Tales of pirates and poets abound at Shoals

With a curious history dating back to pirates and vikings, and with a literary background credited to poet Celia Thaxter, the Isles of Shoals have become an endeared spot to native New Englanders and summer residents alike.

Just 10 miles off the mainland, the islands are discernable from Hampton Beach on a clear day. At high tide there are eight islands in the group, and nine at low tide, because Seavy and White islands are actually connected by a low-lying area covered when the tide comes in.

The Isles serve as a research center for various groups, including students at Winnacunnet High School in Hampton. Under the direction of Harold Fernald, a Hampton history and anthropology teacher and a statewide lecturer on New Hampshire history and folklore, students come to the Isles of Shoals every year.

Fernald, who has continued to bring groups here since 1963, said, "I use the Shoals as my outdoor classroom. They are an invaluable teaching aid. When I bring classes there, I like to also bring instructors from three departments — history, biology and English. All three subjects can easily be taught by using the Shoals as background."

STAR ISLAND

Star is the most publicized island in the group, as it functions as the main center of activity in the summer. Daily boat excursions run between Star Island and Portsmouth Harbor daily all summer long (see separate story), allowing visitors to stay aboard ship or disembark for several hours on the island itself.

The largest building on Star Island is the hotel and conference center, a grand old building which serves as host to a number of "regulars" who attend annual conferences on the island. Although "day trippers" who take the cruise from Portsmouth are allowed in the hotel lobby, snack bar and gift shop on the lower level, they cannot stay overnight. Only 100 day trippers are permitted on Star Island daily.

The central function of the island is to host the series of religious and secular conferences which have shaped the character of Star Island. For while it lies dormant all winter, Star caters to a constant flow of "Shoalers" all summer who habitually attend the conferences.

Those attending the conferences stay on the island for one or more weeks. The island is said to afford a special sort of concentration necessary for the conferees because of its isolation and serenity. In fact, the conferences are so much in demand that they are booked to capacity soon after registration opens each spring.

Young people who want to spend time on the island can apply to be "Pelicans," a group of college-age students who live and work on Star Island all summer. Functioning in various capacities at the conference center, the Pelicans are a valuable source of information regarding the history and traditions of the Isles of Shoals.

"The Shoals have become a family tradition for many people," said Mrs. Theadora Nash, who lives on Star Island all summer and was a longtime employee of the Star Island Corporation in Boston. "Often, Pelicans marry other Pelicans and return every summer afterwards with their children. Star Island has a very romantic atmosphere, so it is no wonder so many people fall in love with each other and with the island while they are here in the summer."

The nooks and crannies of Star Island are indeed a romantic setting. Visitors, whether conference delegates or day trippers, may roam about the island and investigate its rocky coast, the variety of plant life, and the several curious little buildings which still remain.

Each time the Viking Queen prepares to leave Star Island for the mainland, the Pelicans stand on the dock, wave to the people departing, and chant a traditional verse which includes the words "You will come back." Tradition and folklore maintains anyone who visits the Isles always returns eventually. With what Star Island has to offer, it is no wonder.

APPELDORE

The largest of all the islands, Appledore belongs almost entirely to the Star Island Corporation. The firm leases Appledore to Cornell University, which maintains a marine science laboratory there for research work.

Dotted with numerous coves and cottages, Appledore was the setting where poet Celia Thaxter created most of her works. Her cottage at one time served host to artists in various fields, such as painting and classical music.

Thaxter made Sandpiper Beach on the island famous when her poem, "One Little Sandpiper and I," was published. Her works appeared in The Atlantic Monthly from time on time.

Still remaining, though in an extreme state of disrepair, are the remains of what was once Appledore Academy. At one time this served as an academy for boys, which was highly respected and well patronized by those from the mainland. The building was established so long ago that no specific dates have been determined regarding the con-

The Cover

ON THE COVER of this week's Beachcomber is the White Island lighthouse to warn Atlantic mariner's. White Island is one of the famed nine Isles of Shoals situated eight miles off the coast of New Hampshire and Maine.

The Isles of those two states are fraught with history and have played an important part in the development of Europe and more importantly the New Hampshire coast.

Day trips to Shoals aboard the Viking Queen

One-day return trips to the Isles of Shoals are available throughout the summer aboard the Viking Queen....

From June 19 through Labor Day, the party boat will run daily excursions from Viking Dock at Portsmouth Harbor, off Market Street. The dock is most easily accessible to travelers from Rte. I-95, exit 7.

The first week, June 19-25, the Viking Queen will make two round trips a day, leaving the dock at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Starting June 26, a 6 p.m. dinner cruise will be added, featuring live entertainment every evening.

On the evening cruise, a clam bake will be held while the ship stops at Star Island for approximately one hour, three nights a week — Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The other evenings will instead offer a buffet supper on the nightly cruise. The ship returns to Portsmouth at 9 p.m.

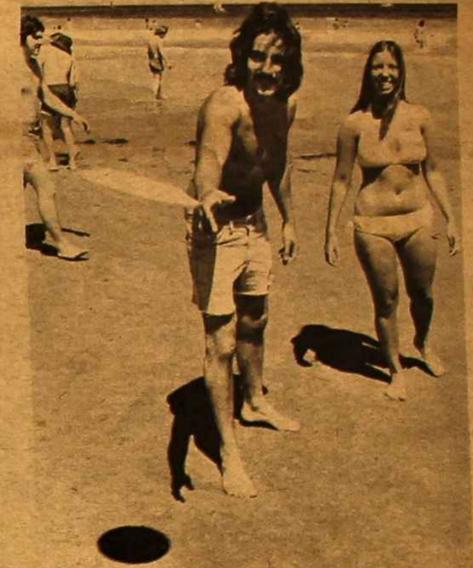

Ticket price for the evening cruise with dinner is $12, with reservations required by noon the day of the trip. No reservations are taken for the day trips, which are filled on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The charge for the 11 a.m. trip varies between the two options available. For $7, morning passengers may leave the ship at Star Island and spend the day there on their own, being picked up by a later return stop. The other choice on the morning cruise is a 2 1/4-hour narrated tour of the islands, with passengers remaining aboard ship the entire time, at a fee of $5. (Prices are $1 less for children.)

The trip leaving at 2 p.m. is strictly a narrated tour, like the 11 a.m. option. Highlights of the tour, according to narrator Captain Arnold Whittaker, include: the view of old forts and Strawberry Banke along the Piscataqua River, the Shoals Marine Laboratory on Appledore, one of the older houses in the state of Maine on Smuttynose, the Oceanic Hotel on Star.

Not only are the points of interest an enjoyable part of the excursion, but so is the boat cruise itself. The Viking Queen, built in 1974, is impeccably maintained year-round. It is double-decked, all steel, and 109 feet long. The lower deck has wall-to-wall carpeting and heat for chilly days, along with a snack bar (and liquor license). The 385-capacity ship is fully equipped with navigational aids, radar, and ship-to-shore communications.

CHAMPION FRISBE TEAM of the weekend at Hampton Beach was Steve Coppez and Debby Kokoszka of Manchester.

Try picnics for a pace change

A summer picnic can be a delightful change of pace for the entire family, and a few special touches can make picnicking easier and more fun for everyone.

Pack all picnic items, including food, silver or plasticware, paper plates and napkins, plastic glassware and cups, in a large tote basket. It's much easier to find everything if it's all together.

Try making hamburgers ahead. Form patties, add salt and seasonings, chopped onions if you like, wrap them in foil (6 to a package with Cut-Rite wax paper in between the patties to prevent sticking together) and freeze.

By the time you arrive at your picnic spot and get the grill going, the hamburgers should be thawed and ready for cooking.

Fresh corn-on-the-cob makes a picnic perfect. Don't try to pick off the corn silk — take a damp, clean white Scot Towel and rub downward on the ear. The strands will come off easily.

Take along colorful Scott placemats and decorated Viva napkins. Because they're paper, they can be tossed away in the trash can when the picnic is over for less cleanup and less to carry home.

Kids and picnics often add up to messy hands and faces. Take along plenty of damp, clean paper towels in a plastic bag for sticky fingers and faces or anything else that needs a quick wipe.

Hurricane lamps make an ideal centerpiece for picnic tables. They're colorful and particularly useful as the picnic runs into the late evening hours. Be considerate — clean up after your picnic so the spot will be nice for others. Put all disposable items in a trash barrel. If no trash barrel can be found, take your trash home in a plastic bag for disposal.

Fishing with Jamie

JAMIE BEDARD

By JAMIE BEDARD
In opening this weeks article I would like to ask my readers to stay away from lobster bouys at sea, be sure not to cut these bouys off with your propellers while passing them and do not tie your boats on these lobster trap bouys while fishing at sea. Drop your own anchor. This kind of thoughtless action is very costly in time and money to our commercial lobster fishermen who are having their bouys cut off. These fishermen are our friends and protectors on our coast.

Sea perch fishing is quite good on the shore areas, but is slowing down on the offshore areas. These fish have begun to move in shore to spawn on the sands and rocks.

Three miles offshore cod fishing is great with fish from eight to twelve pounds being caught. You still can catch the smaller cod fish too, but the bigger ones are more fun to catch. The cod fishing inshore has slowed down quite a bit this past week.

Flounder fishing is great a little offshore up and down the whole coast over the sandy areas. Nice sized flounder are being caught. Flounder fishing is especially good on the sandy areas between the bar and Boars Head, but you must be in these particular areas at just the right time. The reason being when the water is clear you can see them on the bottom. If the time is not right, they just won't bite.

Mackerel have begun to show up in the area. Party boat owners are now bringing mackerel in, they say. These fish can be caught off the Isles of Shoals. It is a bit early for them to work their way inshore, yet they will be inshore around June 20th. This is also the best time to eat mackerel as they are nice and lean and not so oily.

Pollock fishing has slowed down lately, but as things pick up and the weather warms up, they will become more abundant

Clamming regulations set

HAMPTON — New shellfish regulations have been announced by the N.H. Fish and Game Department. The rules went into effect Jan. 1 this year. The new rules have eliminated Sunday as a day for clam digging. Clams may only be taken on Friday, Saturday and legal holidays in Hampton, Hampton Falls and Seabrook.

In the case of a legal holiday falling on a Sunday, Monday will be observed as the day to dig clams.

The move to limit clam digging has been made to help build up depleted clam beds, according to a Fish and Game Department spokesman. Too many clams have been taken from the flats and it is increasingly more difficult for clam diggers to fill their buckets, he said.

Hampton harbormaster Fred Clews Jr. said digging is not getting better. For better digging, Clews indicated the flats should be closed for a growing season when the flats can be "reseeded" with baby clams.

He remembered when the flats were closed down several years ago for a few seasons and when reopened clamming was "fantastic."

He feared complete depletion and possibility of nonrenewal of the clam beds if in our waters.

Coho salmon is still quite scarce in the area. I have watched a lot of them jumping on Shoal Edge this week, which indicates they too are a bit early. But salmon fishing will improve. Small sea bass are now on the Ledges. These fish are not to be confused with striped bass, but both make very tasty dishes.

Clam flats open

HAMPTON — The N.H. clam flats were reopened last Friday by Fish and Game officials. The flats had been closed for over a month due to 'Red Tide.' But officials have determined that clam digging can begin again.

the flats are not shut down soon.

Clamming is allowed in any day of the year in Rye and other seacoast towns. But violations of clamming regulations means whoever is caught can be liable to a $100 fine.

Of course, before going clamming a license is required and it must be displayed at all times when clamming. To obtain a license a person must be a state resident. Licenses cost $4.50 for residents over 12-years-old and $2.50 for under 12-years-old. Licenses may be obtained through license agents at Merrill's Store on Lafayette Road, Hampton Falls; Rita Graham's at 312 Portsmouth Ave., Seabrook Beach; Pow Wow Bait and Tackle Shop in Kingston; the Rifle and Musket Shop, 118 Lafayette Road, Hampton; Post Road Grocery, Post Road, North Hampton; or North Hampton town clerk Delores Chase; Robert Tessier, Portsmouth Avenue, Stratham; Benson's Store, Martin Street, Derry; Garrison's or Young's Hardware, Front Street, Exeter; Village Store, Greenland; Canteen Trading Center, Maplewood Avenue, Portsmouth; or Gallagher's, 801 Islington St., Portsmouth.

To acquire a license a resident tax receipt from last year is required.

Junior Olympics set

HAMPTON — The Fifth Annual Junior Olympics sponsored by the Hamptons Jaycees will be held on Saturday, June 26 beginning at 9 a.m. at Winnacunnet High School.

In the event of rain the meet will be held on Sunday, June 27.

The Junior Olympics is a program of track and field events for boys and girls between the ages of eight and sixteen years old living in Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls and Seabrook. Any youngster who is in good health and has a desire to compete may participate. No special equipment is required and hot dogs, cold drinks, and candy will be available for purchase.

Events vary according to age group, however a typical set of events is: 50 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, running long jump, and softball throw (high jump and mile run for older age groups). Ribbons will be awarded to the top three contestants in each event and trophies will be awarded to the "Junior Champion" in each age group based on total number of points scored in all events.

Any youngster who finishes first in an event or is an overall winner in his or her age group will be eligible to compete in the New Hampshire State Junior Olympics in Nashua on July 27. Registration forms are available at all area schools through the physical education teachers. These forms must be signed by parent or guardian and returned to the phys. ed. teacher. Registrations will also be accepted on the day of the meet provided they are signed by parent or guardian.

Contestants should report at 9 a.m. on the 26th of June to be assigned numbers. Events are scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. Anyone with a question concerning the Junior Olympics should contact Skip Orr at 964-8271.

Attend Hampton's Bicentennial

The Hampton Bicentennial Committee hopes that all citizens will turn out for the big parade on the Bicentennial Independence Day.

Organizations, marching units, businesses, floats and individuals are invited to participate. It's a "people" parade. Chairman Brown (tel. 926-6766) requests that all new participants contact him during office hours at the Town Hall.

Motorized units are scheduled to leave the Hampton River Bridge area at 1 p.m. on July 4. They will proceed along Ocean Blvd. to Winnacunnet Road and join up with the marching units at East End Schoolhouse Park (at Locke Road).

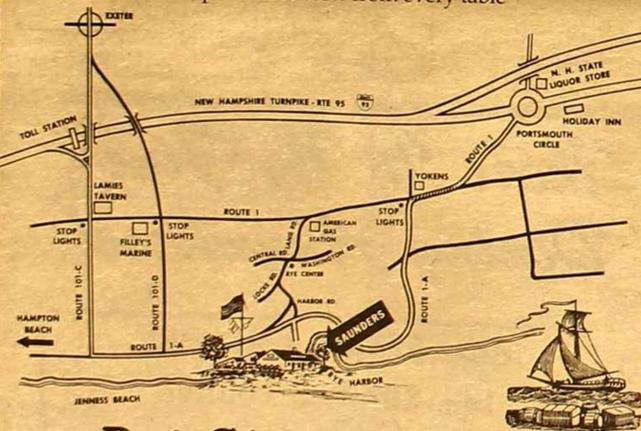

All divisions will proceed along Locke Road to Five Corners, along High Street to Lafayette Road, south to Winnacunnet Road and east to the Town Hall. Patriotic and dedicatory ceremonies will then take place on the grounds of the municipal complex. At 2 p.m. the parade will stand in place as bells and carillons are rung for two minutes as part of a nationwide observance.

The 48-page booklet with the "Historic Hampton" parchment map is now available.

Copies of the booklet with map are available from the Committee, P.O. Box 1776, Hampton, at $1.50 plus 50 cents for postage and mailing tube. They are also available at the Book and Barrel Shoppe, 15 High St., and Batcher's Book Store, Exeter.

Theater season opens in Ogunquit, Maine

OGUNQUIT, MAINE — Ogunquit Playhouse, "America's Foremost Summer Theatre," opens its 44th season of plays and musicals on Monday, June 28. The ten-week season runs through the Labor Day holiday, when an extra two performances of the world's most popular musical, "Godspell," have been scheduled in anticipation of popular demand. "Popular demand" is always the word for tickets to this outside theatre's productions. At Ogunquit Playhouse, the best of Broadway produced by John Lane, who is presenting another exciting season with, first off, the new Tony Award-winning American family musical, "Shenandoah," now in its second year on Broadway. Starring John Raitt, popular musical comedy headliner, this spirited and tuneful musical celebrating our country plays for two weeks, June 28 through July 10.

Next, July 12-17, is the stellar trio of Victor Jory, Don Porter and Scott McKay in Gore Vidal's comic and spellbinding play, "The Best Man," in which two rivals compete for the American Presidency. "The Best Man" is as timely as today's headlines, but with the added zest of affording audiences a riotous look into behind-the-scenes political infighting.

An unmatched delight!...stage and screen star Eva Marie Saint and John McMartin in George Kelly's "The Fatal Weakness"...follows July 26 through 31. This Kelly masterpiece was acclaimed "Best Comedy" of its Broadway season and will provide audiences with some of the most hilarious fun they will enjoy all summer.

Starting July 19, for one week, the Playhouse presents the inimitable and charming Betsy Palmer opposite handsome David Selby (straight from his Broadway success in "The Heiress") in Tennessee Williams humorous and heart-warming new play, "The Eccentricities of a Nightingale." Miss Palmer plays a Mississippi belle, "The Nightingale of the Delta," and she's the talk of the town. Jerome Kern's world-famous musical holiday, "Roberta," starring Broadway favorite Ruth Warrick, moves into the Playhouse for two weeks on August 2. Guaranteed to delight your eyes, your ears...and your heart, "Roberta" is packed with such golden song hits as "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Lovely to Look At," "I Won't Dance" and "Yesterdays." This show promises to be one of the big audience-pleasers of the season.

Dame Agatha Christie's most popular spine-tingler of all, "The Mousetrap," (now in its 24th year in London) will evoke gasps, guesses and goosepimples from theatregoers for one week only, August 16 through 21, aided and abetted by TV luminary David McCallum, Carole Shelley (Who left a current Broadway hit to do this show) and Ogunquit favorite Kurt Kasznar. This incredible puzzler broke all box office records when the same company played it on the Florida circuit last winter.

The week of August 23-28 will usher in the all-star cast of Anita Gillette, David O'Brien, Maureen O'Sullivan, Sylvia Sidney, Art Fleming and Russell Nype in the delightful comedy of manners, "Sabrina Fair," Samuel Taylor's sparkling hit, written with taste and good humor about agreeable people. "Godspell," a musical based on St. Matthew's Gospel, and now in its fifth glorious year in New York, opens on August 30. This first class family entertainment plays ten instead of the usual eight performances.

Tickets to all performances at the Ogunquit Playhouse can be reserved by phoning the Box Office (207-646-5511) or writing: Ogunquit Playhouse, Ogunquit, Maine 03907. Tickets are also available in Portsmouth at Ed Mahoney Advertising and in Portland at Hall Stamp & Coin Company and Downeast Ticket Center. Performance times are 8:40 p.m. Monday through Saturday, with matinees on Wednesday and Friday at 2:45 p.m.

Kits for first aid

A boat without an adequate first aid kit is like a flashlight without batteries. You really don't know how important they are until they're needed.

Many commercial first aid kits are available for the boater. Or the skipper can put together his own, relying on a local doctor's advice, or an approved first aid textbook.

A nautical first aid kit should include a selection of bandages and gauzes, of course, along with a variety of appropriate ointments. Something to help combat that occasional bout with "mal de mer" (motion sickness) should also be onboard. And don't forget such first aid tools as scissors, pliers and a sharp knife. Any special prescription medicines that may be needed by you or your guests is a must, too.

Obviously, the most elaborate first aid kit is only as good as its user. There are many approved first aid courses available, some designed specifically for the boater.

Spend a few hours taking a basic first aid course. And stay up-to-date on new techniques and new equipment. When first aid is required, there's seldom time to thumb through an instruction booklet.

•SHOALS

MALAGA AND SMUTTYNOSE

Malaga Island, named by early Spanish explorers, is connected to Smuttynose by a narrow strip of land. There are no buildings on Malaga.

The fact that earmarks Smuttynose as unique involves the Honvet house, which no longer stands. That house was the site of well-publicized murders long ago. General accounts of the murders state that Louis Wagner brutally beat two women, Karen and Anethe Christenson, and left them in the Honvet house. Later they were found by their husbands who were on the mainland during the murders, baiting their trawls.

Tales of the murders are often told around summer campfires on the islands, by Shoalers who have handed down the story through generations.

LUNGING ISLAND

A privately-owned island, Lunging is the summer residence of the daughter of the Rev. Frank B. Crandall of Salem, Mass., who bought the island in 1927.

The unofficial and traditional function of Lunging Island has been to provide a place of refuge for those in distress at sea, and The Rev. Mr. Crandall continues to offer his cottage to those who need it in such instances.

Poet Celia Thaxter chronicled one shipwreck at Lunging in her writing. A letter to her son in 1873 detailed an account of a British ship which wrecked on the island. The entire crew drowned, save for one member who found refuge in the cottage until help arrived the next day.

In this spirit, a former owner of the cottage always left a door unsecured and tacked a notice to the wall, bearing these words:

"Welcome to anyone entering this house in shipwreck or trouble. Start a fire in the stove and make yourself comfortable. There is wood and coal in the shed. You will find matches in the box on the kitchen mantle and food in the cans on the pantry. Beds are made up in the chambers. Help will reach you from the other islands the moment it is possible."

WHITE AND SEAVEY

The lighthouse on White Island, built in 1820, is another subject in the writings of Celia Thaxter. She once described a storm near Christmas, 1839, which tossed the brig Pocahontas perilously close to White Island's coastline. Bound for Newburyport, Mass., the brig eventually crashed and was destroyed at Plum Island, Mass.

Edward Rowe Snow has written about the lighthouse.

CEDAR ISLAND

Basically, Cedar Island has been a fishing community, with no reference to any other occupation ever found in books or heard from Shoalers. There are but a few cottages on the small island.

DUCK ISLAND

Duck Island is 10 feet above sea level, with an 11-acre land area. It has wildlife interesting to naturalists, hence its name.

Celia Thaxter once spun a yarn about a ghost in one of two small cottages, which have not stood for many years on the island. To date, no mention has been made of returning apparitions.

Drown proofing

If you swim, or if you can't swim, and get over your head, you should learn about "drown proofing," which can keep anyone afloat hours, effortlessly and with new confidence.

Drownproofing, essentially, is learning to use the natural buoyancy of the body combined with controlled breathing. This method has been adopted by the Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, and the Peace Corps.

Take a deep breath, relax in the water with arms and legs dangling, head tilted slightly forward, body nearly vertical. When you need a breath, put arms straight out front, spread your legs for a scissors, one front, one back.

Raise your head until it is nearly vertical, push down with hands in keyhole pattern, bring feet together, and exhale through nose while surfacing. When your chin is even with the surface, open your eyes, open your mouth, and inhale through your mouth.

Relax, settle down in water again. If you feel you're going to settle too deeply, give a slight forward push with your hands. Rest until you need a breath, then repeat the procedure.

How Hampton settlement began

Of all the historical places and locations of Hampton, one should first visit and view The Hampton Landing, scene of the first appearance of our first pioneer families led by the Rev. Stephen Bachiler.

It was on the 14th of October in the year 1638 that a small group of "God Fearing" Puritans from Newbury, rowed "UP" Hampton River to the Lower Landing. Here, led by Rev. Bachiler, this small group made its way along an Indian trail to what is known as the Tuck Memorial Green.

Here the househeads laid out 40 acres of land, previously cleared by the Indians, for their homes, fields, and farms. From this October day to the present, the Landing has played a major part in the history of Hampton. In 1640 and again each year thereafter more families came to the Hampton settlement until by 1680 the population had grown to 707 men, women, and children. Almost all of these settlers first saw Hampton from the Landing.

In the next few years of the young community, the landing became the destination of boats carrying lumber for the houses as well as food and supplies for Hampton. The first year, over 400 cows were brought up river to the rich marsh pasture lands. When the settlement became better established, the products of farm and sea were loaded at the Landing on ships bound for the Newburyport trade.

By 1682 the Landing had become the site of the first shipbuilding industries. Here men built the sturdy dory and barque. Here Samuel Nudd, Peter Garland, Caleb Shaw, Joshua Wingate, and others furnished local fishermen with the boats so necessary to the life and economy of Hampton.

In later times the Landing became the site of the first salt works, where David Nudd in 1827 established an industry that was to realize over 1,200 bushels of salt a year.

By 1850 the railroads had made river passage from the Landing to nearby Massachusetts towns unprofitable. Also the fishing and boatbuilding industries of Hampton had given way to other businesses. The value of the Landing did not disappear, however. Now the marshes gave way to farmers loading salt hay for feed for their animals and hunters searching the skies for the various game birds that found the marshes a haven for themselves and their young. The canals and rivers flowing through this area saw the arrival of family pleasure-boating groups. The Landing then became the center of these activities.

Today one has only to stroll down Landing Road to Nudd's Landing and the nearby Hampton Boat Club to see how the Landing is still very much a part of modern day Hampton.

TIDES OF TIME HOUSE TOUR PORTSMOUTH

Two fashion shows presented by Jeannette's Sea Shore Shoppe of Rye will highlight the annual Tides of Time House Tour, now rescheduled for July 22. This tour, benefit of the N.H.-Vt. Blood Bank, is one of the seacoast area's most popular summertime events, and this year, will offer a variety of attractions.

Foremost, of course, will be the houses which are located along Wentworth Rd. and Harborview Drive in Rye. One of these is a modern home with artistic, contemporary furnishings. Another is a colonial which ranks alongside some of the early Portsmouth mansions for beauty and tradition.

In addition to the houses, several special displays will be located under a tent. Arts and crafts, plants, antiques, and sculpture will be some of the featured items in this tent area, and the early afternoon will see special exhibits by each participant.

In an effort to make this interesting tour available to as many people as possible, the price of tickets has been reduced. A ticket bought at least one week in advance of the tour will cost $5 and after that date will be $6. This cost covers transportation from a parking lot to the tour area from which guests will walk to each house, admission to the houses, the exhibit tent, and an opportunity to view the 11 a.m. or 1 p.m. Fashion Show. No lunch will be served nor will the committee handle luncheon reservations.

President of Tides of Time and chairman of this event is Evelyn Gloor. Assisting her will be Jerry Nelson, tent coordinator; Sophie Sados, hostess coordinator; Mryna Promer, traffic and tour guides coordinator; Kay Leary, home-owners liaison; Fran Sanderson, finance; Gail Nadeau, membership; Brenda Smith, tickets and Marcia Woiceak, publicity.

The house tour will be held July 22 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Please watch this paper for an announcement of when and where tickets will be available.

PRESCOTT PARK ARTS FESTIVAL HOSTS THE AMERICAN WIN SYMPHONY BARGE PORTSMOUTH — The sound of music will float across the water at Prescott Park on July the Fourth weekend, as part of the opening festivities of the Prescott Park Arts Festival.

The harmonious notes will come from a 50-member orchestra on the deck of a barge that will visit Portsmouth during a unique, two-day cultural event.

Portsmouth is a scheduled stop on a 76-city tour by the Point Counterpoint II, a million dollar floating center for the arts that has undertaken its odyssey to celebrate the bicentennial year.

On board for a full program of events July 1 and 2 will be the celebrated American Wind Symphony Orchestra of Western Pennsylvania, actors, artists, dancers, poets and others to entertain the populace.

The huge vessel, 195 feet in length, will be moored opposite a section of Prescott Park where the packed program of festivities will culminate with a concert at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, July 2.

Arrangements for the visit are being coordinated under a committee led by School Supt. Timothy F. Monahan, who is currently seeking lodgings with local families for members of the 65-strong "cultural caravan" traveling with the barge.

Orchestra members and other artists travel overland while their one-of-a-kind stage is moving along the waterways between points of call.

The program will begin with a children's theatre performance at 10:30 Thursday morning. It will include symposia, public rehearsals, backyard concerts in town, and workshops, all involving the artists traveling with the ensemble led by conductor Robert Austin Boudreau, founder of the American Wind Symphony Orchestra.

It will include symposia, public rehearsals, backyard concerts in town, and workshops, all involving the artists traveling with the ensemble led by conductor Robert Austin Boudreau, founder of the American Wind Symphony Orchestra.

The audience will be invited to take part in the Friday night rehearsal of a new work, "American Sampler," composed by Norman Lloyd and commissioned by Boudreau especially for his orchestra's bicentennial journey. The work is described as a "melodic montage" of American songs and music.

Members of a mooring committee working under Monahan were worried at first that there wouldn't be enough depth of water opposite the Park for the barge to anchor. But after taking soundings from a small boat at low tide the group was satisfied the vessel will be able to moor safely. It is powered by a battery of large outboard motors.

The six-month tour began in April and will end Oct. 10 in Brownsville, Tex. The center was one of the last projects designed by the late Louis Kahn and incorporates two theaters, a multi-purpose art gallery and exhibition area and a spacious performing stage. The public will have a chance to visit the stage.

With the vessel will come an array of musical, dramatic and artistic talent—including several figures known the world over in their fields—that will make the visit a once-in-lifetime occasion for the city.

This program is sponsored by the Josie F. Prescott Park Trust, the New Hampshire Commission on the Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts and Seacoast Arts, Inc. All events are free to the public. It is suggested that the audience dress warmly for the cool evenings by the river. Parking is on Pierce Island.

WHS SCHEDULES ADULT SUMMER CLASSES
HAMPTON — Winnacunnet High School has opened registration for 24 noncredit summer programs to be offered during the day and in the evening. Residents and nonresidents of the greater Winnacunnet Cooperative School District may enroll in these craft and hobby programs scheduled for presentation between July 6 and Aug. 19. According to summer session director Richard Paquin, "Summer is a time for varied activities, and Winnacunnet High School would like to be a part of it. Based on the previous success of adult classes, I am confident this summer should bring record enrollments in all programs." All day and evening classes are open to interested students and adults regardless of educational background or previous training.

Day programs will meet on the days and at the times indicated. Course fees are payable at the time of the first class meeting.

Adult Crafts (Min. Wed., 7-8 to 8-18, 10 to 12 noon, $20) will allow students to learn to dip and drape, decoupage on bisque and make dolls. Other crafts will be introduced and demonstrated depending on the desires of the group. Materials extra.

Sewing (Mon., Wed., 7-7 to 8-18, 8 to 10 a.m., $20) is designed for basic, intermediate and advanced students. Individualized sewing instruction will be provided for all levels.

Rug Braiding (Tues., Thurs., 7-6 to 7-22, 10 to 12 noon, $15) is a beginner's course which will introduce techniques of using new and old wool cloth to make a colorful rug. A small rug or braided chair seat will be completed during the course. Materials extra.

Cane Rush Seating (Tues., Thurs., 8-3 to 8-19, 10 to 12 noon, $15) will teach the student the steps in putting a cane seat or a rush seat in a chair. A chair seat should be completed in the six classes. This is a chance to restore that old antique sitting in the attic or basement. Materials extra.

ISLES OF SHOALS
The Isles of Shoals are the islands northeast of Hampton Beach. In 1650, 600 fishermen and their families lived on these islands. There are seven islands in this famous group. The largest is Star Island, where there is a hotel, at which annual conferences of Unitarian and Congregational Churches are held.
The lighthouse keeper on White's Island was the father of the famous poet, Celia Thaxter. Most of her poems were written on the island. The best known is "The Little Sandpiper and I."
Many ancient, weird and often blood-curdling stories are told of the islands. One story is that Captain Kidd buried much of his famous treasure there. Some visitors, studying the rocky terrain, claim they can still hear the old pirate's hair-raising laugh at their inability to find his ill-gotten loot.

SWIMMING SAFETY

CONCORD — "If swimmers would only swim with their heads as well as with their arms and legs they would avoid a good deal of trouble," suggests Harry C. Wardell, N.H. State YMCA Executive.

Now that summer is here and swimming and water sports are popular, it is time to be aware of water safety. Thousands of drownings, needless tragedies, occur in this country every year.

Wardell stated, "The most important aspect of water safety is just common sense, and yet this bit of mental equipment seems to desert lots of people when they get near the water. That is why the YMCA, in its aquatic programs, trains swimmers' minds as well as their muscles and lungs." The YMCA has pioneered in water safety.

When a swimmer first feels confidence replace the beginner's caution, he or she is apt to over-estimate ability and take chances a more experienced swimmer would avoid. For that reason, beginners should ignore the temptation to over-tax their prowess by trying to prove they are better than they really are. "Know your limitations and don't tempt fate," Wardell said.

"It is also impossible to over-emphasize the foolishness of 'taking a dare' when it involves some water stunt a swimmer has never tried before," he said. "Most of these take-a-dare drownings happen to teen-agers who seem to think they have to accept any dare, no matter how risky, or lose face. It's better any day to lose face than lose your life."

SUNDIAL MIXED DOUBLES TOURNAMENT GREENLAND

Spruce Meadow Tennis Club in Greenland, is hosting its second annual Sundial Charity Mixed Doubles Tournament. The tournament will be held on the weekend of June 19-20. Hopefully, some first round matches can be played early evening on the 18th. The finals will be on Sunday and the public is invited to watch the tennis.

Last year 37 Mass. clubs sponsored an event. Spruce Meadow was the only N.H. club to respond. Kay Ruel, teaching professional, at the club, adopted the charity because her husband underwent retinal surgery several years ago.

Sundial Events are now being held all over the United States. Spalding provides a new can of balls for each match and trophies for the winners and finalists are awarded. An added bonus this year is eligibility for super grand prizes that will be drawn, including a trip to Florida.

Sundial is the name of the program. TO GIVE ANOTHER HOUR OF LIGHT is its focus. Tennis is a celebration of good health. What better way to enjoy one's sport than to participate in this worthwhile cause while having fun. The entry fee is $20 per team. The entire entry fee is sent to Eye Research. The balls, trophies, and facilities are all donated.

Last year 32 teams participated in the fun event. Hopefully this year it will be equally successful. Anyone requesting an entry blank or more information may call the club at 431-4727 or 436-9056. No telephone entries will be accepted and entry fees must be received by the director by June 14, 1976, at 6 p.m.

Some fine teams participated in the event last year and the public is invited to attend and enjoy the tennis action.

Hampton's Hobie sailing regatta

SAILORS BREEZED to and from shore all day long last Saturday during the Hobie Sailing Regatta where two dozen boats participated.

SAND PILE MAKERS and strollers accented the beach scene while others sailed offshore.

THE BEACH at Hampton was lined with the two hulled sailing craft last Saturday.

Organize Bicentennial Festivity

Looking for an excuse to entertain? Take advantage of exciting events by combining summer weather with the Bicentennial for a bang-up celebration to kick-off our nation's 200th birthday.

Organize the festivities with an outdoor setting in mind — around an inviting swimming pool, on a shady patio, or under a friendly tree in the corner of the backyard. A red, white and blue color theme is a natural which can easily be carried out with tablecloth, napkins, plates and an original and appropriate floral centerpiece. Even if your domain is an apartment, the party can be moved to a cool park, complete with the decorations, and your reputation as an imaginative hostess will be enhanced with just the tiniest bit of effort.

Plan a buffet table around a floral Stars and Stripes — an arrangement representative of the colonies' original 12-star flag. Many flowers are adaptable but zesty carnations might suit your needs best — they are easy to handle, long-lasting and readily available.

Fill a cookie sheet with blocks of saturated florists' foam; leaving room for the field of blue, insert red and white carnations into the foam, in alternating rows of solid color. Blue bachelor buttons (cornflowers) provide a background for 13 white pompom chrysanthemums arranged in a circle. Leafy greens tucked under the tray will hide it and nicely complement the arrangement, while squat red, white and blue votive candles nestled among the greenery will provide sparkle after the sun sets. Betsy Ross would applaud this variation on an old design.

If your plans call for a sit-down meal, place small, red clay pots at each setting, fill them with florists' foam and a bright combination of red, white and blue flowers accented with an American flag. These eye-catching arrangements will be perfect take-home mementos for each of your guests.

Parking fees rise

HAMPTON — Visitors to Hampton Beach this summer will note a rise in parking fees at town owned parking lots on Ashworth Ave. and Island Path.

The rise in fees was voted in last spring by town selectmen to offset operating costs in maintenance and labor at the lots.

One day parking fees have risen to $2 on Saturday, Sunday and holidays. Weekday rates remain at $1. But weekly tickets which were $5 for a seven day period, have risen to $6 at both lots. Seasonal parking spaces at the Ashworth Ave. lot have risen from $35 to $40 and seasonal tickets at the Island Path parking lot have risen from $30 to $35.

CRISWELL PREDICTS

UNCENSORED: I predict the new profession for men will be that of "practical midwife" — with or without medical school training. The Red Cross Handbook will be the textbook, with patience and kindness added assets. More men will soon become practical nurses and be very valued in our scheme of things. Male practical nurses are preferred over women. I predict that one of our most famous Senators will end his life through an overdose of drugs and alcohol. This great liberal will destroy himself in one fell swoop. I regret to predict that the earthquake warning on the West Coast is very true and will probably occur next year. Beware! Beware!

AFTER US — THE DELUGE: Each generation feels it is at an end, as the world will end with it. Each claims to be the lost generation. Five of the most potent planets will line up in opposition which will result in drastic changes in our coastlines all over the world! I predict that the new unisex garments for both men and women will be the rage by this time next year. A fantastic new cloth will be used, warm in winter and cool in summer. I predict that vending machines will furnish you with a marriage license, identification papers of any kind and also divorce papers. No self-respecting motel or hotel should be without one. I predict that the entire truth of the bloodbath to take place in Cambodia will never be known exactly to the American citizens. It is happening now!

HOLLYWOOD: I predict that the new fad for collectors will be recordings of the year 1907 of famous artists and labels, from MELBA to CARUSO! That JANE RUSSELL, IRENE DUNNE, VALERIE PERRINE and SHIRLEY TEMPLE will be slated for their own TV shows. I predict that CHRISTINE JORGENSEN will do Madame Sans Gene both on Broadway and as a film. That PRINCESS GRACE will return on the screen in Molnar's "The Swan" made famous by ELLIAN GISH... ELVIS PRESLEY will portray VALENTINO in a coming modern musical. That the scheduled "West Point" TV series will be delayed because of the alleged cheating scandals.

TIDES OF TIME: The tides of time will wash up on our shores the threat of another Arab oil embargo with the Arabian nations taking advantage of the "sellers market" they now enjoy. The coming book about HOWARD HUGHES will give many facts heretofore kept secret. A reporter once asked Mr. Hughes what his money had given him and he answered quietly, "Privacy," which he valued above all. ©1976 McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Getting around town

There is no need to break out the saddle shoes or pedal pushers, but a bicycle built for two would certainly be a topper for a Hampton beach summer.

A bicycle ride along the coast certainly is a competent vehicle for carrying old memories. Grab a basket and pack a picnic lunch and pedal your way to some secluded area and enjoy a well earned meal. Such an experience affords memories to the high school class of '64, '54 or '24, whether you're from Santa Cruz, Ca. or New York, N.Y.

Area runners should keep that in mind this summer too. Wear sneakers and white socks to prevent those nasty blisters. Protect your back from the sun by wearing a shirt for at least part of the trip. And finally remember to take it easy the first couple of times out and rest every so often.

If you follow these few simple rules you can pedal all summer long, and have plenty of memories for all the Hampton Beach summers to come.

If you don't happen to be the nostalgic type, then look at bicycle riding from the practical standpoint. They're easy to park, don't use any gasoline and are nonpolluting.

Do you remember the summer phenomenon known as "beach traffic?" "Beach traffic" was Dad's pleasant verbal manifestation of the problem. I'd hate to tie in to his nonverbal appraisal of the problem.

If you do decide to pedal your way to pleasure this summer, remember that although it is summertime, it is characteristically a time for memories and nostalgia. The activities at Hampton Beach each summer bear out this generalization beautifully.

Most of us have been driving a car since we were 16 years old. For some that is not so long, but for others it is quite some time.
