots. Apples begin to weigh the boughs and acorns expand in flagreed saucers. Crikets' raspy fiddles in the aster bed beneath the kitchen windows scrape against the heavy silence of an August noon. Barn swallows gather on telephone wires above the yard and goldfinches swoop and swirl over the fields.

Time seems to pause, but one knows that behind the lassitude profound forces are pushing steadily toward the time of harvest and a new season. The scales, man says, are balanced; but it is only a surface indication. Time never stands still in nature or in man's life. Faith is the only anchor and the warmth and quietness of the eighth month are confirmation to him who looks for the deeper meanings.

Senior Citizens Entertain On Sea Shell

On Tuesday, August 3rd, a group of Senior Citizens from the Senior Citizens Club of Lowell, Mass. took over the stage of the Sea Shell under the supervision of Executive Secretary Bill Elliot of the Chamber of Commerce. Performing like professionals the group sang, danced and greeted to the enjoyment of the large and enthusiastic Sea Shell audience.

The program was opened with the entire company singing several of the old time favorite songs. With one of the members ceremonies, individuals from the group performed. First came several mouth organ solos. This was followed by an accordion solo including "My Wild Irish Rose" and "Harmony".

Two more of the members sang a duet. They chose "Meet Me in Dreamland" and "Someone Like You."

One of the highlights of the afternoon's entertainment included an old fashioned waltz by two members of the group. Both were attired in the costumes symbolic of the early 1900's.

At the close of the program, "Bill" Elliot recited several appropriate poems in honor of those attending the outing. He then presented a small plaque in the form of an achievement award to the oldest member present. She happened to be an 84 year old lady.

The entire group took part in the closing songs with such songs as "Dark Town Strutter's Ball", "McNamara's Band" and "Hello, Dolly."

The following day another Senior Citizens group from Natick was present for an outing at the beach. Mr. Elliot also presented an achievement award to a member of this group.

In addition to her mom and dad, Mr. and Mrs. David Reynolds, Judy has a proud 14 year old sister, Debbie. Debbie will be attending Memorial this fall. Her dad is a district manager for the John E. Cain Company.

But it didn't take the new Miss Hampton Beach long to realize that she was the winner and a mighty big winner, pointwise, at that. She said she hadn't been too nervous because she hadn't honestly expected to win. But when the contestants narrowed down to five girls she began to wonder a little. She said she tripped when she ascended the ballroom stairs for the last round.
