Queen City Beauty Captures Miss Hampton Beach Crown

MISS HAMPTON BEACH 1963-64, Beverly Ann Hebert, 18, Manchester, N. H., became the third New Hampshire girl in the past three consecutive years to cop the coveted title. The win came after five rounds of judging during which Miss Hebert piled up 71 of a possible 100 points. Placing a close second, only a few points behind the winner, was a local area girl, Miss Frances Houlihan of Seabrook, N. H. Third place honors went to Miss Lynda Rauding, also of Manchester. The win gave New Hampshire girls three winners in the 16 years of the contest. Massachusetts girls still hold the most wins with eight. Miss Hampton Beach was the third tallest girl in the contest at 5'8". The former title holder, Miss Jonnye McLeod, was unable to be present because of commitments in Florida following the Miss Universe contest. She will, however, be present for the official coronation ceremonies in August. — Photo by Colt

Miss Beverly Ann Hebert, an 18-year-old beauty from Manchester, became Miss Hampton Beach of 1963-64 in the annual beauty pageant staged by the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce under the direction of Henry Hamel and William Elliot last evening in the Casino Ballroom.

Sponsored by the Casino Ballroom, the 5'8" brunette contestant weighed 140 well-distributed pounds and her vital statistics read 36-25-36.

The second place winner and the first runnerup to Miss Hebert was a senior at Winnacunnet High school in Hampton, Miss Frances Houlihan of Seabrook. Miss Houlihan, in her first try in the local competition, piled up an impressive number of points as she was edged out by the winner. Only 16 years of age, she was the youngest girl to place in the top three this year. She was sponsored by the Tides Hotel.

Third place honors and second runnerup awards went to another Manchester lass, Lynda Rauding, 30 So. Taylor street. She, too, made a lasting impression on the judges and audience as she accumulated many final round points to walk off with the third place honors. Lynda was sponsored by the Anchorage Restaurant.

Thirty-seven contestants entered this year's race for the coveted Miss Hampton Beach title and faced tough competition. While Frank Lawlor's Hampton Beach Concert Band played background music, the girls were rated by a distinguished panel of judges headed by Claire Devaney, TV celebrity and well-known area fashion coordinator. Others on the panel were Walter Green, photo-editor for Associated Press International; Denny Whitmarsh, New England TV news expert; Jack Hamilton of the amusement section of the Boston Globe; and Claude Higgins from the Sullivan Agency, Boston, Mass.

This year, all top five girls received honors in the final stages of the contest. Selected as the fourth runnerup was Miss Louise Ann Richardson of Georgetown, Mass., the present reigning Miss New England. The third runnerup was Miss Nancy Joan Brackett, a comely blonde from Brighton, Mass.

Area residents will be interested to know that another Hampton girl, Miss Pam Hunter, sponsored by the Hampton Beach Lifeguards, placed seventh in the contest. Pam, an honor graduate of Winnacunnet High this year, was eliminated in the last round.

In an impressive ceremony, Miss Hebert received her robe and flowers from members of the court. She was crowned by Jay Dineen and was presented her trophy and savings bond by Joseph Flynn, president of the chamber of commerce. Trophies, crowns and savings bonds were also presented to the first two runnersup.

The new Miss Hampton Beach will be officially crowned by Miss Jonnye McLeod at the Coronation Ball in the Casino Ballroom, August 21. An interesting side-note to the contest is that Jonnye is now in Miami Beach, Florida, where she has been a participant in the Miss Universe contest as a result of winning the Hampton Beach title last year. This week, her proud parents were notified that she was being given screen and talent tests and therefore would not be at home for the local beauty contest last night.

Local Police Aid Stricken Hampton Youth

Hampton police were called early Monday morning, July 15, to rush Kenneth Ray Israel to the Exeter Hospital.

The former Winnacunnet High school star athlete, now in his second year of college, collapsed on B street near Foley's restaurant as he worked at his job as a town employee. Officer Curt McCrady responded with the police-cruiser ambulance. Israel has been residing at the Martin Gunther home on Exeter road during the summer months.

In a letter forwarded to Rep. Louis Wyman, the selectmen repeated their opposition stated in 1947, 1949 and 1959. They noted that the search and rescue activities are vital to the boating public. The board members also stated they believe the location of the station is essential to Hampton Beach, offshore North Hampton, Little Boar's Head and Rye.

It was also brought out that the local station requested the town provide a launching ramp at the lifeguard station for the use by the Coast Guard's duck and that the ramp had been built.

The Seacoast Regional Development association earlier requested that the Treasury department continue services at the Hampton Beach Life Boat Station.

The primary function of the local Coast Guard station is to aid disabled craft as well as render assistance in the event of emergencies which arise from time to time.

THREE TIME WINNER for the Monday evening talent show is a local girl, Denise Dupuis. Denise has captured first place in the first show of the year for the past three years.

Lass Takes Third Talent Show Win

An 11-year-old Hampton Beach lass, Denise Dupuis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dupuis of Winnacunnet Rd., has set some sort of record for the Monday evening talent shows.

Miss Dupuis recently took first place honors in the weekly show. Only in her third year of dancing lessons at Marie Patent's School of Dance of Hampton, Denise has copped the first place honors in the

for the past three seasons. Last year Denise teamed up with another student, Mark Goodnough of North Hampton to take coveted second place award during the season's end finals. At that time, the dance twosome was edged out by a young 12 year old organist from Amesbury, Mass. named Joyce Roy.

This season, Denise, was back for another try and, on her own, took top honors with a tap dance routine. She will return to the Sea Shell stage during the final week of August to participate once again in the talent show finals.

C of C Changes Schedule For Band Concerts

Changes and additions were made this week in the entertainment program offered by the Chamber of Commerce at Hampton Beach.

Following recommendations of the band committee, the directors of the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce at their regular weekly meeting voted to cutback the afternoon band concerts from two per afternoon to one. The schedule which will be tried on a trial basis with the band playing from 3-4 p.m., 7-8 and 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. week days. The Saturday and Sunday schedule and the talent show program will remain as previously set up... Mr. Al Ouellette, one of the area's top organ players, will play at the Sea Shell one evening a week on the new Chamber Conn Electric Organ. Mr. Joseph O'Neil of Lawrence, Mass., who is employed at the beach during the summer months will give a concert of songs next Sunday evening during the 7:30 p.m. band concert. The advertising schedule for the remainder of the year was approved at the recent meeting.

FORMER SHUFFLEBOARD CHAMPION of St. Petersburg for players over 70 years of age is William Ryan, 89, a recent visitor to the beach.

Shuffleboard Champ Hale And Hearty 89

William E. Ryan, 89, 478 No. avenue, Haverhill, Mass., the former shuffleboard king of St. Petersburg for those folks over 70 years of age, recently made one of his frequent visits to Hampton Beach.
Mr. Ryan, who has wintered for the past 45 years in St. Pete, took the top shuffleboard honors in 1959. In 1960 and 1961 he placed second. Hoping to gain the top honors in 1962, Mr. Ryan was hospitalized during the time the shuffleboard championships were being held.
Hale and hearty as he approaches 90, Mr. Ryan still gives exhibitions of ballroom dancing. When in his prime, he played professional soccer and rugby in England.
He and Mrs. Ryan were married for over 60 years before Mrs. Ryan passed away. Mr. Ryan noted last week, as he visited at the chamber of commerce, that he is a frequent visitor at the beach throughout the summer months.

Old News Items Recall Historic Past At Beach

In mid-August, Hampton and Hampton Beach will be celebrating its founding 325 years ago. Down through the years, history has been made in many ways, much of which is being recalled today through local historic-minded citizens and the Meeting House Green Memorial and Historical Society in Hampton.

The BEACHCOMBER, in an effort to assist in recalling the past of Hampton will, from time to time, offer items taken from back issues of circulations of the Hampton Publishing company.

"It was back in 1897 that the first cars of the Exeter-Hampton Beach Railway began running at Hampton Beach. Two years later, the Casino was built and in 1901 the Ocean House was constructed. Eventually, the streetcar line connected with Haverhill, Salisbury and Amesbury and before it went out of existence it was called the Exeter-Hampton-Amesbury Street Railway". Traffic problems? They were few.

Dancers Cop Talent Contest

Two dance artists took top honors in the senior and junior divisions of the talent show at the Sea Shell Monday evening.
Robert Beaupre, 11, 565 Western avenue, Lynn, Mass. walked off with the first place junior division trophy with a song and dance routine to "Everywhere You Go."
Second place was won by John Slattery II, 17 Curwin circle, Lynn, Mass. who sang "Wooden Heart". This was the first major competition for the second place winner.
Bernard McDonough, 13, 20 Rosemary street, Jamaica Plain, Mass. played a medley on the glockenspiel from "My Fair Lady."
Others taking part in the junior division were Patricia Uglietto, 13, 49 Lowell street, Somerville, Mass., who played the accordion to "Never On Sunday." James Woodsum, 9, 26 Lindel street, Haverhill, Mass., danced to "Bye Bye Blackbird." A quintet of Patricia Murphy, 10, and Karen Murphy, 6; Port Chester, New York, Lueen Keenan, 11, Massapeque Park, New York, Nancy Donovan, 12, Somerville, Mass. and Charlotte Dempsey, 11, Warwick, R. I. sang "The Ditty".
A 15-year-old lass from Worcester, Mass., Terry Lavin, won the first place senior division trophy as she did a tap dance to "Rock-a-Bye Your Baby With A Dixie Melody."
Another 15-year-old, Sue Beach, of Rochester, gained the second place honors as she sang "America the Beautiful".
Darlene Jeanne Brown, 252 Westford street, Lowell, Mass., won the third place trophy in dancing to "Tuxedo Junction".
Others taking part in the senior division were Beverly E. Sewade, 19, 17 Boston street, Lawrence, Mass., who danced to "Once In A Lifetime" and Corcene Robillard of Fairview, Mass. who sang "I Enjoy Being A Girl."
The first three winners in each division were awarded trophies while the runners-up were presented candy from Margaret Jenkins candy shop. Serving as production manager for the show was Henry Hamel while "Bill" Elliot was master of ceremonies. Paul Bolich was the accompanist for the program.
The winners of each division will return to take part in the finals the latter part of August.

Body Recovered From River Near Seabrook Bridge

The body of a man identified by police as Benjamin Corbett of Rye was discovered early Wednesday morning near the Seabrook side of Hampton River.
Police reported that the body was discovered in the water by a resident on the Seabrook side of the river at approximately 5:45 a.m.

The officials also noted that the man had been reported missing since 4:15 p.m. Tuesday afternoon. Authorities reported his death was apparently due to accidental drowning.

The irascible Irishman, Brendan Behan, writes plays like he drinks whisky—immorally disrespectfully and with over-indulgent vigor. The New England premier of Behan's "The Hostage", currently at the Hampton Playhouse, is like accompanying the author on one of his drunken brawls where one moment you are groveling in the gutter and the next full of high purpose and compassion—where one moment everything is an unintelligible jargon of jibberish and then a flash of light comes through loud and clear.

The setting is in a bordello.

The characters run the gamut from the poor man's Christine Keeler — deviates — religious fanatics—political maniacs—to a sweet and lovely little maid in this sordid atmosphere. Behan has utter contempt for the mores of society and expresses his views in colorful language. If you are sensitive to such immorality, stay away from the Hampton Playhouse this week—because it is a real shocker.

"The Hostage" may be compared with an abstract painting. The format is free and un-conventional unlike any play you have ever seen before. The significance is obscure and open to individual interpretation. But the characterizations are strong and violent like use of a bold palette on canvas. You may leave the theatre shaking your head—lost for a meaning—but you will not forget the play or the characters. They will continue to haunt your thinking.

Naomi Riesman, as the aging prostitute, and Marie Jordan, as the young prostitute, and Sarah Christie, as the "ancient lady of the evening, produce an excellent picture within their own framework which simultaneously presents a chronology of the fallen woman from youth to old age.

Freddy Hoskins and Daniel Olin were exceptional in the repulsive roles of deviates with Hoskins as the transvestite and Olin as the bearded beatnik. Louis Beachner and Betty Bright, as the hypocritical, psalm-singing do-gooders, vividly paint another separate portrait within the framework of "The Hostage". The role of political screwball or dedicated loyalist gets outstanding performance from Walter Berry and, although, he hardly has a line except "nyet", Richard Kneeland is another bright spot of color in the overall pattern as the drunken Russian sailor.

Stephen Levi and Sonny Spiller round out the fine cast as the IRA officer and the volunteer respectively. Also, one can not overlook Madeline Meredith who spends her time in the pit at a piano which accompanies the incidental singing that breaks forth at odd and unexplained moments throughout the play.

This is an adults only play—but there are also limitations on the adults which should attend "The Hostage". There are many bawdy situations—lots of gutter language—a glut of sacrilege—and a good dose of political misgiving. If your nervous system cannot tolerate this sort of play, it is not for you. Also, do not be disappointed if you do not understand what the play is all about—because you will not be alone in your confusion—the rest of the audience will come out shaking their heads too. View this particular play—"The Hostage"—for its savage characterizations—its savage attacks upon the acceptable mores of society—and its underlying sorrow for the sufferings and misfortunes of an unhappy group of people.

Red Cross Suggests Boating Safety Tips

The rules of the waterways are as important to safe boating as traffic regulations are to safe driving, Jeremy Russman, Water Safety chairman for the Exeter District Chapter of the American Red Cross said today.

He listed these rules:

1. When two boats approach each other at an angle the boat coming from the right has the right of way, the boat at left must yield.
 2. Rowboats have right of way over power or sailboats.
 3. Sailboats have right of way over power boats.
 4. Boats being overtaken have right of way.
- Russman also recommended enrollment in any of the classes in boat operation conducted by the Coast Guard Auxiliary, U. S. Power Squadron and some Red Cross chapters, and urged boatmen to observe these safety precautions:
1. Be sure everyone in the boat knows how to swim. If you must have a non-swimmer aboard, make him or her wear a life jacket.

2. Don't overboard. Keep passengers in boat down to a safe number.

3. Don't overpower the boat; your dealer can tell you the size of motor safe for your boat.

4. Equip boat with safety items such as anchor, oars, boat hook, extra line, fire extinguisher, tool kit, first aid kit and life jacket or preserver for every passenger. Running lights are a must if you plan to be on the water at night.

5. Check U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts before taking your boat on open water. If you are going far it is a good idea to take along a transistor radio to keep you posted on the weather.

6. Stay with your boat if it capsizes. Usually it will float, even though filled with water. Exceptions are if the boat is dangerously near a waterfall or in heavy surf, or if the water is very cold.

"The Unsinkable Molly Brown" Opened At Ogunquit

Meredith Willson's musical hit "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" starring Barbara Gilbert and Don Crabtree, opened Monday evening, July 22, at John Lane's Ogunquit Playhouse, Ogunquit, Maine.

"Has Meredith Willson come anywhere near to matching his 'The Music Man'?" The answer is YES, with a fanfare from the brass section", hailed Newsweek Magazine following the triumphant opening on Broadway in November, 1960, when advance ticket sales for this joyful musical had mounted to over $1,000,000. "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" captivated New York theatre-goers for 15 months and when it closed to begin its national tour had racked up 533 performances.

This colorful, soaring rag-to-riches tale stars Barbara Gilbert in the title role of the real-life heroine who rose out of a hillbilly's shack in Hannibal, Mo., by way of a roaring Colorado mining camp, to storm Denver and international society. Her marriage to Leadville Johnny Brown, who made a silver-mine strike almost equal to the Comstock Lode, and her ultimate fame as a survivor of the Titanic sinking, caused the United Press International to rave, "A hearty and heart-warming slice of Americana." Miss Gilbert, seen on Broadway in "The Pajama Game" and "Put It in Writing", and at New York's fashionable Blue Angel night-club, brings all the explosive energy to this memorable Willson role.

Seen as Leadville Johnny Brown will be Don Crabtree, who played the role in the National Company and appeared opposite Broadway's "Molly".

Miss NE Contest Set For August 13

Applications are being accepted by Production Manager Henry Hamel of the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce for the 7th annual Miss New England contest to be held August 13 at the Casino Ballroom.

Mr. Hamel had to close the registrations for this year's Miss Hampton Beach contest long before the July 22 deadline because of the high interest expressed in the large number of early registrants. Many girls were turned down after the registrations passed the 40 mark.

A similar interest in the Miss New England contest is evidenced by the number of girls who have already been registered for the pageant. This contest is limited to New England girls only whereas the Miss Hampton Beach contest is open to all girls.

More than 250 girls have taken part in the first 6 years of the contest.

Because of the anticipated large amount of registrations for this contest, Mr. Hamel has asked all girls who desire to enter to contact him at the chamber of commerce office as soon as possible.

Fun-O-Rama Owner Seeks Penny Owner

In today's classified columns under "Found" is the following ad: "Found, a Good Luck Penny dated 1930, encased in aluminum horseshoe. Owner please contact Roger Shaheen, Fun-O-Rama Park, Salisbury Beach."

It is unusual that anyone would advertise such a common article as a Good Luck Penny, so, our curiosity aroused, we asked Mr. Shaheen why he was going to the trouble of trying to locate the owner. "We find many items that have sentimental attachments here at the park, and we fortunately are able to return to their owners a great portion of them—but this little horseshoe could belong to the luckiest man alive," he said.

It seems that the night before this penny was found, Fun-O-Rama Park gave major prizes to one of the biggest winners in the park's twelve year history. "I would like very much to meet this man personally, give him back his horseshoe, and then wish him well at Coney Island," said Roger.

Safety Tips For Boaters

LIGHTS — If boaters plan to operate boats between sunset and sunrise, light are required. Boats under 26 feet in length must display either of two arrangements including (1), white light on the stern visible for 2 miles and a white light on bow visible for 3 miles, along with separate side lights visible for 1 mile; (2), white light stern, visible for 2 miles, white light atop cabin, visible for 3 miles and a combination red and green light on the bow, visible for 1 mile.

The aforementioned light arrangements are the regular international requisites as outlined in the international rules.

Inland lighting rules consist of white light on the stern, visible for 2 miles and a combination red and green light on the bow visible for 1 mile.

Marsh Committee Notes Gift

The Hampton Marsh Conservation committee announced another gift of seven acres of salt marsh by Mr. and Mrs. Horace Batchelder of Towle road. This brings the total to slightly over 100 acres now donated for "wildlife and conservation purposes", with other offers still in process.

As a part of the 325th anniversary of Hampton a public recognition ceremony is planned for 2 p.m. on August 15 near the Tide Mill Creek Bridge area. A large granite boulder, which may have been moved by ox team to be part of a boundary fence in former days, has been moved and cemented in a position overlooking Tide Mill Creek.

A work party has placed fieldstones around the boulder and planted two arbor vitae, Rugosa roses donated by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kennedy of Great Boar's Head, and old fashioned roses from the family gardens of Miss Mary Ruth Perkins and the late Miss Adelaide C. Marston.

Members of the work party included Mrs. Richard Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perkins and family, Miss Mildred Perkins, Mrs. Pauline Stimson, Mr. Earl Spear, Miss Ruth Stimson and Mrs. Margaret Lawrence. Mr. and Mrs. John Higgins made a contribution toward the evergreens as did two Conservation Committee members.

The tentative program for the August 15 occasion, which is open to any resident or tourist visitor, is as follows: Welcome and Invocation by Rev. Howard Danner; Remarks by Harold Fernald of Hampton Historical society and director Ralph Carpenter, of N. H. Fish and Game department.

WARNING ISSUED

Local chamber of commerce officials and heating contractors issued a warning this week to local residents to thoroughly check the credentials of persons who state that the persons need new furnace or chimney equipment.

Several complaints have been received in both the Exeter and Hampton areas that such persons have been operating in the area.

It was noted that most of the firms are authenticated. However, to eliminate any doubt, persons told they need such repairs should not act hastily. After checking the credentials, one should contact their own heating or fuel delivery service man and obtain at least two work estimates from local area businessmen.

Nearly all businesses can be checked through the local chamber of commerce or the police department via a telephone call.

Renew Construction On Police Station

With a target date of Labor Day in their sights, workmen from the Peirce Construction company of Stratham commenced work in full force earlier this week on construction of the new Hampton Police department facilities on Ashworth avenue.

The structural steel and roof girders arrived last week and have been stored in the Ashworth avenue garage. The steel door frames arrived earlier this week and the one item which has been holding up the entire project, the window frames, is expected to arrive later this week or early next week.

Mr. Russell Peirce, architect, was on hand early this week to iron out a few problems and noted that the project should now progress rapidly. The workmen had the walls of the outside of the new facilities approximately half way up at mid week and were going ahead at a rapid rate. Officials reported the masons were endeavoring to lay all the exterior blocks that were possible prior to the insertion of the window frames.

Town Manager Kenneth Bochner reported earlier this week that town workmen would be meeting with the contractor in the near future regarding the construction of the underground sewerage work. Other sub-contractors were already on the job installing much of their work.

Frolicking Comedy Next At Playhouse

A riotously mad and naughty farce comedy that kept Broadway audiences howling for over two years is coming to the Hampton Playhouse from July 29 thru August 3... it's called, "How Far Is The Barn?!", by Lawrence Riley.

The play's merriment centers around a movie star more remarkable for her shapely figure than for her brains. As the plot begins, she is making a personal appearance in Scranton, Pa., in connection with her latest film. The complications pile up in a little village on the road toward her next appearance in Wilkes-Barre, when her luxurious car breaks down, depositing her, her maid, her chauffeur, her mound of baggage and her "Public Relations Counsellor" upon the doorstep of a peaceful family who run a "tourists accommodated" home.

Mr. Riley uses this juxtaposition of Hollywood glamor and small-town simplicity to make devastating fun of the Hollywood queen, letting his audience see the cheapness beneath the grandeur of a vulgar girl who had jumped to stardom simply because she had the right curves in the right places. Predatorily she also has an over-abundance of the right instincts in the wrong places. The duty of her "public relations counsellor" is not so much attending to her affairs, so much as keeping her out of as many as possible. In the little Pennsylvania village, until the star's palatial foreign car can be repaired, he is particularly concerned with running interference against her plan to take away the handsome, innocent and husky strapping gas station attendant who has attracted her roving eye, from the sweet home-town girl this local yokel has expected to marry.

The New York Daily News called it, "The smartest of the new comedies!" and Brooks Atkinson the New York Times critic said it is "Sprinkled with wisecracks and assorted buffoonery!"

"How Far Is The Barn?!" is Grade A amusement!

Local Skin Divers To Aid Lobstermen

Recent dives held by the club were an overnight trip to the Isles of Shoals and a dive in Lake Wimpisaukee as guests of the Laconia Skindiving club, the Yankee Tankers. At the monthly meeting the members vetoed the purchase of a compressor for club use, since local air supply services are excellent. They also went on record as favoring Representative Donald Ring's proposal to establish an aquarium in the seacoast area as an educational aid and tourist attraction.

This operation is possible because traps are required by law to be marked by their owners. It has been cleared with the Fish and Game Department and an officer may be on hand to oversee the recovery. Several lobstermen have already requested this service and will point out to the divers the areas where they believe lost gear is located.

Long Lost Hoosgow Comes Home At Last

The temporary jail, to be used by the Hampton Police department during the remainder of the summer months until the new police facilities are completed, arrived last week and has been erected in the Ashworth avenue garage.

The all steel structure was this week awaiting a door which was scheduled to be installed and bolted down. Town Manager Kenneth Boehner also noted that special bar type windows are slated to be inserted as soon as possible.

Mr. Boehner this week said the jail will be used strictly on a temporary, emergency basis and no added features will be included in the structure.

The unit is slated to house the town bulldozer either at the town work sheds off Academy avenue or at the town gravel pit following the completion of the new station.

Biologist Featured By Area Garden Club

The Rye Beach - Little Boar's Head Garden club recently sponsored an illustrated talk by Milton Anderson, biologist for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service, Department of the Interior.

The meeting was held Tuesday evening at the Farragut Hotel.

A film, "Marshlands Are Not Wastelands" was shown. The talk consisted of "Our Endangered Wetlands" which was concerned specifically with the New Hampshire marshlands.

New Show Is Smashing Hit

The clothes of one lady were dripping wet following an impromptu dip in the Atlantic Tuesday morning. Four others had their faces covered with blueberries and several other adults became winded when they were called upon to blow up balloons.

All the above antics were part of the latest form of entertainment arranged by the directors of the Hampton Beach Chamber of Commerce for the pleasure of visitors to the beach. In a take-off of the "Breakfast at the Beach" program which proved so popular at Hampton Beach several years back, the new Audience Participation program held at the Sea Shell at 11:15 a.m. Tuesday morning proved a tremendous hit with old and young alike.

Such a program was not unfamiliar for MC "Bill" Elliot who has worked on the stage for more than 40 years. In fact, back when he was one of the quartet known as "The Goofs" of WEEI-CBS radio fame, the group performed similar antics to keep the crowd roaring with laughter. Mr. Elliot and Production Manager Henry Hamel dug deep into their bag of tricks Tuesday and, although there was a definite threat of rain, they had the Sea Shell packed with viewers and participants before the show was over.

Five persons took part in the balloon blowing contest with Mrs. Dorothy Boulanger of Andover, Mass., winning in record time. Close behind was Albert Des Rosiers of Chicopee, Mass.

For the children, the contest of the morning was a balloon breaking contest. Jane Mears of Beverly, Mass., emerged the victor when she nimbly leaped into the air and came down with both feet to pop her balloon. Close behind was Jeff Morgan of Andover, Mass., who also leaped upward with both feet but while he was still in the air Miss Mears took the top prize.

The old-fashioned blueberry pie eating contest proved to be one of the most popular of the RECORD CROWD jammed the sands of Hampton Beach seeking some relief from the recent heat wave is shown in the lower photo. Beach officials estimated the crowd as in the neighborhood of 130,000 persons. Despite the large throngs no serious mishaps were reported in the local area. Police and firemen were kept busy rendering first aid for many minor problems including too much sun and many cuts and bruises. Life guards reported no serious difficulty despite the record number of bathers who took advantage of the warm water of recent days.
